

PEACE MEETING A GREAT SUCCESS

Large Gathering Held in the Tabernacle for the Furtherance of Universal Peace.

ELOQUENT ADDRESSES MADE.

Resolutions Adopted and Committee Appointed to Organize a Permanent Peace Society in Utah.

The big peace meeting advertised to occur yesterday afternoon in the assembly hall, was held in the tabernacle on account of the large numbers attending. The tabernacle choir furnished music, and the exercises were presided over by his excellency Gov. John C. Cutler, who made the opening address. Dean Brewster offered the invocation.

Gov. Cutler's address was in part as follows: "Ever since the birth of the Prince of Peace, when the angels sang the triumphal song, 'Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will to men,' the hope of the world has been for the time when war will be no more. Peace has been sung of that approaching time, philosophers have dreamed of it, prophets have foretold it. And I believe that in their secret hearts even military conquerors have wished for such a time. For war must always seem terrible, even to those who profit most by it."

"But while everything comes to him who waits," he said, "it has been proved that things come much more quickly to the one who works for them. Therefore, practical statesmen and philanthropists conceived the idea of hastening the long expected time by working for it. There was really only one practicable method by which the desired result could be secured, and that was by perfecting organizations, with the aim of bringing together the representatives of the various nations and the large interests to consider plans and means whereby peace and conciliation could be made to take the place of war. It was with this object that the first Hague conference was called, eight years ago yesterday. We have met partly to celebrate this event."

"I do not need to tell you that Utah and its people stand for peace, and that war is abhorrent to them. And I have called you together in order that this fact which you know so well, may be proclaimed through you to the world. For if there is a place on earth where the proper occasion will be given for turning swords into plowshares and spears into pruning hooks, that place is Utah."

"And now, ladies and gentlemen, behold the cause of peace, and let us have a hearty welcome. I ask that you give to the peace movement in general, and especially to what is done here today, your cordial support. Let us take this opportunity of thanking the various local organizations devoted to the cause of peace, for the effective work they have done in this respect. Let the ladies forming these organizations thank the men of the state as due. I am sure I voice the sentiment of the people of Utah in saying, in the words of the prophet Isaiah, 'Let the angels sound the trumpet of God to the whole world forever.'"

MRS. RUTH M. FOX.

Mrs. Ruth M. Fox was introduced by Governor Cutler and made an earnest address in favor of the movement for universal peace. The speaker hoped the time might speedily come when nations would no more engage in war, but settle their difficulties peacefully. "God helps those who help themselves," she declared, "so let us organize. The first commandment was to love God, and the second one was to love our neighbor as ourselves. It seems to me the nations are running hither and thither searching for new light and new ideas, but if they would heed the words of the Master, to love those that hate them, and do good to those who despitefully use them, peace would be established. Let us teach our children the love of peace, and not of strife."

Walter Wallace rendered a baritone solo, "The Lord is My Light."

REV. BENJ. YOUNG.

Rev. Benjamin Young was introduced by Gov. Cutler. Rev. Young delivered an eloquent oration on the subject sought to be attained by the holding of similar meetings to the present one—universal peace. He said it was gratifying to all lovers of peace that the governor had called the meeting, and that those who assembled had shown some appreciation of the efforts being made for peace. When peace shall reign then shall dawn a better and brighter day. When the mind contemplates what the brains and ingenuity of man has wrought in the way of machinery for destruction of his fellow man, it is realized that as Sherman said "war is hell." While recognizing that in many instances the price of liberty is war, yet even at that price war is terrible to contemplate and impossible to characterize. The speaker paid tribute to the American Congress which by resolution had so much favored the peace movement, and to Theodore Roosevelt, who has done more than any other man in this age, to bring about universal peace.

ELDER JOHN HENRY SMITH.

Elder John Henry Smith said it was a joy to him to listen to the words spoken by those whose efforts are toward the uplifting of their fellow men, and toward doing away with strife. "It is the dream of all our hearts that the day may come when the children of men may sense their responsibilities to posterity and to the race, to be loving and kind to their fellows, and when all evidence of hate, of war and of violence shall be banished forever," he said. "Then shall the millennium come when peace, blessed and universal peace shall reign, when the advocates of all sects and schisms may clasp hands and work together for the uplifting of mankind, when justice and mercy shall be the rule."

Fred Graham sang the solo from Elijah, "If With All Your Hearts."

REV. E. I. GOSHEN.

Rev. Elmer I. Goshen said the great-

NEW $21,000 DANCING PAVILION TO BE OPENED AT WANDAMERE ON TUESDAY EVENING NEXT.

