

DESERET EVENING NEWS

PUBLISHED EVERY EVENING.
(Sunday Excepted).
Corner of South Temple and East Temple
Streets, Salt Lake City, Utah.

Horace G. Whitney - Business Manager.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICES.
(In Advance):
One Year $2.00
Six Months 1.25
Three Months75
One Month25
Saturday Edition, per year 2.00
Semi-Weekly, per year 2.00

Correspondence and other reading matter for publication should be addressed to the EDITOR.
Address all business communication and all remittances:
THE DESERET NEWS,
Salt Lake City, Utah.

Entered at the Postoffice of Salt Lake City, as second class matter according to Act of Congress, March 3, 1879.

SALT LAKE CITY, - MAY 28, 1908.

A DISGRACEFUL "APPEAL"

We published on Wednesday an "appeal" to the women of Illinois, issued in behalf of the so-called Woman's American Club, of this city. The people of Utah should know something of the activity unfolded abroad by anti-Church organizations in Utah. The "appeal" is a sample of the malicious slanders that are sent broadcast constantly, to the material injury of the State. It is in line with the representations made in the East, and elsewhere, that the "Mormons" and "Mormon" children "betray in their features all the lower animal instincts." It is on a par with the "octopus" map, and the pictures of homes and school houses in Utah, that some fakery are displaying, to excite sympathy and attract contributions.

This particular "appeal" is intended as a political weapon against Senator Hopkins, of Illinois. It is a fair conclusion, therefore, that it is instigated, either by political opponents of the Senator, who hope to defeat him by the interjection into the campaign of the state an entirely irrelevant issue which is, nevertheless, depended upon to excite prejudices against him in certain circles; or, that it is part of an anti-"Mormon" plot to wreak vengeance upon the Senators who refused to do the bidding of a would-be autocrat and dictator of the State of Utah whose decrees had gone forth for the expulsion of Senator Smoot from the Senate. The latter is an entirely probable supposition.

Anti-"Mormonism," as manifested in later years, is but disappointed political ambition in action. It is a deformed offspring of the monster-hatred. It plotted the expulsion of Senator Smoot from the Senate as a preliminary to the closing of every public office to, and finally, the complete disfranchisement of every member of the Church. The conspirators counted on deceiving a majority of the members of the Senate by pretended "testimony"; they counted on an easy victory, relying on prejudices and "appeals" to the passions; but they found men in the United States Senate who were true to the oath they had taken, and who refused to violate the Constitution, as they were urged to do, for the furtherance of the interests of ambition. Senator Hopkins was one of these men, who are an honor to the states they represent. It is probable, we say, that the treacherous crowd which urged the United States Senate to override the Constitution and vote in accordance with an alleged "higher law," is now at work seeking revenge upon the Senators who performed their duty before their God, as they were given to see it; because the same crowd has done everything in its power to revenge itself upon the Church for the only reason that the leaders of the Church, true to the general understanding, have refused to interfere in politics in their behalf. It is entirely probable that they hope to intimidate other public men and drive them into the ranks of anti-"Mormonism," by fear of being pursued forever afterwards, if they follow the dictates of their consciences.

But, whatever prompted the "appeal," it is, unfortunately for those responsible for it, nothing but rank slander. The document pretends to be issued in behalf of the "Woman's American Club, and the Gentle women of Utah generally." We believe there are women belonging to that club who never did endorse the falsehoods it contains, and we know that there are many women in the State, outside the Church, who are heartily ashamed of the campaign of slander that is being waged in their name and in their behalf. It states that Senator Hopkins acted the part of both judge and attorney in the case against Senator Smoot, and that in his argument he went outside the record of the testimony. The contrary is true. Senator Hopkins argued from the testimony. It was Senator Burrows who played the double role of judge and attorney, if any did.

