

HONORS TO THE AGED.

4 Draper Society Entertains the Old Folks and the Poor.

After Deseret News:

The people of the little town of Draper witnessed a scene last Saturday which has never had a precedent in its short history. The society known as the "Loyal Sons and Daughters of Utah," recently organized this year and the aged, The Hall was beauti- fully decorated with evergreens and the walls were hung with "Honor the aged," and "The loyal sons and daughters of Utah." Two large bags were set around which were placed about forty green, consisting of all the pace of the yard and at the twenty years old. These bags were brought to the Hall in single file, each bearing a name and accompanied by a son or daughter. They sat down for the slugs were heavy, and the chairs were not enough to seat them. After the singing of hymns and a short service, the bags were passed around and the contents were distributed among the aged.

In response to the call of the all-time president, C. H. Stevens and Mrs. Hobart, came with great by each of the widowed veterans.

After partaking of the refreshments prepared by the young people, the program was made up of speeches from the Bishop, Henry Day, John Roberts and others, reading upon the subject of the elderly, with appropriate music and recitations. At the close of the meal the honor guests were taken home by the "young men."

It was indeed a beautiful sight to see these young lads and maidens taking in the arms of their aged fathers and mothers, showing them respect and reverence which is often faded but not lost, residual.

This society was created for the promotion of benevolence, the propagation of science, literature and profane knowledge. In their meetings they have turned upon morality, religion, history, civil government, etc. A great interest is being manifested by the young and old, whom a social life and a glowing expense.
