

Opening of Fruit Lands in Utah Co.

"The Orchards" a New Townsite Near Spanish Fork.

FIVE miles south of Springville, and four miles northeast from Spanish Fork, there is to be a new city built, called "The Orchards." The place is better known as the Mapleton-Spanish Fork bench.

The city is to be located in the center of the 20,000 acres of fine irrigated land, and directly on the main line of the Denver & Rio Grande Railway, which runs diagonally through this rich, fertile tract of land. This beautiful townsite is composed of 16 blocks, 300 feet square, with a 15-foot alley running through the center of each block. Each block contains 12 building lots 50 by 142 feet, except the lots in the business district, which are 25 instead of 50 feet wide.

LOOKING NORTH OVER "ORCHARDS" TOWNSITE.

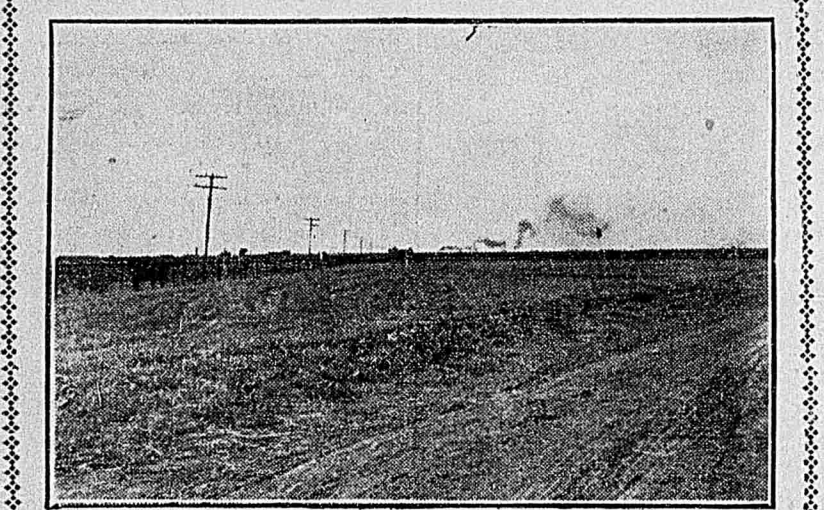

The streets are to be 66 feet wide, except Main street, which will be 84 feet in width.

The Home Industrial Promotion company of Springville, the firm which has the handling of the property, guarantees to put in cement sidewalks, five shade trees and grade the streets next year, 1909, and such improvements to be included in the original purchase price of lots.

One whole block is to be deeded to the city, one-half of which is to be used for a school house site, and the other half for city building such as a city hall and a public pavilion. To the east, a beautiful strip of ground 600 feet square has been set aside for a public park. Such improvements will make of it the prettiest and most up-to-date little city in the state of Utah.

The townsite is so located that it will be an easy matter to secure beautiful water from the mountains for a modern water system. From the government lighting plant, which is located at the mouth of Spanish Fork canyon, only three miles distant, power for a thorough lighting system can be secured.

Located as "The Orchards" is, good fishing can be had in the mountain streams three miles away. The townsite has a gentle slope towards the west insuring good drainage.

age. The soil is a rich sandy and clay loam, all under cultivation. Twenty-five feet below the surface is a subterranean sheet of pure, cold mountain water.

To the east the majestic tops of the Wasatch mountains rise thousands of feet above the valley where almost every kind of cultivated vegetation known to this climate can be grown. On the mountain tops snow often lies from winter to winter, and the weathered granite mountains of the Ogutirah range form a background for the beautiful picture that lies before one. Extending almost the entire length of Utah, the beautiful Utah lake appears as a huge mirror. Located as it is in the center of the valley, it can be well named the reservoir for Salt Lake valley.

It has often been compared to the Sea of Galilee as it has a Jordan river to relieve it of its surplus waters. Through the high elevation of the townsite the pretty towns of Santaquin, Payson, Benjamin, Lake Shore and Spanish Fork, can be seen to the south.

To the north the cities of Lehi, American Fork, Pleasant Grove, Provo, Springville, and Mapleton can be easily pointed out.

What with the view of distant cities, the lake, the miles of beautiful orchards and cultivated farms, protected by mountains on the east on whose slope rests the townsite there is presented a picture for artists, which almost baffles description.

Here then is a city with cement sidewalks, its main street paved with asphaltum, guttered and graded streets lined with young shade trees, soil free from alkali and acid, making it rich and fertile, a temperate climate winter and summer, in one of the greatest undeveloped fruit belts in the west, located on an advantageous site, with a shipping center, lying in a belt which boasts of only one partial failure from frost in 30 years, and excellent water, making it an advantageous site for a city of several thousand inhabitants.

But but not least is the splendidly located five and ten acre tracts of land. A. E. Reed of Palisade Fruit, Colorado's association of Palisade, Colo., said, "You have the greatest fruit proposition I ever saw." Senator Henry Sawyer stated: "Land on the Mapleton-Spanish Fork bench will be selling for $1,000 per acre in a short time. It beats everything in fruit land I ever saw. Now is certainly the time to buy. Why, we think nothing of paying $500 per acre for raw land in our fruit country. Advertise and your land will very soon reach our prices," exclaimed B. F. Moore, president of the Grand Valley Fruit Growers' association of Grand valley, Colo. "I have examined your soil, water, and climate," said Charles A. Hickenlooper of the Utah States board of horticulture, "and you have everything in your favor. No great credit is due your people if everything is in orchards within a year, because all that can be desired is here. A. G. Stedman, formerly of Eden, Minn., who has purchased 75 acres of this excellent orchard land to plant 5,000 Elberta peach trees, says, "You buy out the fruit grower, everything is right when planted in fruit trees. I have purchased 75 acres of your bench land, on which I will plant Elberta peach trees next spring. Speaking of water, 'Why we will have some to give away,' were the remarks made by E. H. Althoff of Denver, Colo. From the fact that such men are actual purchasers to the extent of thousands of dollars shows plainly that fruit growers have faith in this great fruit district. Why go hundreds of miles away to invest your money in fruit lands, when you can do just as well at home? If it's soil, we have it, many feet deep.