The "appeal" alleges that at the time of the investigation "there was not one high officer of the Church—that is from bishops, presidents of stakes, seventies, patriarchs, counselors, up to the first presidency—not one, except, perhaps, Senator Smoot, who was not a polygamist," and that Senator Hopkins knew this was the fact. Everyone who is acquainted with Utah conditions knows that this is a falsehood and nothing else.

What Senator Hopkins, and the other senators who studied the evidence carefully, knew, may be best stated in the language of the Illinois Senator himself. He said in his able address before the Senate:

"Mr. President, I want senators and I want the people of the country to understand that since 1830 there has been an honest effort on the part of the Mormon people to live up to the laws of the land and live up to that manifesto issued by the head of the Church."

"Now, Mr. President, to come back to my proposition, Mark you, this manifesto was promulgated in 1830, sixteen, or seventeen years ago. How many plural marriages have there been since that time? We have heard as I have said, four volumes of testimony. They have taken the entire Mormon Church from Mexico to Canada, and throughout the mountain states of this country, in every case that they could find, whether the evidence warranted it or not. I have gone through the testimony, and I find that during the sixteen or seventeen years since the manifesto, only twenty-seven plural marriages have been made."

"The evidence does not warrant the conclusion that there have been even twenty of these marriages. I base my statement as to the number upon the contention of the protestants themselves, but when you come to sift the evidence it absolutely fails, and if the law that governs testimony in actions dealing with property and lives in the courts of our country were to be in force, they could not show five cases of this kind."

"That is what they knew. They also knew that the number of families in the plural marriage relation in the Church had decreased, since the Manifesto, from 2,451 to about 500, and that the overwhelming sentiment in Utah and the surrounding states favored the total elimination of that institution 'by time rather than by the adoption of drastic measures.' And they voted in accordance with these facts."

"The 'appeal,' further, asks the women of Illinois to help defeat this man," on the ridiculous plea that if Senator Hopkins is re-elected to the Senate, the Apostles of the Church will sit in both houses of Congress, and the President of the Church will occupy the White House! Did idiocy ever make itself more conspicuous in the service of bigotry and hatred? "Even now," that appeal says, "Mormon missionaries in the state of Illinois are quietly, insidiously working for the re-election of Senator Hopkins." How? What missionary in Illinois, or anywhere else, is engaged in politics? Let the authors of the "appeal" kindly furnish proof of that statement, or stand condemned before the bar of public opinion?

The "appeal," of course reiterates the falsehood that the Church is a political organization, and it characterizes the members as traitors to the government. We hurl that accusation back. The Church members have proved their loyalty to the United States these many years, under the assaults of mobs and the persecution of demagogues. They have proved their love of American institutions in every possible way, even in the desert and on the verge of death. The traitors are the calumniators of the Latter-day Saints. They have violated every principle of American government, to further their plans; they have not hesitated at assassination. They have even appealed to the United States Senate asking that body to tear the Constitution to shreds, so as to leave them free to trample an inflicting community under their feet. They are the traitors. The Saints have always defended the government against the attacks made upon it by agitators and mobs. Love for the Constitution is deeply imbedded in the hearts of the Latter-day Saints. It is part of their belief that they are called by Providence to uphold it when assailed.

"Plagues"—a little over one a year in a population of 300,000. Take the same population in almost any part of the country and there would be nearly the same number of bigamous marriages.

"The evidence does not warrant the conclusion that there have been even twenty of these marriages. I base my statement as to the number upon the contention of the protestants themselves, but when you come to sift the evidence it absolutely fails, and if the law that governs testimony in actions dealing with property and lives in the courts of our country were to be in force, they could not show five cases of this kind."

"That is what they knew. They also knew that the number of families in the plural marriage relation in the Church had decreased, since the Manifesto, from 2,451 to about 500, and that the overwhelming sentiment in Utah and the surrounding states favored the total elimination of that institution 'by time rather than by the adoption of drastic measures.' And they voted in accordance with these facts."

