"SATAN LEADING ON."

Elliott Danforth, politician, lawyer and society man, tells a good story on ilmself. Mr. Danforth, who has long been in the public eye, has a summer nome at Bainbridge, Chenango county, where he is very popular. Recently there was a Sunday school festival and Danforth was prevailed upon to accept the post of grand marshal. He attired himself in blue, borrowed a chapeau, scarlet sash and spurs, and engaged the most spirited horse in the village. More than 2,000 children were in the parade, and Mr. Danforth, prouder than Lucifer, rode at the head, bowing and smilling to hundreds. As the grov was neared the musical director dered the children to sing, "Hold the Fort." Mr. Danforth enjoyed it at the utset, but when the second verse be-an he blanched. The lines in that "See the mighty host advancing.

Last week, says the News, a young man giving his name as E. P. Johnson of Salt Lake, accompanied by a young lady, came to this city and put up at Mrs. Loveland's hotel. In the evening he engaged a horse and buggy at Glo-DEATH OF JAMES M'LANE. ver's fivery stable, stating he was going to Mantua and back. Not returning that night, Mr. Glover notified Sheriff Cordon who at once started to hunt the Respected Citizen Passes Away After Long Illness from Rheamatism.

> Now that good farm help is becoming scarce and high priced, it behooves the farmer to use more riding implements thus letting the horses do the work of several men in a short time. A whet harrow and cultivator combined is grand tool and one that can be used spring, summer and fall, as it is just the thing with which to fit the ground for wheat or rye. The manure spreader is another great labor saver and doe the work much better than by hand. I would pay many of our farmers to in-vest more money in good, up-to-dats implements. Expensive implements should be purchased conjointly by neighboring farmers, and well taken care of. Few farmers in Utah are well converted to the taken of enough off to own all that they can us of the modern farm machinery, but by co-operation all may have the use of such machinery in their farm operations, to the saving of much labor,
