

SCANDINAVIAN NEWS BUDGET.

(Prepared from Special Correspondence for the DESERET NEWS.)

SWEDEN.

The government has asked the riksdag to grant an appropriation of $75,000 for the building of railroads.

The population in southern Sweden is still decreasing because of the large emigration to the United States.

Two large wood pulp factories will be built on opposite sides of the Helsingfors, near Stockholm, Sweden.

During 1913 34,342 people emigrated from Sweden to America, as compared with 33,424 in 1912.

John Thomsen, a Swedish-American, who returned to Gothenburg the other day, was found to be insane, and was taken to an asylum.

Large numbers of Swedish soldiers are said to have immigrated to northern Sweden from the eastern part of Finland.

The government will ask the riksdag to grant an appropriation for meeting the expenses of an industrial exhibition to be held in Stockholm in 1917.

Swedish telegrams, manufactured by M. Eriksson & Co., of Stockholm, are in large quantities being exported to Venezuela, Ecuador and Guayaquil.

Ex-minister von Rosenblad has been elected speaker in the Upper house of the Swedish Diet, and Governor De la Gardie speaker in the Lower house.

Crown Princess Victoria, who has again left Sweden for a tour with a warmer climate, is a very sick woman, infirmities as to the true condition of the princess is, of course, not given to the public, but it is a public secret that she is suffering from consumption.

The Working Women in Finland, founded by a ladies' society, is one of the best institutions of its kind in Sweden. It brings up poor girls and gives them education. The society, established in a house of its own, is maintained by gifts, among which are found animal contributions, the profits of the Association of Ready-Built Houses.

Preparations are being made for a large shooting tournament, which will take place at Helsingfors, Sweden, in which only pupils of the high colleges will participate. Such tournaments have been held once every year during the two last decades, but the one anticipated this year will be held on a larger and grander scale than ever before.

There are at present in Sweden a great number of societies for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. The object of these societies is to effect a kinder treatment of the domestic animals and also to improve the growing up of children with interest for their good conduct. The societies have also been successful in introducing improvements in the mode of killing, and in gain this kind of interest in the public mind, and in this way have given rise of charges, and a great number of papers, on the same subject have been distributed.

Veterinary surgery is supported by the Swedish government through a large veterinary institute situated in Stockholm, and by the appointment of a veterinary surgeon in each province. The provinces are divided into several districts, each with a distinct veterinary surgeon, who is paid by the Agricultural Society and the Provincial Council. The agricultural societies chiefly busy themselves with the development of those branches of live stock breeding of vital importance to each separate province, and consequently worthy of encouragement. This is effected by the purchase and sale of animals, suitable for the province, by contributions to prize competitions, by the arrangement of smaller district meetings, exhibitions of fatted cattle, horse fairs and exhibitions of dairy products, etc.

Electric works will be built at Helsingborg.

The fishing of stock fish was very large in 1913.

Light earthquakes are reported from a great many places in Norway.

Fishberg was visited by two big fires. The last of property is considerable.

Harald Hagen, the famous skater, has departed for Zwettl, Holland, where he will compete with the Dutch skaters.

John Thomsen, the prominent shipowner, has donated nearly 70,000 kroner to the Skaneateles.

Their golden-wedding was celebrated by Lord Malmberg, a well-known citizen of Bergen, and his wife.

The Total Abstinence Association of Christians and numbers now 500 members.

Mrs. Ingeborg Tamm, the oldest inhabitant of Riga, died at the advanced age of 102 years and 2 months.

The Norwegian bark "Ran" collided with a steamer in the British channel and went to the bottom. Seven people were drowned.

The number of members of the conservative club of Norway has materially increased during the last ten months.

All the employees of the late bank, N. A. Andersen, have received one year's extra salary by order of the general Asig. Andersen, only son of the deceased.

The population of Norway belongs, with very few exceptions, to the Lutheran church, although a number of dissenting sects have arisen, as Methodist, Baptist, etc.

The bark "P. M. Petersen" from Portland is supposed to be lost, no sailing has been heard of the ship since its summer. Her crew numbered twenty-one men.

The designs in the old Norwegian weaving resemble those of the old Indian or Aztec, and are executed partly on horizontal and partly on vertical looms. Generally the designs are geometric and are based on the lines of the square.

Fairly and public gardens are now not unusual in Norwegian towns, being especially well kept. In the largest the capital, Copenhagen, there are many large, beautiful and most beautiful gardens.

Several "people's kitchens" which have been established in different places in Norway for the purpose of providing the working class with cheap and nutritious food, have not met with any decided success.

The Skaneateles Bank has declared a dividend of five per cent.