"The 'appeal,' further, asks the women of Illinois to help defeat this man," on the ridiculous plea that if Senator Hopkins is re-elected to the Senate, the Apostles of the Church will sit in both houses of Congress, and the President of the Church will occupy the White House! Did idiocy ever make itself more conspicuous in the service of bigotry and hatred? "Even now," that appeal says, "Mormon missionaries in the state of Illinois are quietly, insidiously working for the re-election of Senator Hopkins." How? What missionary in Illinois, or anywhere else, is engaged in politics? Let the authors of the "appeal" kindly furnish proof of that statement, or stand condemned before the bar of public opinion?

The "appeal," of course reiterates the falsehood that the Church is a political organization, and it characterizes the members as traitors to the government. We hurl that accusation back. The Church members have proved their loyalty to the United States these many years, under the assaults of mobs and the persecution of demagogues. They have proved their love of American institutions in every possible way, even in the desert and on the verge of death. The traitors are the calumniators of the Latter-day Saints. They have violated every principle of American government, to further their plans; they have not hesitated at assassination. They have even appealed to the United States Senate asking that body to tear the Constitution to shreds, so as to leave them free to trample an inflicting community under their feet. They are the traitors. The Saints have always defended the government against the attacks made upon it by agitators and mobs. Love for the Constitution is deeply imbedded in the hearts of the Latter-day Saints. It is part of their belief that they are called by Providence to uphold it when assailed.

The climax of the "appeal" is reached when it sanctions the murder of the Prophet Joseph and the Patriarch, his brother. It says that "before polygamy was an acknowledged tenet of the Mormon Church, there was something in the system which your fathers in Illinois could not tolerate; rather, they killed the pretended prophet; and then it says, mark you:

"Senator Hopkins did what he could to cast obprobrium upon their acts."

If words mean anything, this sentence means that those responsible for the appeal—and we do not believe it is written by a woman at all—are in favor of assassination as a potent agency of anti-"Mormonism." At least, they urge the Illinois women to punish a distinguished Senator for casting obprobrium upon the acts of those who "killed the pretended prophet" and "drove the remnant of the band out naked into the wilderness."

In this awful climax anti-"Mormonism" has laid itself bare to the world. It still endorses murder and expulsion. But that is no great wonder, considering its origin.

We have given more attention to this "appeal" than we at first intended to do, but we may say, in closing that the trouble in Utah was explained by Senator Sutherland in his address before the Senate on Jan. 22, 1907. In answer to a question by Senator Dubois, he said:

"When the ex-Senator, my predecessor—and I should not have spoken of this but for the question of the Senator from Idaho—when that ex-Senator desired to come back to the Senate, according to the statements which are made in Utah, and which I have no reason to doubt, he went to the present head of the Church and sought his aid, and that president told him that he was not in politics, that the church was not in politics, and that neither of them would be dragged into politics by him."

That is the secret of the unquenchable hatred that burns like flames from the bottomless pit in the hearts of present-day anti-Church demagogues. Whether that is a sufficient excuse for this internal strife and bad feelings between neighbors for which they are responsible, we leave to the sound judgment of the general public.

DISEASE IN MILK.

No other food seems to be able to carry so many disease germs as milk. Recent investigations in the public health and marine hospital have traced 85 of the 886 cases of typhoid fever treated there to the use of infected milk.

Of the ninety-nine epidemics of scarlet fever the disease prevailed in sixty-eight instances at the dairy or milk farm. In six instances persons connected with the dairy either lodged in or had visited infected houses. In two instances the infection was conveyed by means of infected bottles or milk cans left in scarlet fever houses. In seven instances the infection was conveyed by persons connected with the milk business while suffering or recovering from the disease, and in at least ten instances by persons who acted as nurses while handling the milk. In three instances the milk had been stored in or close to the sick room. In one instance the cans had been wiped with an infected cloth.

