"DRY" SUNDAY.

Saloons Closed Saturday Midnight and Remain Closed Till Monday. Ogden, March 2.—Junction City wit-nessed the first "dry" Sunday yester-day it has had for many a day. The orders of Chief of Police Browning were carried out to close at midnight Saturday night and remain closed until were carried out to close at midnight saturday night and remain closed until this morning. If there was any liquor sold yesterday it was kept very quiet, for the officers were carefully watching to see that the rules were not broken. To the saloon keepers and bar tenders the orders were generally welcomed and all seemed to enjoy a day of rest from their daily labors. A few saloon keep-ers wanter to open, but were warned of the consequences if the law was vio-lated. Many hangers on and loiterers did not know what to do or where to go to spend the Sabbath, having been accustomed to putting in the day at saloons. The public in general are thankful the orders have been made. VICTIM OF PNEUMONIA.

CO. SCHOOL COALITION.

CO. SCHOOL COALITION. A mass meeting was held in the Brig-ham Young college yesterday composed of representative citizens from each tchool district of the county. The meeting was called by the county com-missioners to have the matter of the consolidation of the Cache county schools discussed and to ascertain where the people stood on the matter. Supt. Ashton of the Granite district of the Salt Lake county schools and D. C. Hubbard of the Boxelder county schools were present at the request of Supt. J. L. McCarrey and showed up the tenefits of consolidation from the experience of their counties. They put forth some telling arguments. T. B. Cutler of Treaton tools issue orth some telling arguments. T. R. Cutler of Trenton took issue with those present who favored consoli-dation and in a masterpiece of oratory dation and in a masterpiece of oratory railed down on the thought of con-solidation. The only serious objection he had to the question was that each district should take care of the educa-tion of its own children. He said he had studied the matter thoroughly and had talked against the matter in nearly every district in the northern part of the county.

Some of the districts in this county have but one school with all the grades and as long as they have been districts there has not come a single eighth grade gradu-ate from them. He named several dis-tricts in this condition. Mr. Cutler wanted it distinctly under-stood, after Mr. Oldbarn had finished, that he had not come to make a talk and consequently had left his "facts and figures at home." The general meeting adjourned and a committee meeting was called to find Forsgren was called in 1849 to accompany Apostle Erastus Snow to go and open the Scandinavian mission; they arrived in Copenhagen in the summer of 1850 and Elder Forsgren continued on to Sweden. When he arrived in his native town. Gefle, he learned that his sister. Ericka Forsgren, had, sometime previous, a remarkable vision which had made a deep impression on her and the bro-ther Peter. She was slitting in church on Sunday morning, having previously engaged in devoltonal exercises, as the hymn was sung she saw clearly a per-sonage standing before her and said. 'On the 5th day of July a man will come to you with three books and all those that believe in the things written in the books shall be saved.'' Ehe did not think that man would be their long lost brother John, who went to sca when a young boy, but when Elder Forsgren arrived with the Eible, the Book of Mormon and the Dootrine and Covenants. Peter and Ericka both believed the goapel message their bother presented to them; Ericka being baptized August 4, 1850.