Their dividend will be paid.

DESERET NEWS BUDGET.

(Prepared from Special Correspondence for the DESERET NEWS.)

SWEDEN.

The government has asked the riksdag to grant an appropriation of $75,000 for the building of railroads.

The population in southern Sweden is still decreasing because of the large emigration to the United States.

Two large wood pulp factories will be built on opposite sides of the Helsingfors, near Stockholm, Sweden.

During 1913 34,342 people emigrated from Sweden to America, as compared with 33,424 in 1912.

John Thomsen, a Swedish-American, who returned to Gothenburg the other day, was found to be insane, and was taken to an asylum.

Large numbers of Swedish soldiers are said to have immigrated to northern Sweden from the eastern part of Finland.

The government will ask the riksdag to grant an appropriation for meeting the expenses of an industrial exhibition to be held in Stockholm in 1917.

Swedish telegrams, manufactured by M. Eriksson & Co., of Stockholm, are in large quantities being exported to Venezuela, Ecuador and Guayaquil.

Ex-minister von Rosenblad has been elected speaker in the Upper house of the Swedish Diet, and Governor De la Gardie speaker in the Lower house.

Crown Princess Victoria, who has again left Sweden for a tour with a warmer climate, is a very sick woman, infirmities as to the true condition of the princess is, of course, not given to the public, but it is a public secret that she is suffering from consumption.

The Working Women in Finland, founded by a ladies' society, is one of the best institutions of its kind in Sweden. It brings up poor girls and gives them education. The society, established in a house of its own, is maintained by gifts, among which are found animal contributions, the profits of the Association of Ready-Built Houses.

Preparations are being made for a large shooting tournament, which will take place at Helsingfors, Sweden, in which only pupils of the high colleges will participate. Such tournaments have been held once every year during the two last decades, but the one anticipated this year will be held on a larger and grander scale than ever before.

There are at present in Sweden a great number of societies for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. The object of these societies is to effect a kinder treatment of the domestic animals and also to improve the growing up of children with interest for their good conduct. The societies have also been successful in introducing improvements in the mode of killing, and in gain this kind of interest in the public mind, and in this way have given rise of charges, and a great number of papers, on the same subject have been distributed.

Veterinary surgery is supported by the Swedish government through a large veterinary institute situated in Stockholm, and by the appointment of a veterinary surgeon in each province. The provinces are divided into several districts, each with a distinct veterinary surgeon, who is paid by the Agricultural Society and the Provincial Council. The agricultural societies chiefly busy themselves with the development of those branches of live stock breeding of vital importance to each separate province, and consequently worthy of encouragement. This is effected by the purchase and sale of animals, suitable for the province, by contributions to prize competitions, by the arrangement of smaller district meetings, exhibitions of fatted cattle, horse fairs and exhibitions of dairy products, etc.

Electric works will be built at Helsingborg.

The fishing of stock fish was very large in 1913.

Light earthquakes are reported from a great many places in Norway.

Fishberg was visited by two big fires. The last of property is considerable.

Harald Hagen, the famous skater, has departed for Zwettl, Holland, where he will compete with the Dutch skaters.

John Thomsen, the prominent shipowner, has donated nearly 70,000 kroner to the Skaneateles.

Their golden-wedding was celebrated by Lord Malmberg, a well-known citizen of Bergen, and his wife.

The Total Abstinence Association of Christians and numbers now 500 members.

Mrs. Ingeborg Tamm, the oldest inhabitant of Riga, died at the advanced age of 102 years and 2 months.

The Norwegian bark "Ran" collided with a steamer in the British channel and went to the bottom. Seven people were drowned.

The number of members of the conservative club of Norway has materially increased during the last ten months.

All the employees of the late bank, N. A. Andersen, have received one year's extra salary by order of the general Asig. Andersen, only son of the deceased.

The population of Norway belongs, with very few exceptions, to the Lutheran church, although a number of dissenting sects have arisen, as Methodist, Baptist, etc.

The bark "P. M. Petersen" from Portland is supposed to be lost, no sailing has been heard of the ship since its summer. Her crew numbered twenty-one men.

The designs in the old Norwegian weaving resemble those of the old Indian or Aztec, and are executed partly on horizontal and partly on vertical looms. Generally the designs are geometric and are based on the lines of the square.

Fairly and public gardens are now not unusual in Norwegian towns, being especially well kept. In the largest the capital, Copenhagen, there are many large, beautiful and most beautiful gardens.

Several "people's kitchens" which have been established in different places in Norway for the purpose of providing the working class with cheap and nutritious food, have not met with any decided success.

The Skaneateles Bank has declared a dividend of five per cent.