Of the thirty-six outbreaks of diphtheria there was evidence that the disease prevailed at the dairy or farm in thirteen instances. In three instances the employees continued to handle the milk while suffering themselves from the disease.

Animals that wade in filth or in polluted water may get the germs attached to their bodies. Infection may be communicated through the use of unclean scrubbing brushes and dishcloths. Flies carry the germs on their feet. But even infected air will contaminate milk.

The utmost cleanliness seems to be the only safe preventive. Official inspection usually makes people much more careful.

LEMUEL U. COLBATH.

In the death of Lemuel U. Colbath last Tuesday, one of the conspicuous figures in the western mining world was removed from this sphere of earthly activity. He was one of Utah's old citizens, honored and respected by his many friends. It is doubtful if throughout his long career anyone ever said an unkind word about him. He was richly endowed with those qualities which go to make up a good citizen. He was intensely devoted to his family and always charitable to those worthy of his address.

"Lem" Colbath, as he was frequently called, was a native of New York. He migrated westward when but a mere youth having been attracted by the alluring stories of gold discoveries in California; when the mines of the Comstock lode began to astonish the world with their richness, he went there, and while the Goddess of Fortune was not as generous to him as to some others in those stirring times, yet he fared very well.

Mr. Colbath landed in Salt Lake City in 1872 and, becoming associated with Robert C. Chambers helped him develop and assisted in the conduct of the Ontario mine at Park City, which bears the distinction of having been one of the great silver producers of the world and which to this day is regarded as being a mine of immense value. He continued in the service of the Ontario as long as Mr. Chambers was alive and had something to do with its affairs until the control passed to the Bambergers a few years ago. He was thoroughly familiar with mining affairs in the intermountain states and notwithstanding the infirmities which age had brought upon him, remained active in his chosen work almost to the hour when the summons came.

Mr. Colbath's wife, whom he married in this city thirty-four years ago, died in the early nineties, but he is survived by three sons and two daughters to whom the sympathy of this community goes out in this hour of their bereavement. The funeral, which takes place Friday afternoon, will be in charge of Argenta Lodge No. 3 of Masons, of which the deceased was a member.

The Florida is a 1,518,178 dollar mark.

The woods are full of them—sweet girl graduates.

Hell hath no fury like a woman scorned in politics.

Has Senator Hopkins felt the earth tremble under him?

Murderer Hay of Montana will die but not of hay fever.

"No currency legislation, no pork," says Representative Bartholdt.

Straw hats are metamorphosing. They are becoming a drug on the market.

Bill Bryan and Bill Taft both favor the publicity bill. Hurrah for the bill!

Since the court has decided that Thaw is still insane he is suffering from melancholia.

Can the weather man truly say, "With malice towards none, with charity for all?"

A poor man can have a good reputation and a good man very often has a poor reputation. Strange!

There is never any trouble over transfers in Wyoming. There are no street car lines in the state.

When Lazarus sought the crumbs from the rich man's table, was he a scavenger of plutocracy?

It would be of advantage to the country if there were a larger use of domestic and public economy.

Great as he is (in his own opinion) Julius Caesar of Michigan will never be so great as Julius Caesar of Rome.

What has become of that pedestrian, who was going to walk from Portland, Me., to Chicago and beat Weston's record?

Carrie Nation says that she would rather go to jail than to h—, Carrie's judgment in this case is perfectly sound.

King Edward threatens to banish prize fighting from his kingdom. Tommy Burns proved there were no fighters in it.

American lobsters are being shipped to Europe as an experiment. May it prove successful so that all the "lobsters" can be sent over.

"Probably Japan is coddling her brains to find some way to make the Chinese buy her goods," says an exchange. And if they still refuse to buy she may coddle their brains.

Mrs. Hetty Green is giving dinner parties at the Plaza hotel and dining off gold plates. What better evidence will her relatives want to break her will if she does not remember them as they think proper?

