He was in attendance on the grand lodge meeting, recently held in Philadelphia, and there he was awarded the prize offered for the largest Elk. Koenig stands six feet eight inches high, and weighs 300 pounds. He is a commercial traveler by occupation.

WEATHER SUMMARY.

During Past Week Precipitation Was Above Normal—Sunshine Normal.

Following is a summary of the local weather for the week ending Monday evening last, Aug. 19:

During the first four days of the past week, the weather was generally clear for most of the day, and towards the close of the week cloudy conditions prevailed, and showers and thunderstorms were frequent. The temperature averaged below the normal for all sections. The daily demands were due principally to the cool nights that prevailed, the temperatures during the daytime being about normal. Unseasonably low temperatures were quite generally reported on several mornings, and light to killing frosts occurred at a number of points in the northern portion of the state. The highest temperature reported for the week was 92 degrees, recorded at Corinne, Boxelder county, on the 13th and 16th, and the lowest, 28 degrees, at Woodruff, Rich county, on the 15th.

The precipitation for the state as a whole averaged somewhat above the normal. The greater part of the rainfall occurred on the 17th, when there was a general rain and thunderstorm. The forepart of the week was dry. There were a number of scattered thunderstorms during this period, but very little precipitation occurred. The rainfall of the 17th was heaviest in the northern and lightest over the southern portions of the state. Some hail fell in Utah county on the 14th, 15th and 17th, also in some of the northern and mountainous districts, being of daily occurrence in some localities. The water supply for irrigation purposes has been sufficient to meet all demands. The sunshine for the week averaged about normal, though there was a deficiency for one or two days during the latter part. Sunny conditions prevailed on several afternoons, and cloudiness, followed by thunderstorms, frequently resulted. The close of the week was marked by clear and cool weather.

"BUTTE OF NEVADA."

Salt Lake Architect Predicts Great Things for Ely.

Architect Fred Hale returned this morning from Ely, Nev., where he is doing considerable professional work. He says Ely is destined to be the Butte of Nevada, but an improvement on the Montana city. The growth is solid and steady. The railroad builders are pushing their way along with remarkable speed. There are 140 miles of track laid on a perfectly flat country without a culvert, a feature that can hardly be paralleled elsewhere in the country. Mr. Hale says that while Ely may be rather quiet at present, the "quiet" that obtains there would be brief times for some towns.

CHAMBERLAIN'S COLIC, CHOLERA AND DIARRHOEA REMEDY, BETTER THAN THREE DOCTORS.

"Three years ago we had three doctors with us little boy and everything that they could do seemed to be gone we began using Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and in a few hours he began to improve. Today he is as healthy a child as parents could wish for."—Mrs. D. J. Linton, Linton, Miss. For sale by all druggists.

MRS. BOOTH VISITS STATE PRISON

"Little Mother" Addresses "The Boys" of the Utah Penal Institution.

OVER TWO HUNDRED ATTEND

Prisoners Who Desire to Live Better Lives Are Given the Opportunity in "Volunteer Homes."

The grim old walls of the Utah state penitentiary surrounded a scene of strange solemnity when Mrs. Maud Ballington Booth held services there yesterday. At 3:15 every prisoner, except some "third graders," who are in solitary confinement for some recent infringement of rules, nearly every "offer" and the four women, making in all over 200, filed into the little chapel which adjoins the women's ward and hospital. About 20 visitors were present, mostly ladies.

MRS. BOOTH'S TALK.

Warden Pratt introduced Mrs. Booth, who addressed her hearers as "My dear friends." She is a woman of strong physique, great personal magnetism, and convincing eloquence. The ready laugh or responsive tear were easily in evidence throughout her discourse, her hearers being very quick to detect the fine points of her talk, both grave and gay.

Mrs. Booth told "the boys" that she spent most of her time in prisons, was glad to get into them, and sorry to leave them. She said that the case with most people, she stated that her message was one of hope, that she was glad of an opportunity to address her audiences, that she had a message to deliver to help him in his life and also after he gets out, to allay prejudice on the outside and to bring encouragement to the inside.

She did not care for the story of the prodigal son being read in prisons; it should be termed "The Story of the Elder Brother." She said she did not want to die or else his ghost still walks the earth. "The only thing that will make the path of the prodigal easier," she said, "is the story of the elder brother." The idea of what prisons are for is changing; they are now coming to be known as places where men may learn the right and have a new chance.

Mrs. Booth was the founder of the V. P. L. or Volunteer Prisoners' league, which was started 11 years ago. The league contains now 50,000 members, and has many places of refuge for discharged prisoners, called "Hope halls," the members calling her "the little mother." Five hundred men, "radicals" of prisons, have passed through the "Hope halls" and become useful citizens. The term "convict" has been expunged from the vocabulary of the V. P. L.

"The years spent in prison are not thrown away," said Mrs. Booth. "Every action and thought will help you to become better men if they are in an upward direction. The greatest lesson to learn to be industrious, the man who has sold himself to drink can curb his appetite; the man of high temper can learn to control himself. No man can reform who reform you against your will," she declared. "Every man has his own free agency."

MEN OF TWO CLASSES.

"Two men looked out from prison bars. One saw the mud, the other saw the stars." Mrs. Booth likened the quotation to the men in prison. She said they may be divided into two classes—the one hopeful and looking upward, the other with thoughts in the mire.

The "little mother" told several stories of reformed prisoners and amusing allusions to amusing incidents brought the ready laugh, just as the pathetic points drew the moisture to eyes peering from behind the bars. The eyes of the auditors were quick to catch an idea and if applause had been in order, several of the impressive sentences which occurred during the discourse would have been filled with handclapping.

Before her closing prayer, Mrs. Booth asked those to stand who were willing to throw off the old life and begin anew. An intelligent looking young man leapt to his feet before the words were fairly out of her mouth, about 25 quickly following his example.

CHARLES BOOTH.

Mrs. Booth then introduced her son, Charles Booth, a pleasant-spoken young man, who is editor of the Prison Gazette and a strong co-operator with his mother, in prison work. He spoke of the sports of the ex-convicts or "graduates," and smiles were on the faces of the men who were making way out from prison and on the way to the halls of hope.

LARGE MEMBERSHIP.

Mrs. Booth states that about one-third of the prisoners throughout the country are members of the V. P. L. The list of members includes prisoners from Columbus, Joliet, Fort Madison, Anamosa, Iowa, Leavenworth, Utah, and now on her way to Salem, Ore., then back to Nevada. She said that the men were the guests of Warden and Mrs. Pratt, whom they met last year at a prison convention. They left last evening over the Oregon Short Line.

LIFE INSURANCE.

For twenty-five cents you can now insure yourself and family against any bad luck that may come along with remarkable speed. There are 140 miles of track laid on a perfectly flat country without a culvert, a feature that can hardly be paralleled elsewhere in the country. Mr. Hale says that while Ely may be rather quiet at present, the "quiet" that obtains there would be brief times for some towns.

ON THE MAIN LINE.

Engineer Morris of Short Line Talks of Project in Boise.

Referring to the building of the proposed main line of road through Boise, by the Oregon Short Line, the Statesman says: "G. T. Morris, of Salt Lake, engineer of the Oregon Short Line, was in the city last night and stated that a party of 15 surveyors under his charge, Tuesday started to work out of Mora to survey a line for the proposed main line of the Oregon Short Line through Boise. Several lines would be run. Mr. Morris stated, and the party would reach Boise in about two weeks, working almost due north from Mora. Mr. Morris thought it likely a grade of less than one per cent could be secured from Mora. While the line surveyed last spring from Orchard to Boise had been found to be feasible, Mr. Morris stated, the grade, in places about 1 1/2 per cent, would not permit the trains being taken over the line without more than one engine. This would be too expensive, he said, and it was for the reason that the grade was too heavy that he had been sent out to find a grade from Mora."

he said, but if a line were built, it would be getting farther away from the idea of getting a shorter route. Construction from Mora would make the line longer than it is now. It was from Orchard, but the expense of operating over the heavier grade of the latter route would be greater than that of operating over the longer line with the lighter grade which it is expected can be secured from Mora.

"Mr. Morris could not say whether the line would be built, which one or if any. He was acting under the same instructions he was given last spring, he said, when he was simply told to find a line from Orchard to this city. He knew nothing except that he was to get a better grade. Mr. Morris was in charge of the party that last spring made the surveys from Orchard. He made the surveys from Monday and spent the day unloading their camping outfit and equipment for their work starting on the surveys yesterday morning."

TELEGRAPHONE FACTORY.

Proposition on Foot to Establish One in Salt Lake City.

Western managers of the American Telephone company were in conference last night at the Knutsford hotel, at which meeting the matter of establishing a factory in Salt Lake for the manufacture of telegraphones was considered. Overtures have been made to the company by Salt Lake commercial organizations, with a view of having this city chosen as the site of a factory and as a distributing point.

Charles K. Fankhauser is fiscal agent for the large company that controls the American rights for the manufacture of the machines, which up to this time have been made principally in Denmark. But this country from now on will turn out the wonderful invention in large numbers, the company indicated having orders on hand for 10,000 machines. One factory at Wheeling, West Virginia, turns out 1,000 telegraphones a month, and a number of branch concerns are to be opened across the country.

The telegraphone is one of the most marvelous inventions of the age, and is destined to do away in large measure with stenography. It is a perfect recorder of the voice, and the possibilities of the instrument are almost boundless. The machines will be leased rather than sold, although it is probable that are long this state of affairs will change and the telegraphone become personal property of purchasers.

TELEGRAPHERS BENEFIT.

It is Expected That Methodist Church Will Be Filled Tonight.

It is expected that the Methodist church will be filled to its capacity tonight on the occasion of the benefit concert for the striking telegraphers. The boys have been working hard selling tickets and a big house is assured. Fred Graham, who has charge of the program, announces the following which will be rendered tonight:

MAY GET ARTESIAN WELLS.

People of Cedar Valley Compelled to Haul Water for Household Use.

It is very probable that the state board of land commissioners will sink wells in Cedar valley, in Tooele county, and in Dog valley, Juab county, in order to supply the farmers with water for domestic purposes. The following callender and Hays have just returned from a trip to those valleys where they found the water level to be low. They are now planning to sink wells in some localities. The last legislature appropriated $250,000 to be used in sinking wells wherever the board deemed advisable to do so, and it is quite likely that the vote mentioned will benefit by the appropriation.

TIMELY INFORMATION.

The Jamestown exposition at Norfolk, Va., in its completeness, is, indeed, a handsome spectacle. Located, as it is, overlooking the Chesapeake Bay, a short distance from Norfolk and Portsmouth, near Old Point Comfort, Hampton and Newport News, in a region full of historical interest, it is a most attractive state which has always been a battlefield; emphasizes the wisdom of its projectors, who, knowing the patriotic fervor of the great American people, also knew that they would generously patronize this most unique of expositions. This is the first great exposition to be held at the seaside, in a beautiful country, and within the center of a popular civilization. The potency of the combination is obvious. Delegate, soldier, sailor, diplomat, and civilian meet there to commemorate the three hundredth anniversary of the nation's birth.

The Erie railroad offers to the exposition visitor an excellent train service with connections at Buffalo, O., Peoria, O., Mansfield, O., Youngstown, O., Olean, N. Y., Elmira, N. Y., Waterville, N. Y., and New York City.

A daily through sleeping car line is operated from Chicago on Erie train No. 8, leaving at 9:30 p. m., to Marion, Ohio, via Hocking Valley to Columbus, then Norfolk and Western train, leaving at 10:30 p. m., arriving Norfolk 8:30 following morning.

The Erie equipment is comprised of comfortable, high back seat day coaches, and staterooms, drawing room, sleeping cars, and Erie dining and cafe cars operated on the European plan; you simply pay for what you order.

Tickets may be purchased going one way via New York, returning direct, or reading going and returning via New York and rail or steamer.

The routes embrace trips via Baltimore and Washington, thence various steamer lines.

In addition to stop-over privileges now permitted at Niagara Falls, Chautauque, Lake Umbagog, and other points, the Erie train is now permitted to stop over on this company's lines, including stopovers at New York at the later point for 10 days if desired. Stopovers are permitted only within final return limit of ticket.

A delicious luncheon with prompt service at all hours at the Royal Cafe. A good place to eat.