Their dividend will be paid.

DESERET NEWS BUDGET.

(Prepared from Special Correspondence for the DESERET NEWS.)

SWEDEN.

The government has asked the riksdag to grant an appropriation of $75,000 for the building of railroads.

The population in southern Sweden is still decreasing because of the large emigration to the United States.

Two large wood pulp factories will be built on opposite sides of the Helsingfors, near Stockholm, Sweden.

During 1913 34,342 people emigrated from Sweden to America, as compared with 33,424 in 1912.

John Thomsen, a Swedish-American, who returned to Gothenburg the other day, was found to be insane, and was taken to an asylum.

Large numbers of Swedish soldiers are said to have immigrated to northern Sweden from the eastern part of Finland.

The government will ask the riksdag to grant an appropriation for meeting the expenses of an industrial exhibition to be held in Stockholm in 1917.

Swedish telegrams, manufactured by M. Eriksson & Co., of Stockholm, are in large quantities being exported to Venezuela, Ecuador and Guayaquil.

Ex-minister von Rosenblad has been elected speaker in the Upper house of the Swedish Diet, and Governor De la Gardie speaker in the Lower house.

Crown Princess Victoria, who has again left Sweden for a tour with a warmer climate, is a very sick woman, infirmities as to the true condition of the princess is, of course, not given to the public, but it is a public secret that she is suffering from consumption.

The Working Women in Finland, founded by a ladies' society, is one of the best institutions of its kind in Sweden. It brings up poor girls and gives them education. The society, established in a house of its own, is maintained by gifts, among which are found animal contributions, the profits of the Association of Ready-Built Houses.

Preparations are being made for a large shooting tournament, which will take place at Helsingfors, Sweden, in which only pupils of the high colleges will participate. Such tournaments have been held once every year during the two last decades, but the one anticipated this year will be held on a larger and grander scale than ever before.

There are at present in Sweden a great number of societies for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. The object of these societies is to effect a kinder treatment of the domestic animals and also to improve the growing up of children with interest for their good conduct. The societies have also been successful in introducing improvements in the mode of killing, and in gain this kind of interest in the public mind, and in this way have given rise of charges, and a great number of papers, on the same subject have been distributed.

Veterinary surgery is supported by the Swedish government through a large veterinary institute situated in Stockholm, and by the appointment of a veterinary surgeon in each province. The provinces are divided into several districts, each with a distinct veterinary surgeon, who is paid by the Agricultural Society and the Provincial Council. The agricultural societies chiefly busy themselves with the development of those branches of live stock breeding of vital importance to each separate province, and consequently worthy of encouragement. This is effected by the purchase and sale of animals, suitable for the province, by contributions to prize competitions, by the arrangement of smaller district meetings, exhibitions of fatted cattle, horse fairs and exhibitions of dairy products, etc.

Electric works will be built at Helsingborg.

The fishing of stock fish was very large in 1913.

Light earthquakes are reported from a great many places in Norway.

Fishberg was visited by two big fires. The last of property is considerable.

Harald Hagen, the famous skater, has departed for Zwettl, Holland, where he will compete with the Dutch skaters.

John Thomsen, the prominent shipowner, has donated nearly 70,000 kroner to the Skaneateles.

Their golden-wedding was celebrated by Lord Malmberg, a well-known citizen of Bergen, and his wife.

The Total Abstinence Association of Christians and numbers now 500 members.

Mrs. Ingeborg Tamm, the oldest inhabitant of Riga, died at the advanced age of 102 years and 2 months.

The Norwegian bark "Ran" collided with a steamer in the British channel and went to the bottom. Seven people were drowned.

The number of members of the conservative club of Norway has materially increased during the last ten months.

All the employees of the late bank, N. A. Andersen, have received one year's extra salary by order of the general Asig. Andersen, only son of the deceased.

The population of Norway belongs, with very few exceptions, to the Lutheran church, although a number of dissenting sects have arisen, as Methodist, Baptist, etc.

The bark "P. M. Petersen" from Portland is supposed to be lost, no sailing has been heard of the ship since its summer. Her crew numbered twenty-one men.

The designs in the old Norwegian weaving resemble those of the old Indian or Aztec, and are executed partly on horizontal and partly on vertical looms. Generally the designs are geometric and are based on the lines of the square.

Fairly and public gardens are now not unusual in Norwegian towns, being especially well kept. In the largest the capital, Copenhagen, there are many large, beautiful and most beautiful gardens.

Several "people's kitchens" which have been established in different places in Norway for the purpose of providing the working class with cheap and nutritious food, have not met with any decided success.

The Skaneateles Bank has declared a dividend of five per cent.

Their dividend will be paid.

DESERET NEWS BUDGET.

(Prepared from Special Correspondence for the DESERET NEWS.)

SWEDEN.

The government has asked the riksdag to grant an appropriation of $75,000 for the building of railroads.

The population in southern Sweden is still decreasing because of the large emigration to the United States.

Two large wood pulp factories will be built on opposite sides of the Helsingfors, near Stockholm, Sweden.

During 1913 34,342 people emigrated from Sweden to America, as compared with 33,424 in 1912.

John Thomsen, a Swedish-American, who returned to Gothenburg the other day, was found to be insane, and was taken to an asylum.

Large numbers of Swedish soldiers are said to have immigrated to northern Sweden from the eastern part of Finland.

The government will ask the riksdag to grant an appropriation for meeting the expenses of an industrial exhibition to be held in Stockholm in 1917.

Swedish telegrams, manufactured by M. Eriksson & Co., of Stockholm, are in large quantities being exported to Venezuela, Ecuador and Guayaquil.

Ex-minister von Rosenblad has been elected speaker in the Upper house of the Swedish Diet, and Governor De la Gardie speaker in the Lower house.

Crown Princess Victoria, who has again left Sweden for a tour with a warmer climate, is a very sick woman, infirmities as to the true condition of the princess is, of course, not given to the public, but it is a public secret that she is suffering from consumption.

The Working Women in Finland, founded by a ladies' society, is one of the best institutions of its kind in Sweden. It brings up poor girls and gives them education. The society, established in a house of its own, is maintained by gifts, among which are found animal contributions, the profits of the Association of Ready-Built Houses.

Preparations are being made for a large shooting tournament, which will take place at Helsingfors, Sweden, in which only pupils of the high colleges will participate. Such tournaments have been held once every year during the two last decades, but the one anticipated this year will be held on a larger and grander scale than ever before.

There are at present in Sweden a great number of societies for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. The object of these societies is to effect a kinder treatment of the domestic animals and also to improve the growing up of children with interest for their good conduct. The societies have also been successful in introducing improvements in the mode of killing, and in gain this kind of interest in the public mind, and in this way have given rise of charges, and a great number of papers, on the same subject have been distributed.

Veterinary surgery is supported by the Swedish government through a large veterinary institute situated in Stockholm, and by the appointment of a veterinary surgeon in each province. The provinces are divided into several districts, each with a distinct veterinary surgeon, who is paid by the Agricultural Society and the Provincial Council. The agricultural societies chiefly busy themselves with the development of those branches of live stock breeding of vital importance to each separate province, and consequently worthy of encouragement. This is effected by the purchase and sale of animals, suitable for the province, by contributions to prize competitions, by the arrangement of smaller district meetings, exhibitions of fatted cattle, horse fairs and exhibitions of dairy products, etc.

Electric works will be built at Helsingborg.

The fishing of stock fish was very large in 1913.

Light earthquakes are reported from a great many places in Norway.

Fishberg was visited by two big fires. The last of property is considerable.

Harald Hagen, the famous skater, has departed for Zwettl, Holland, where he will compete with the Dutch skaters.

John Thomsen, the prominent shipowner, has donated nearly 70,000 kroner to the Skaneateles.

Their golden-wedding was celebrated by Lord Malmberg, a well-known citizen of Bergen, and his wife.

The Total Abstinence Association of Christians and numbers now 500 members.

Mrs. Ingeborg Tamm, the oldest inhabitant of Riga, died at the advanced age of 102 years and 2 months.

The Norwegian bark "Ran" collided with a steamer in the British channel and went to the bottom. Seven people were drowned.

The number of members of the conservative club of Norway has materially increased during the last ten months.

All the employees of the late bank, N. A. Andersen, have received one year's extra salary by order of the general Asig. Andersen, only son of the deceased.

The population of Norway belongs, with very few exceptions, to the Lutheran church, although a number of dissenting sects have arisen, as Methodist, Baptist, etc.

The bark "P. M. Petersen" from Portland is supposed to be lost, no sailing has been heard of the ship since its summer. Her crew numbered twenty-one men.

The designs in the old Norwegian weaving resemble those of the old Indian or Aztec, and are executed partly on horizontal and partly on vertical looms. Generally the designs are geometric and are based on the lines of the square.

Fairly and public gardens are now not unusual in Norwegian towns, being especially well kept. In the largest the capital, Copenhagen, there are many large, beautiful and most beautiful gardens.

Several "people's kitchens" which have been established in different places in Norway for the purpose of providing the working class with cheap and nutritious food, have not met with any decided success.

The Skaneateles Bank has declared a dividend of five per cent.

Their dividend will be paid.

DESERET NEWS BUDGET.

(Prepared from Special Correspondence for the DESERET NEWS.)

SWEDEN.

The government has asked the riksdag to grant an appropriation of $75,000 for the building of railroads.

The population in southern Sweden is still decreasing because of the large emigration to the United States.

Two large wood pulp factories will be built on opposite sides of the Helsingfors, near Stockholm, Sweden.

During 1913 34,342 people emigrated from Sweden to America, as compared with 33,424 in 1912.

John Thomsen, a Swedish-American, who returned to Gothenburg the other day, was found to be insane, and was taken to an asylum.

Large numbers of Swedish soldiers are said to have immigrated to northern Sweden from the eastern part of Finland.

The government will ask the riksdag to grant an appropriation for meeting the expenses of an industrial exhibition to be held in Stockholm in 1917.

Swedish telegrams, manufactured by M. Eriksson & Co., of Stockholm, are in large quantities being exported to Venezuela, Ecuador and Guayaquil.

Ex-minister von Rosenblad has been elected speaker in the Upper house of the Swedish Diet, and Governor De la Gardie speaker in the Lower house.

Crown Princess Victoria, who has again left Sweden for a tour with a warmer climate, is a very sick woman, infirmities as to the true condition of the princess is, of course, not given to the public, but it is a public secret that she is suffering from consumption.

The Working Women in Finland, founded by a ladies' society, is one of the best institutions of its kind in Sweden. It brings up poor girls and gives them education. The society, established in a house of its own, is maintained by gifts, among which are found animal contributions, the profits of the Association of Ready-Built Houses.

Preparations are being made for a large shooting tournament, which will take place at Helsingfors, Sweden, in which only pupils of the high colleges will participate. Such tournaments have been held once every year during the two last decades, but the one anticipated this year will be held on a larger and grander scale than ever before.

There are at present in Sweden a great number of societies for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. The object of these societies is to effect a kinder treatment of the domestic animals and also to improve the growing up of children with interest for their good conduct. The societies have also been successful in introducing improvements in the mode of killing, and in gain this kind of interest in the public mind, and in this way have given rise of charges, and a great number of papers, on the same subject have been distributed.

Veterinary surgery is supported by the Swedish government through a large veterinary institute situated in Stockholm, and by the appointment of a veterinary surgeon in each province. The provinces are divided into several districts, each with a distinct veterinary surgeon, who is paid by the Agricultural Society and the Provincial Council. The agricultural societies chiefly busy themselves with the development of those branches of live stock breeding of vital importance to each separate province, and consequently worthy of encouragement. This is effected by the purchase and sale of animals, suitable for the province, by contributions to prize competitions, by the arrangement of smaller district meetings, exhibitions of fatted cattle, horse fairs and exhibitions of dairy products, etc.

Electric works will be built at Helsingborg.

The fishing of stock fish was very large in 1913.

Light earthquakes are reported from a great many places in Norway.

Fishberg was visited by two big fires. The last of property is considerable.

Harald Hagen, the famous skater, has departed for Zwettl, Holland, where he will compete with the Dutch skaters.

John Thomsen, the prominent shipowner, has donated nearly 70,000 kroner to the Skaneateles.

Their golden-wedding was celebrated by Lord Malmberg, a well-known citizen of Bergen, and his wife.

The Total Abstinence Association of Christians and numbers now 500 members.

Mrs. Ingeborg Tamm, the oldest inhabitant of Riga, died at the advanced age of 102 years and 2 months.

The Norwegian bark "Ran" collided with a steamer in the British channel and went to the bottom. Seven people were drowned.

The number of members of the conservative club of Norway has materially increased during the last ten months.

All the employees of the late bank, N. A. Andersen, have received one year's extra salary by order of the general Asig. Andersen, only son of the deceased.

The population of Norway belongs, with very few exceptions, to the Lutheran church, although a number of dissenting sects have arisen, as Methodist, Baptist, etc.

The bark "P. M. Petersen" from Portland is supposed to be lost, no sailing has been heard of the ship since its summer. Her crew numbered twenty-one men.

The designs in the old Norwegian weaving resemble those of the old Indian or Aztec, and are executed partly on horizontal and partly on vertical looms. Generally the designs are geometric and are based on the lines of the square.

Fairly and public gardens are now not unusual in Norwegian towns, being especially well kept. In the largest the capital, Copenhagen, there are many large, beautiful and most beautiful gardens.

Several "people's kitchens" which have been established in different places in Norway for the purpose of providing the working class with cheap and nutritious food, have not met with any decided success.

The Skaneateles Bank has declared a dividend of five per cent.

The