"I cannot condone murder, but neither can I bring myself to condemn those who killed Prophet Smith," says Elizabeth Cohen, president of the Women's "American" club, in the organ of the "American" party. Is it not to condone murder not to condemn murder?

PLAN TO DISCOURAGE SPEEDING

Cleveland Plain Dealer. The head of the Pittsburgh police department, trying of his ineffectual efforts to stop automobile speeding, announces that hereafter he will confiscate the machines of autoists found guilty of too rapid transit and will keep them thirty, sixty or ninety days, regulating the period by the seriousness of the offenders' offenses. This he figures will strike terror to the hearts of the speed maniacs, to whom the assessment of the ordinary police court fine means nothing. If the owner of a machine must go without his handy vehicle a month or two to pay for his indiscretion in defying the city ordinances and endangering lives, he will have an opportunity for serious thought and perhaps come to the conclusion that obedience to law is the better part of valor.

ORIGIN OF POMMES SOUFFLEE.

London Globe. With reference to the fiftieth anniversary of the first railway in France a French contemporary points out that it was in connection with this event that the virtues of pommies soufflee were discovered. A French chef was traveling on the new line from Paris to St. Germain, and was preparing in the train the banquet which was to celebrate the opening. Just before arriving at St. Germain he threw some potatoes in the boiling butter. The train, however, was delayed, and the potatoes had to be taken out again. When the train reached St. Germain the potatoes, again put in the boiling butter, and to every one's delight were found, on being taken out, to be deliciously light and inflated. The beauty of the pommies soufflee had been revealed.

CHAOTIC AUTOMOBILE LAWS.

Harper's Weekly. Under the present laws an owner of a motor vehicle living in New York who desires to journey to Washington must not only register his machine in the state of his residence, but he must register and procure a license to operate in three states through which it is necessary to pass: New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Maryland. This was exactly the experience of the small army of motorists who participated in the Glidden cup tour of the American Automobile association last year. In the run of 1,600 miles from Cleveland to New York seven states were traversed. Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Maryland, New Jersey and New York. Three of these states—New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Maryland—extended no invitation to motorists to enjoy the hospitality within their borders without first paying for the privilege. The other states exact no tribute, provided the owner has complied with the motor law of his own state. In addition, therefore, to the fees paid in his home state, extra registration fees of $9 had to be paid by the Gliddeners in the three states mentioned, the fee being $3 in each case. But in New Jersey, if the car was rated over $3,000, power of attorney cost $5 instead of $3, making the total extra registration bill $11, with an additional dollar or two for the driver's license.

JUST FOR FUN.

Obsolete Furniture. Small is the flat. One scarce can turn that.

That we now begin. That we could move the radiator out. And put an ice chest in.

—Washington Star.

A Poetic Face.

Bess—He said my face was a perfect poem. Jess—It is like one of Browning's. Bess—What do you mean? Jess—Some of the lines are so deep. —Cleveland Leader.

The Difference.

During his curate days, Dr. Davidson, Archbishop of Canterbury, once took charge of a Sunday school class. The subject of the day's lesson was Solomon, and after the lesson he proceeded to catechize the children. "Tell me, boys," he said, "what was the difference between Solomon and other men?" No answer. "Come, come!" said the future Archbishop, "was there any difference, for instance, between King Solomon and myself?" A tiny hand went up and a tiny voice replied, "Yes, sir, Solomon was wise!" —Bellman.

In the Law Court.

Vest urged that no man should be convicted on circumstantial evidence alone. "Why," he said, "when I was a boy I knew another lad who, while his parents were absent, went into the pantry and nearly devoured a custard pie. Then, fearing the consequences, he looked about for means of hiding the traces of his guilt. 'He seized the cat, smeared her face and paws with the custard, and then took the innocent animal into the back yard, and shot her.' As he did so, the boy observed to me: 'There goes one more victim of circumstantial evidence!'"

Retired Huntsman (who has taken to fishing)—I'll have to chuck it, Sam. I think they're all 'tother side side, where I can't reach 'em.

