Shook of Earthquake.
SAN FRANCISCO, 1.—A dispatch from Eureka, Nevada, reports a heavy shock of earthquake this evening, with some damage to buildings, but no one injured.

FOREIGN.

GREAT BRITAIN.

London, 1.—The steamship Victoria, from New York for Glasgow, is aground at Garvel Point.

Jovellar's Case.

A Madrid dispatch says that among the specifications in Concha's charges against Jovellar, is one that when Concha was Captain General of Cuba he had occasion to send General Riguera home for insubordination, inasmuch as the latter returned to Spain, Jovellar, who had become minister of war, approved his conduct and subsequently promoted him. The Government finds it difficult to defend Jovellar from these accusations. An old Spanish law prohibits the appointment of ex-governors of a colony to any public post until a formal inquiry has been had into their past administration, and it is understood that in Jovellar's case no such inquiry has been placed since his return from Cuba, and this circumstance may be used as a pretext for requiring his withdrawal from the ministry.

CANADA.

Damage by Water.

Collingwood, Ont., 1.—The eastern and western parts of the city are flooded, and the post office and railway are inaccessible. The railway is washed away in several places north and south, and trains can not come within half a mile of the station. The damage to property is already very great.

BRAZIL.

Situation Critical.

Rio Janeiro, 1.—A dispatch from Montevideo, announces that the Uruguayan chamber has passed a decree suspending the payment of interest on the public debt, and providing for the redemption of the debt by the issue of new paper at a forced price. It is added that the foreign representatives have protested against the decree, and the situation is critical.

Our Country Contemporaries.

Ogden Junction, Mar. 31.—

Mr. Syla Collett came in yesterday from Bear Lake with a sample of the coal discovered in that beautiful country. We tried it, and found it of most excellent quality. It is a coaling coal and full of gas. Mr. Collett went to Salt Lake last evening to submit his sample to the examination and test of Col. Ellerbe, Superintendent of the Gas Works.

"Sheriff Hinton says that five days before he went up the timber after Williamson, he learned that four of the escaped prisoners had been seen at Castle Rock, and being two of them he did not know, he at once wrote to the Marshal at Salt Lake City for a description of the other two, and had waited expecting to get an answer, but none came. Since Williamson was captured Mr. H. has discovered that one of them was in the cabin with him at the time of his capture, but having no description of him, Mr. Hinton did not identify him as one of the escaped prisoners, of course did not arrest him. It shows gross neglect on the part of the Marshal not sending the description. Had he done so his prisoner would have been in custody now."

Conversation.

Among home amusements, the best is the good old habit of conversation, the talking over the events of the day, in bright and quick play of wit and fancy, the story which brings the laugh and the speaking the good and kind and true things which all have in their hearts. It is not so much by dwelling upon what members of the family have in common, as bringing each to the other something interesting and amusing, that home life is to be made cheerful and joyous. Each one must do his part to make conversation genial and happy. We are too ready to converse with newspapers and books, to seek some companion at the store, hotel or club-room, and to forget that home is anything more than a place to sleep and eat in. The revival of conversation, the interchange of one another, as a roomful of people will entertain themselves, is one of the best of all things. Whenever it is wanting, disease has taken the root of the tree; there is a want which is felt with increasing force as time goes on. Conversation in many cases is just what prevents many people from slipping into utter selfishness at their firesides. This conversation should not simply occupy husband and wife, and other older members of the family, but extend itself to the children. Parents should be careful to talk with them; to enter into their life; to share their joys, to assist in their studies, to meet them in the thoughts and feelings of their childhood. It is a great step in education when around the breakfast lamp are gathered the different members of a large family, sharing their occupations with one another, the older assisting the younger, each one contributing to the enlightenment of the other, and all feeling that the evening has passed only too rapidly away. This is the truest and the best education. It is the health education of great and noble characters. There is the freedom, the breadth, the joyousness of a life that is lived. The time spent thus by parents in the higher entertainment of their children, bears a harvest of eternal blessings.—Churchman.
