

IN THE WORLD OF WOMEN

NOTABLE UTAH WOMEN.

Blue skies, purplish hues of atmosphere and mountains blending with vivid yellow and scarlet of turning leaves and golden sunshine, with air tinged with Indian summer's blended warmth and coolness have made the days of the past week a dream of delight—their charm tinged with regret the pleasant hours spent indoors in their duration. In days and scenes of such Arcadian suggestion, the worldliest thoughts turn imperatively to winding mountain ways hung with draperies of scarlet foliage, to country fields and parks, where the sweep of social and business tides is stilled by the delicious mysticism with which autumn imbues the lovelier and sturdier of nature's spots. Numbers have yielded to the spell, and the canyon roads and country drives have been busy thoroughfares for carriages filled with devotees desiring to breathe the incense of beauty which has been a veritable atmosphere about us for many days. City Creek canyon, in particular, has been a popular drive, especially on Sundays when the way has been lined with vehicles going and returning—the latter case returning laden with branches of scarlet tinged leaves with which the canyon way is lined.

In regard to indoor events though the brilliance of last week's affairs eclipsed that of the present, the seven days have been filled with delightful social functions. Weddings, receptions, card parties and dinners have made the week a busy one, and in the number of invitations issued for next week is promise of little lull in social festivities during the coming week. The opening of Christensen's marks a notable turn in the current of social events, as it means the recommencement of the pleasant dancing parties, club gatherings, etc., which have made the hall so popular during the past seasons.

One of the week's weddings was that of Miss Maud Hardy and Dr. Thomas Odell on Tuesday afternoon. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Clarence Brown at 4 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, after which duty refreshments were served, the bride and groom leaving afterward on the 6:40 train for a trip to Chicago, New York and Washington.

The rooms were handsomely decorated with autumn leaves, chrysanthemums, asters and roses, the couple standing in front of a curtain of roses and sunnys, while mantels and corners were adorned with flowers and palms. Green and white was the color scheme in this room and in the dining room hellebore prevailed, violets and ribbons being used with pretty effect. Autumn leaves were in the boudoir.

The bride wore a becoming gown of blue broadcloth with picture hat, and carried bride roses.

Assisting in the dining room were Miss Winifred Hardy, Miss Florence Grant and Miss Joan Odell. Punch was served by Miss Ida Chandler.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hardy, of this city, and her lovely cousin, Miss Maud Hardy, a graduate of the Pennsylvania Medical college and during the war with Spain served as assistant surgeon on one of the battleships sent to Cuba. Dr. and Mrs. Odell will reside in Butte.

Mrs. H. A. Whitney and Mrs. Teiman entertained at an elaborate reception on Thursday at their residence on East South Temple street. The house was beautifully decorated by Florist Evans, the parlor with an artistic arrangement of yellow chrysanthemums and ferns, the library in red, and the dining room in green and white. The latter was especially pretty—the fireplace and mantel being banked with asparagus plants and ferns starred with white chrysanthemums, and with a profusion of ferns, palms and plants filling every available corner and space. A spread of Battenberg lace reached from end to end of the table, with a vase of white chrysanthemums in the center and wide bows of green ribbon at the corners, with baskets of grapes at the others. The refreshments, bon bons, etc., were in green and white, and the electric lights were shaded in green. The hall was embowered in green—palms filling the corners and sunnys twining the banister and newel posts from top to bottom. At the head of the stairs an orchestra was stationed and dispensed choice music during the afternoon. The artistic decorations called forth many expressions of admiration. The hostesses were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Bidwell, Mrs. Wantland and Mrs. Johnson. In the dining room Mrs. Chas. Brink, Mrs. Grant and Mrs. John N. Sharp presided.

Invitations were issued for 200 guests, of which nearly all were present. The affair was a most delightful one.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Miller gave a delightful musicale on Monday evening at their residence on east First South street.

The rooms were elaborately decorated by Hubbard—roses, palms and sunnys being used throughout the house. The program consisted of the following numbers: "Give Me My Own Native Land," by Y. M. C. A. quartet, made up of S. H. Gilbert, Dr. Chandler and Messrs. Augustus and Norman McDonald; "My Dreams," Tosti, by T. H. Gilbert; "Caprice de Concert," by T. H. Gilbert; "My Clive," accompanied by Mr. Thomas Radcliffe; "Hamon," and "A May Morning," Miss Geneva Jennings; "Old Kentucky Home," Y. M. C. A. quartet.

After the program, refreshments were served, and the orchestra, stationed upstairs, played before and after the vocal renditions.

MRS. ARTHUR BROWN.

Mrs. Isabel Cameron Brown, the wife of ex-Senator Arthur Brown, is descended from old colonial and Scotch stock, Richard Sperry, her ancestor on her mother's side, having figured in a bit of historic romance, which figures prominently in the old time annals of New Jersey.

Among those who took prominent part in the beheading of Charles I of England, were two judges, Whaley and Goff, cousins to Oliver Cromwell, and who afterward, at the accession of Charles II, fled to America for safety. Richard Sperry being a relative of Oliver Cromwell, the regicides naturally appealed to him for protection. The former consented to aid them, hiding them in a cave on his premises, without knowledge of any member of his family, food being conveyed to the two fugitives by clandestine means. The spot in which they hid, afterward known as the famous Sperry cave, is still owned by the family. Bishop Sperry of the Fourth ward in this city, and Charles Sperry of Neph, are also direct descendants of Richard Sperry. Mrs. Brown's mother was of the Paul family, famous in Revolutionary times; Paul Jones, whose real name was John Paul, being related to this branch. On the side of her father, Alexander Cameron, Mrs. Brown is of direct Scotch descent. She was born in Kalamazoo, Michigan, where she was educated, and in 1880 came to Utah, where she has since lived. During her residence, she has been prominent in humane and political matters, having taken prominent part in aiding the establishment of the Day Nursery and Orphan's Home, whose sixteenth anniversary was recently celebrated. Mrs. Brown was an original charter member, and is the only one of those still left on the board of directors. She served as chairman of the Ladies' Republican committee in 1895, and originated the great Republican women's parade of that year, a feature which was considered as among the factors of Republican success at the polls during that campaign.

In 1894 Mrs. Brown organized the Woman's McKinley club, which was re-organized three years later under the title of the Woman's Republican club, which has become one of the chief political societies of the State.

Mrs. Brown has also been prominent in club matters, having been an efficient member of the Ladies' Literary club for several years past, and serving as chairman of the building committee of the society at the time of the erection of the Ladies' Literary club house.

Mrs. Brown is the founder of the Poet's Round Table, one of the most prominent clubs in the city, and has been an active member of the Utah Woman's Press club.
