

SALT LAKERS IN GOTHAM.

How They Watched the Old Year Out and the New One In—Sallie Fisher's Big Hit in "The Billionaire"—Ada Dwyer's Good Work in "Audrey."

Special Correspondence.

New York, Jan. 5.—Mention was made in last Saturday's "News" of the production of the "Billionaire" at Daly's, the following Monday. It has proved a great success, and Sallie Fisher who played next to lead, scored a big hit. Aside from May Robson, and Jerome Sykes, Miss Fisher was the only one to receive double encores to her songs. Manager Brainerd, to whom Mr. Perry loaned Miss Fisher for this season, pronounced her immense. Our little Salt Lake girl has every reason to congratulate herself on this engagement, she has played her feet on Broadway, and if one may judge by her past triumphs, it is safe to predict that she will be known as a Broadway favorite, among the few who have made genuine successes this winter.

President McQuarrie left for Utah last Monday on special business connected with the mission. He will be accompanied by three weeks, and will return to New York. His eldest son who has been in the east for some time, remained here. President McQuarrie will be greatly missed, but all felt he needed a vacation, having been with us for over two years and it will be with much pleasure we welcome him in our midst again.

New Year's eve watch was faithfully observed by our conference. At missionary headquarters, President Arthur Wellings gave a social party to the saints and their friends. About 50 were present and an evening of games, singing and pleasant conversation was enjoyed by everyone. As master of ceremonies President Wellings cannot be outdone, his presence acts as a cordial to drooping spirits, and his words of good cheer are heartily appreciated by all. At the home of Elder Jacob Gates, his daughter, Miss Lucy, gave a large party to the younger members of the branch, including many friends of the young people who have been here since last September. No merrier crowd had added to the old year, or more enthusiastically welcomed in the new one, than this light hearted assembly did last Wednesday evening. Miss Perrin, Miss Crawford and Miss Gates delighted everyone by their singing. Refreshments were an important part of the evening's entertainment, the candy pulling contest being attended with more fun than regard for one's fine clothes, and all decided they had royally ushered in the New Year, under the hospitable roof of Mr. and Mrs. Gates.

Miss Jennie Hawley left Tuesday for the country, to spend a week with friends at Malden, a suburb of Boston. For several years Miss Hawley has spent her summers in Malden and other places around Massachusetts and now goes to see the dying of the old year among congenial relatives and friends.

Elder Ira Call of Bancroft, Ida, who has been in the East Pennsylvania, Baltimore and Philadelphia conferences during missionary work for the past two years, has been released to return home and leaves for Utah this week going by way of Boston, where he will visit for a week among friends. Elder Call has had an amount of experience, and not all of a pleasant nature; he has been called upon to endure many hardships that would test the strongest heart, all of which has strengthened and developed his character.

Elder Guy Clark, who is laboring in Boston under President E. D. Clyde, is now spending the first week of the New Year with friends in New York; he reports the Boston conference in a flourishing condition, with a large following and excellent feeling among the saints. Elder Clark is making a fine record in his field of labor, and has only to be known to insure the good will of everyone.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dinwoodey, who have been at the Waldorf for the last three weeks, leave in a few days for Michigan and Chicago. It is very probable that Mrs. Dinwoodey will return to New York and take a course of study in music, an accomplishment in which she is most proficient already.

Mr. and Mrs. David Keith are still guests of the Waldorf, but expect to leave very soon for home. Mr. D. C.

Adams, who has been in the city about three weeks, leaves today for the northern part of the state to visit with friends and relatives. Among Salt Lake to be seen at the different hotels are: C. A. Molson at the Holland; J. and W. Barlow, at the Grand; J. O. Jacobs, at the Herald Square; and W. B. Edwards and J. B. McGee, at the Metropolitan.

"Audrey," the play in which Miss Ada Dwyer is taking a prominent part, is drawing to a close in Madison Square theater. This is the last week it will be seen in New York, though at first it was hoped the city would count it among the season's attractions. However, it has not proved the drawing card anticipated by everyone, and less than three months has seen the company making preparations to go on tour. As in the case of the "Gentleman of France," where Miss Dwyer was given a secondary part, she has shown in the former production, ability of a high order, and it is but just to say that her part, though a thankless one, is done with more naturalness and ease than can be said of any member of the company. Though a criticism of the play is not to be written, still the many weak points shown in the dramatization, contrary to the book, force themselves upon one's notice, and the weaker portrayal of some of the prominent parts has almost approached the ludicrous. The play now goes out on the road for an indefinite period, playing as far south as Alabama and Georgia, but first giving Philadelphia a week at the Chestnut street theater, and two weeks in some other cities of Pennsylvania.

The theater that was built and devoted to the exclusive use of the very exclusive four hundred has come and gone, and Mrs. Osborne, the promoter, is a much wiser woman today than she was six months ago. It was given out nearly a year ago that the fashionable designer of marvellous gowns, known as Mrs. Osborne & Co., would open a theater in the heart of the Delmonico and Sherry quarter, where she would cater to the whims and fancies of New York's very select and moneyed aristocracy. The modern playhouse was built, and the hour announced to open at 9 o'clock p. m., so that her fashionable patrons would not be hurried by the most important meal of the day. Everything was made to suit their taste, only full dress allowed, and plays and sketches on the order that would appeal to their blasé lives, but alas! After all these preparations and great ceremonies, the rich patrons failed to show their appreciation, and had been devoted to their exclusive use had to close its doors and its originator has had to take refuge with her old friend, the costume designer. The great fault of its failure is said to be due to the poor class of entertainment given, it being mediocre in every respect.

Dislocated Her Shoulder.

Mrs. Johanna Soderholm, of Fergus Falls, Minn., fell and dislocated her shoulder. She had a surgeon get it back in place as soon as possible, but it was quite sore and pained her very much. Her son mentioned that he had seen Chamberlain's Pain Balm advertised in the papers, and he immediately asked him to buy her a bottle of it, which he did. It quickly relieved her and enabled her to sleep which she had not done for several days. The son was so much pleased with the relief it gave his mother that he has since recommended it to many others. For sale by all druggists.