The large and handsome dance pavilion recently finished at Wandamere will be formally opened by a grove ball, Tuesday evening, May 21, under the auspices of the Mutual Improvement Association of the Liberty Pioneer, Salt Lake. Ensign and Granite stakes. The floor is the second largest in the state, and everything about the pavilion is new and up-to-date. Artistic architecture characterizes the building throughout, and it is a credit to the designers and builders. The dimensions of the inside of the pavilion are 100 by 200 feet, and the entire cost was $21,000. Officers and members of the Improvement Association mentioned have been laboring zealously for some time arranging every detail of the event scheduled for next Tuesday, and it is the sanguine expectation of those directly in charge of the function that it will be a pronounced success from every standpoint.

est victory of peace was won where no sword was drawn. The speaker likened the peace movement to a king's host, of which there are two parts, the upper and lower. So with peace; there will never be peace until there is perfect justice. Peace and justice are the two parts of the helmet. We must be willing to accord to every other person the right we require for ourselves—the right to think as we please. "I don't want to think as everyone else does," declared the speaker, "we may make laws for the state, but we cannot enact peace. When men agree to war no more, then we will have peace. A man may be subject to law, but he cannot be made to agree to peace unless he wills it. When the component parts of society will to have peace, then will peace be here."

Mrs. Plummer then rendered a solo, "The Flag Without a Stain."

EDITOR J. M. SJODAHL.

J. M. Sjo Dahl then presented for the acceptance of the gathering, the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

"The cause of arbitration, universal peace and brotherhood is the cause of humanity. It is of paramount importance to the perpetuation and development of our civilization. It is the duty of every good citizen to lend it active support."

"But since experience teaches that not only enthusiasm, but intelligent, practical and persistent work; not only the theoretical assent to true principles, but an efficient organization of which such principles are, as a basis, the spirit and soul, is necessary for the redemption of mankind from the evils of strife and contention as well as from every kind of evil; therefore be it

PEACE RESOLUTIONS.

"Resolved, That in the opinion of this assembly it is the duty of the friends and advocates of peace everywhere to unite firmly for the purpose of co-operating among the people generally of the great work that is being done preparatory to the millennium day, in order that interest may be aroused in the efforts of statesmen and liberal governments that will popular support for the peace measures that are now before parliaments and congresses. Be it further

Resolved, That in order to give tangible expression to these views and sentiments, the president of this meeting, his excellency Governor John C. Cutler, be respectfully requested to name a committee consisting of seven members, to be provided for in the resolutions, was named as follows by Gov. Cutler:

Rev. Benjamin Young, pastor of the First Methodist church; Elder John Henry Smith; the Rev. Benjamin Brewster of St. Mark's cathedral; Mrs. E. S. Richards, Kate Bridwell Anderson and Rev. P. A. Simpson, pastor of Phillips Congregational church. J. M. Sjo Dahl, editor of the Deseret News.

Organist J. J. McClellan rendered an organ solo during the exercises, and after benediction by Nephth Morris, the assembly adjourned.

"I can remember, and so can some of you, a time when it was very generally believed that no war would ever again stain the earth with blood. The earth had just emerged from a terrible struggle. The laborers of the world commenced to unite in brotherhoods and the demand for equality and liberty and human rights was followed by enlarged visions of the general brotherhood of man. But it took only the policy of one man to dispel those beautiful dreams and to change all Europe into a number of armed camps. Iron and blood everywhere! What made this possible if not the lack of popular support for the forces that were at work in the opposite direction? Friends, let us remember that without efficient organization and intelligent work the work of peace is impossible. Several organizations do already exist, but there are not enough of them. Let us add our influence. Longfellow drew inspiration from the arsenal at Springfield to sing one of his beautiful songs of the future. He beheld the time when:

"The warrior's name would be a name abhorred!"

And every nation, that should lift its hand against its brother, on its forehead

Would wear for evermore the curse of Cain!"

Down the dark future, through long centuries, the echoes of his words grow fainter and then cease;

And like a bell, with solemn sweet vibrations,

I hear once more the voice of Christ say "Peace!"

"Peace! and no longer from its brazen trumpet."

The blast of war's great organ shakes the skies!

But beautiful as songs of the immortals,

The holy melodies of love arise!"

"That indicates the work before the friends of peace. It will not be ended until every son and daughter of the eternal Father can say with William Lloyd Garrison: 'My country is the world; my countrymen are all mankind.'"

PEACE COMMITTEE.

The committee of seven, whose duty it should be to take steps toward the organization of a permanent peace society in Utah, the appointment of which was provided for in the resolutions, was named as follows by Gov. Cutler:
