NEWS OF THE DAY.

—At Eufala, Ala., there was a bloody conflict at the polls, said to have been precipitated by the fact of white men protecting negroes who voted the democratic ticket. In the fight a large number were killed and wounded.

Last night, as a carriage containing several persons was approaching Cincinnati, the horse was frightened by a drove of hogs, and threw over a steep embankment the carriage and its occupants, one of whom was fatally in jured.

The following is a synopsis of the results of the elections yester. day, as indicated by the returns already received: democratic gover-nors were elected in New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Michigan and Nevada. In New York it is claimed that two-thirds of the members of Congress elected are dems. in Massachusetts four are elected; in New Jersey four dems. and three repubs., and State legislature overwhelmingly democratic. In Georgia it is said that the whole Congressional delegation will be democratic; Tennessee is said to five to thirty thousand majority.

Among the many presumed causes of this political revolution are mentioned the compulsory reconstruction measures in the South the aggression and centralization of the Federal government, third termism, the military character of the administration, carpet-bag arrogance and corruption, Credit-Mo-bilierism, back-pay business, depreciated currency, continued bad times, high taxes, and the exceedingly unsatisfactory condition of LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES the South after nearly ten years of submission to the Federal government.

A democratic majority in the next House may mean many things. It may mean modified legislation the ensuing winter, modified administrative and official action, as persistence in unpopular legislation and official conduct would work still greater disaster to endanger the next presidential election. It may mean, in the succeeding session, no more republican party legislation, a reversal of much past republican legislation, dead lock or compromise measures attached to the Senate of lock or compromise measures with the Senate, refusal to appropriate certain expenditures, impeachment of some republican office-holders, modification of reconstruction, restriction of Federal powers and interference in the States, and a interference in the States, and a return to constitutional principles, including local self-government. including local self-government. Appearances indicated Many of these measures would undoubtedly prove beneficial to the country, while at the same time the democrats as men might be neither particularly better nor particularly worse than the republicans. But in measures rather than men is the change likely to be most markedly revolutionary. A change is often beneficial in many respects, and there are a good many evidences that the country is getting pretty well disgusted with and tired of republican rule. Utah has little cause to be in love with it.

Item will stand four democrats to the came and all the mills and saloons were closed. No returns have been recording affiny took place to the republican at Pioches, Nevada, in which Jas. King was instantly killed; James Gleason, his antagonist, was everely wounded.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., 3.—The vote was light. The State has gone democrate by 25,000 to 30,000 majority. All the congressional delegation except the first and second districts, which are doubtful, and both houses of the legislature are largely democratic.

IN a speech at New York, recent-dinary circumstances. Nearly ten years have elapsed since the havoc and wasting effects and expenditures of the war ceased. We have had bountiful harvests, we have had developments of the resources of our mines and forests, we have had all the elements of prosperity, and yet we are not a prosperty, and yet we are not a prosperous nor a prospering people to day. All the industries of the country are para-lyzed. The business of your merch-ants is stagnant. Your factories are no wages for themselves and families. (Applause.)

"Fellow citizens, it is for you to say who has caused this state of things—for you to find out what has caused all this evil, and it is your duty when you have discovered it to apply the proper remedy. I believe that the administration of our executive affairs for a few years past has largely contributed to the sad and lamentable condition of our country. (Cheers.) The deranged, depreciated and unelection in Nevada are said to indicate the re-election of Bradley, dem., for Governor, and the election of the Shanre, repub., ticket.