DR. SAMUEL J. RUSSELL OF CHICAGO,

Who Has Spent the Past Week Visiting Old Friends in His Boyhood Town of Ogden.

Dr. Russell is a Utah boy, who was born in Ogden, and who spent his youth there, preparatory to taking up his medical studies in Chicago. After graduating from an extended medical course, Dr. Russell began a practice in Chicago 10 years ago which has steadily grown until now he is one of the distinguished physicians of that city. His experiments upon tuberculosis and its cure have given him an extensive reputation, while his freely offered services in behalf of the missionaries of the Church located in Chicago have endeared him to them in a permanent manner. President Ellsworth of the mission, who sent the above photograph to the "News," upon the occasion of Dr. Russell's departure for his Utah visit, wrote most eulogistically of the manner in which he had given his services to the mission, and of the pride he felt in his native state of Utah.

When interviewed upon his arrival in Ogden early this week, Dr. Russell said that he hoped never to live so long that he would lose his pride in his native state. "It is one of the finest in the Union," he said, "and the way it has grown since I was here a few years ago has surprised me beyond measure. It has a future as well as a past which should make anyone proud to be connected with its people and with its development."

Dr. Russell is a son of the late George Russell, who came to Utah via the ox team route, with his brother, Samuel Russell, in 1862. Several of his relatives still reside at the old family home in Ogden.

GENEALOGY.

All communications for this department should be addressed to the secretary of the Genealogical society of Utah, Elder Joseph F. Smith, Jr., care of Historian's office, Salt Lake City, Utah.

The board of the Genealogical society feels the grave importance of enlarging its sphere, by enrolling new members, by purchasing new books for its library, and by providing ways and means of converting the people to the necessity of joining in this new and splendid movement, which is one of the steps leading to building of other temples, and to the return to the Center stake of Zion. Let the reader of this article ask himself these questions: Am I a member of this society? If not, why not?

In reply to such a query, the reader will no doubt in turn desire to ask the following questions: How shall I be benefited by joining this society? Who are eligible to membership? and, How can a person become a member?

In answer to these questions, the following is submitted for their purpose, and for maintenance of the office? In answer, we would suggest that the Church could not be expected to buy family genealogies. This is the duty of families themselves. Such books should be deposited by owners in the library after the names are drawn off, or a duplicate purchased for that purpose. Another reason, perhaps, that the Lord left the Prophet Joseph Smith to find ways and means to translate the Book of Mormon, placing him in dire poverty at times while he was thus engaged. The Lord wishes to test us, and He knows that the efforts and struggles which are put forth to secure certain blessings doubly endears the cause and the results of our labors to us. Therefore, we may well assume that our tender Parent in Heaven has placed this obligation of building up this society, and furtherance of its grand objects, upon us, so that we may be able to stand, and to strengthen our own characters. How will you stand the test, Latter-day Saints?

As to the method of joining the

I Can Cure Cancer

At Home Without Pain, Plaster or Operation and I Tell You How, Free.

I have Proven Cancer Can be Cured at Home No Pain, No Plaster, No Knife.—Dr. Wells. I have discovered a new and seemingly unfailing remedy for the deadly cancer. I have made some astonishing cures. I believe every person with cancer should know of this marvelous medicine and its wonderful cures, and I will be glad to give full information free to all who write me and tell me about their case.

Peter Keegan, Galveston, Ill., had cancer of the mouth and throat. Doctors said, "no hope." Mr. Keegan wrote: "It is only a question of a few days more and I would have been dead. To-day my cancer is healed up and he is well. My marvelous radiated fluid did it. It has other just such cures to its credit. It is saving people every day and restoring them to health and strength. If you have cancer or any lump or sore that you believe is cancer, write to-day and learn how others have been cured quickly and safely and at very small expense. No matter what your condition may be, do not hesitate to write and tell me about it. I will answer your letter promptly, giving you, absolutely free, full information and proof of many remarkable cures. Address, Dr. Rupert Wells, 235 Radol Bldg., St. Louis, Mo."

society: any one who desires to do so, may send in his name to the address given at the head of this department and send either the full amount of $50 dollars, which will constitute the applicant a life-member, or he can send the initiation fee of one dollar and one dollar for the regular yearly due, thus sending two dollars for the first year, and one dollar a year thereafter. He will receive a certificate of membership in return, and the privilege of the society thereafter be his or hers.

It is not expected that there will be any sudden growth or expansion in this work, but it is hoped that every member of the Church will sooner or later be converted to the necessity of coming into this society. Those who become members in its earliest inception will not only have the honor of that original membership, but they will be in a position to receive and assimilate all the advantages of advancement and progress available to this excellent organization of unselfish workers. Now, who is ready to come forward and accept this invitation?
