Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Hunt, a prominent couple from Deseret, Utah, are in the city endeavoring to secure the pardon of their son Winfield S. Hunt, who is doing time in the penitentiary for robbing a Japanese cook on Plum Alley last December under the name of Henry Wilson. The parents at first believed their son was innocent, but they have been convinced of his guilt. Their son also received them in relation to his marriage, they thinking that he had wedded a worthy young woman, but the woman he married is said to be playing her vocation in Park City under an assumed name. The parents feel very much depressed over the state into which their son has fallen, for he was once one of the most promising young attorneys of Deseret.

THE COUNCIL

REJECTS SALE.

Bid of J. A. Fritsch for Old City Hall Corner Too Low.

As expected the council last night refused to consider the $30,000 bid of J. A. Fritsch, for the old City Hall corner. It is believed that a better price can be obtained after the removal of the jail. The sale of the other five lots at last Monday's auction was approved, and deeds to them will be delivered when the full purchase price is paid into the city treasury.

The funeral of S. P. Teasdel was held yesterday afternoon from the late home, 304 First street. The house was filled with men and women who honored and esteemed the deceased for the honorable life he led and the kindness of his heart.

The services were short but impressive and were opened with prayer by Claudius V. Spencer, which was followed by George D. Pyper singing the beautiful hymn, "Beyond This Vale of Tears." A sermon was then preached by Elder James Sharp. He spoke in his own sympathetic way and dwelt feelingly on the life and career of the deceased. George D. Pyper sang "After All," and then Elder Seymour L. Young made a few eulogistic remarks and spoke words of consolation to the bereaved ones.

Mr. Teasdel was followed by a beautiful rendition of "The Beautiful City" and the services were closed with prayer by Elder W. J. Newman. The interment was made in the family lot in the city cemetery.

The pallbearers were John B. Reid, P. M. Castleton, Byron Grog, Joseph Georgehegan, George Shelgrove and Will Culmer.

FOUND DEAD ON THE FLOOR. Mrs. Ellen S. Cooper Succumbs to Heart Disease.

Mrs. Ellen S. Cooper, was found at an early hour yesterday morning lying dead on the floor of her bedroom at the home of Mrs. Jean Stettin, 159 north First West street, where she had been rooming for the past three months. Mrs. Cooper was 68 years of age and had suffered for some time past of dropsy and heart disease. Her condition of late had been so precarious that Mrs. Stettin had endeavored to get her almost constantly especially at night.

Last Monday night she was feeling so wretchedly that Mrs. Stettin did not leave her until after midnight. But she had not been in bed long when she was unable to hear the breathing of the sick lady. Feeling somewhat alarmed she returned to Mrs. Cooper's room to find her lying on the floor quite dead.

Mrs. Charles W. Peck, who was related to Mrs. Cooper by marriage, was notified at once. The remains were taken to Joseph William Taylor's undertaking parlors for which place the funeral was held this afternoon.

Deceased had lived in Salt Lake for forty years, having emigrated from England her native country.

TOOELE MAN INJURED. Alfred Bell Struck Against Street Car Step and Painfully Hurt.

Alfred Bell, a young farmer who lives in Tooele county, was painfully injured last night at the intersection of State and Fourth South streets while riding on a Rapid Transit car. He stepped off the rear platform to let two ladies enter the car, and in attempting to get back on his foot slipped off the step and he fell, striking the ground in a corner of the street. Bell was possibly hurt with pain and being unable to walk he was taken in a cab to the home of James Thompson at 258 South Seventh West street, where he was attended by Dr. Bower. Bell's injuries are very painful, but if nothing serious arises he will be able to return to his ranch in a day or so.

Whooping Cough. My little son had an attack of whooping cough and was threatened with pneumonia, but for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy we would have had a serious time of it. It also saved him from several severe attacks of croup. H. J. Strickfaden, Editor World-Herald, Fair Haven, Wash.

IN HOPELESS CONDITION. Ed Golden Sustains a Broken Back in a Wyoming Tunnel.

Ed. Golden, an employee in a railroad tunnel in Wyoming, is lying at the Holy Cross hospital with a mangled body including a broken back. His death is inevitable, and he is awaiting it calmly. The unfortunate man was at work in the tunnel when a large quantity of gravel and rock fell from the roof and knocked him to the ground. A large boulder fell on him, and pinned him to the earth. When he was taken from his frightful position he was discovered that his back was broken together with several ribs, and a shoulder dislocated. He was placed upon a train as soon as possible and brought to Salt Lake by some fellow workmen. Dr. Hosmer, who is attending him, says his condition offers not a ray of hope.

OPERATE FOR BROKEN BACK

Shattered Spine Column of James Sharp of Bountiful Mended.

James Sharp of Bountiful is at the Holy Cross hospital with a broken back, which he sustained in Colorado on Decoration day in leaping from a tramway in a quarry. After being in the hospital at Salt Lake for some time he was brought to the Holy Cross in this city, and yesterday afternoon an operation was performed on him by Drs. Root and Mayo. Portions of two of the vertebra and of the spinal cord were removed. The man is in a most desperate condition, but it is possible that he can live.

TRAGEDY ON THIRD NORTH. Advent of the City Dog Catcher is Now in Order.

Jamie had a little lamb. The cutest of the 'cute. Big dog, a chase, a fond embrace And now he's up the chute.

The services of the city dog catcher are in earnest demand in the Twenty-second ward. Residents in the vicinity of Third North for some time past have felt that their cup of sorrow has been full to overflowing. They have arisen morning after morning to find the maternal milk that was left on the back porch, missing and portions of the bucket scattered around the lot. Herenow have been depopulated, and dogs have been even known to break into cellars and leave devastation and chaos in their wake.

There is now a prospect of speedy relief because the wandering canines have been tamed by the dog catcher. The peaceful precincts of the block of Jim Williams, the well-known policeman. War to the knife is now in order and the dog census in the immediate vicinity of the late defender of the law bids fair to become somewhat trimmed.

Some weeks ago Jim bought a pet lamb for his bright little son and heir "Jamie." The lamb was the pride of the block, and the youngsters would come from the four points of the compass and hold little socials and parties with the lamb as the honored guest, decked with garlands. Mary's little lamb was a back number in comparison with the long-tailed, black-muzzled little fellow that followed the children around.

This morning a ponderous pall of gloom hung over the juvenile community accompanied by weeping, wailing and copious tears. The children refuse to be comforted; for it is known that when "Jamie" arose this morning all that remained of his pet was its cute little head with the hitching rope still tightly clasping its gory neck, four little hoofs and a handful of wool. Numerous dog tracks bear mute testimony to the manner of the sudden demise of little woolly lamb.

There is a strong suspicion as to the identity of the assassins and their funeral is set for an early date. Now that the dogs have had the indiscretion to assault the property of a policeman it is a foregone conclusion that the much vexed question regarding the rights of property holders to be protected from prowling curs will be brought a speedy solution.

DOG AND PONY SHOW. Gentry's Funny Little Animals Amuse Thousands of Children.

The intelligent little animals that have been taught to do so many remarkable things by Prof. Gentry continue to fill the tent to its capacity with children and not a few older ones. Some of the tricks that are done by the little dumb performers would seem incredible and the skill of Prof. Gentry does not only appear in his ability to make them perform as they do, but to make them do it as though it were natural to them. And that they were thoroughly enjoying it. Many had to be turned away from the tent this afternoon. There will be three more performances, this evening, tomorrow afternoon and evening.

ELKS' FAIR ATTRACTIONS. Captain Stoll Returns From Successful Trip to the East.

Capt. Stoll has returned from the East whither he went in the interests of the Elks' carnival and street fair. He feels very much pleased over what he has accomplished. At Buffalo, he made arrangements to secure the display of the Success Magazine company, which is said to be the finest of its kind at the Pan-American exposition. He also hopes that he will have some of the famous President Roosevelt, who will be in Colorado the latter part of August, has been invited by the committee in charge of the carnival to visit Salt Lake on Volunteer Day. It is also possible that Hassenback's wild animal show will also be here. The fair and carnival headquarters will be opened at the Kenyon on July 1st.

HE'S FORTY YEARS TOO LATE. Man Who is Trying to Catch Mountain Sheep for Uncle Sam.

"Speaking of mountain sheep," said Joe Sheppard of Dillon, a veteran Montanan, at the Thornton hotel this morning who had been reading of the government's desire to have a few of the big horns for the Smithsonian institution at Washington, and the commissioning of Joe Causley, a noted Montana hunter, to capture six of the creatures at $100 a head. "Speaking of Montana sheep," he said again, laying down his paper, "Causley will earn his money, several times over. Mountain sheep are to be found in Montana; but they are worth more than $100 apiece to capture. They are almost as elusive as sunbeams are this summer. They are double-distilled ghosts, when they come to the catching."

"But there was a time when even this shy creature was easy to take. When I came up the Missouri in 1884, you could see the sheep outlined against the sky on a hundred bluffs, and one time, when three of us were scouting along the river looking for game, while the other was busy with a boat was making a game fight against the rapids, we cornered two little sheep, not much more than a week old. I should judge, on a point of rocks jutting out into the river. They were laughing at me. I caught and then the little fellows up, in such articles of clothing as we could and still be presentable when we returned to the boat. But the old sheep made such a lot of noise by crying that we let them go; more especially as we had no good way to feed them, and did not know what to do with them if we had kept them. They were worth not $100