New Huntsman (passing with hounds)—Hould on a bit, I'd slip over the bridge, and turn 'em to you!—Punch.

Gogol Her Teacher. When Tolstoy was recuperating in the Crimea a party of rich Americans arrived in a yacht, and asked permission to see the great Russian. Tolstoy sat upon his balcony like a Bugghy idol, and the Americans filed silently and slowly before him. They had promised not to speak a word, a glimpse as all they wanted. One, however, refused to be bound by the contract. "Leo Tolstoy," she exclaimed, "all your writings have had a profound influence on my life, but the one which has taught me the most is yours!" Here she awkwardly forgot the name of the work. The sick author leaned over the rail of the balcony and whispered with a smile, "The Dead Souls?" "Yes, yes," she replied. "That book," said Tolstoy, "was written by Borkol, not by me!"—Bellman.

RECENT PUBLICATIONS.

"Tropical and Sub-Tropical America," is a new monthly illustrated magazine, dealing with all phases of America and sub-tropical life in America. It will hereafter be under the editorial direction of Mr. Marjion Wilcox, the eminent traveler and historian. Mr. G. M. L. Brown, the founder of the magazine, takes the position of Managing Editor. The leading article in the May issue is an interesting description of the palms of America, beautifully illustrated by photographic reproductions. The Northern Farmer in Cuba, also beautifully illustrated, tells just what Americans want to know of actual conditions in that island, as they affect the northern emigrant. Harriet Chalmers Adams, the California writer and lecturer, who has spent the last three or four years traveling in the most remote parts of Latin America, gives a graphic account of her trip over the Cordillera to the unknown Montana, region of Peru—22 East 22nd St., New York.

The Popular Magazine for June opens with a complete novel, "My Lord of the Pillars," by Francis Lynde, author of "The Taming of Red Butte Western." The main interest lies in the efforts of the hero to prevent the despoliation of forest reserves. "Red Butte" is a half-played by W. B. M. Ferguson, is the account of the supposed formation of the greatest baseball team the world has ever known. In "Blood North of Violets," Charles Prescott Fuller tells of a man who came to New York with plenty of money and nothing to do. Ralph D. Paine's serial, "The Wild Man of Jersey," gets more exciting as it proceeds. "No Margin," by Harold C. Burr, is the inside story of a little Wall Street game. These are only a few of the features of this number.—73-89 Seventh Ave., New York.

A remarkable series of articles begins in the current issue of Harper's Weekly. In it will be told the story of the war that has been and is being waged in San Francisco between the grafters and the forces of the prosecution which have been arrayed against them. The articles are by William Inglis, whose reputation for impartial and accurate observation gives a tone of authority to all that he writes. The story of this remarkable conflict is revealed by Mr. Inglis for the first time in its entirety and in all its bearings, and it should be read by all those who may well have been misled by partisan accounts of it. It has the dramatic vividness and picturesqueness of incident that belong to fiction, yet not a word is overdrawn or colored by fancy. —Harper & Bros., New York.

Z.C.M.I. Remnant Sale

Many short lengths of all classes
Of goods at HALF PRICE!

Seasonable and appropriate fabrics, consisting of White Goods, Persian Lawns, Swisses, Waistings, Sheetings, Bleached Muslin and many other White and Colored Goods; Gingham, Seersuckers, Lawns, Voiles, Silkolines, Batistes, Mulls, Madras, Bed Tucking, Outing Flannel, Cotton Plaid Dress Goods, Wool Dress Goods, and a great variety of fabrics too numerous to mention, for you to select from, at HALF PRICE!

All Bates' and Amoskeag Seersuckers, Red Seal and A. F. C. Gingham, 12¹/₂c at a yard. All Classic Gingham are now selling at a yard 10c.

DIABOLO The Great Out-door Game—the most fascinating and exhilarating open-air game obtainable. FROM 50c UP.

