SILVER DEFEATED!

The Galleries of the House Crowded with Interested Spectators.

RATIOS AMENDMENTS DOWN.

The Details of the Bill—Up and Down—Up and Down—Up and Down.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 28.—The galleries of the House were crowded long before the time for assembling, as persons interested in the result of the bill on the silver question were two weeks' delay. When the speaker called for order at ten o'clock every eye in the hall was turned toward the speaker's chair.

The amendment of the bill was read by the speaker, and the result was a tie, 173 yeas and 173 nays. The speaker then declared the bill to be passed.

After reading the journal, Speaker Clegg called for the yeas and nays on the bill. The result was a tie, 173 yeas and 173 nays.