OUR DRUG STORE IS AT 112-114 SOUTH MAIN STREET.

proceeds, "No Margin," by Harold C. Burr, is the inside story of a little Wall Street game. These are only a few of the features of this number.—73-89 Seventh Ave., New York.

A remarkable series of articles begins in the current issue of Harper's Weekly. In it will be told the story of the war that has been and is being waged in San Francisco between the grafters and the forces of the prosecution which have been arrayed against them. The articles are by William Inglis, whose reputation for impartial and accurate observation gives a tone of authority to all that he writes. The story of this remarkable conflict is revealed by Mr. Inglis for the first time in its entirety and in all its bearings, and it should be read by all those who may well have been misled by partisan accounts of it. It has the dramatic vividness and picturesqueness of incident that belong to fiction, yet not a word is overdrawn or colored by fancy. —Harper & Bros., New York.

Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup is best for women and children. Its mild action and pleasant taste makes it preferable to violent purgatives, such as pills, tablets, etc. Get the booklet and a sample of Orino at F. J. Hill Drug Co., "The Never Substituted."

SALT THEATRE GEORGE PYPER, MANAGER. LAKE CURTAIN 615.

TONIGHT, Friday and Saturday. SATURDAY MATINEE. Charles Frohman Presents.

William Collier

In the Farce Comedy in Three Acts, CAUGHT IN THE RAIN!!

By William Collier and Grant Stewart. Prices—25c to $2.00. Matinee, 25c to $1.50. Box seats, $1.00. Sale today.

Orpheum THEATRE

ADVANCED VAUDEVILLE. ALL THIS WEEK!!

ZENO, JORDAN & ZENO. Bert LeViz. Cunningham, Raymond & Co. Devlin & Ellwood. John & Mae Burke. Cogan & Bancroft. Klonodrome. Every Evening (except Sunday), 8:15. 2c, 5c, 10c, 15c, 20c, 25c, 30c, 35c, 40c, 45c, 50c, 55c, 60c, 65c, 70c, 75c, 80c, 85c, 90c, 95c, 1.00. Matinee daily (except Sunday and Monday), 2:15. 5c, 10c, 15c, 20c, 25c, 30c, 35c, 40c, 45c, 50c, 55c, 60c, 65c, 70c, 75c, 80c, 85c, 90c, 95c, 1.00. Box seats, 5.00.

GRAND THEATRE!

TONIGHT—SATURDAY MATINEE. THE EARL BURNESS CO. Presenting the Melodramatic Sensation, CHINATOWN CHARLIE!

Popular prices. "NELLIE, THE BEAUTIFUL CLOAK MODEL."

The Gans-Herman TONOPAH FIGHT

Eight Rounds and a KNOCKOUT at the ELITE THEATRE.

READ THE Theatre Magazine

For Theatrical News And Stage Pictures.

BABCOCK ELECTRICS

Directly represented by the Factory, Babcock Electric Carriage Co.,

In connection with Tom Rottell Auto Co., 62-64 W. 3rd St.

The Popular Magazine for June opens with a complete novel, "My Lord of the Pillars," by Francis Lynde, author of "The Taming of Red Butte Western." The main interest lies in the efforts of the hero to prevent the despoliation of forest reserves. "Red Butte" is a half-played by W. B. M. Ferguson, is the account of the supposed formation of the greatest baseball team the world has ever known. In "Blood North of Violets," Charles Prescott Fuller tells of a man who came to New York with plenty of money and nothing to do. Ralph D. Paine's serial, "The Wild Man of Jersey," gets more exciting as it proceeds. "No Margin," by Harold C. Burr, is the inside story of a little Wall Street game. These are only a few of the features of this number.—73-89 Seventh Ave., New York.

A remarkable series of articles begins in the current issue of Harper's Weekly. In it will be told the story of the war that has been and is being waged in San Francisco between the grafters and the forces of the prosecution which have been arrayed against them. The articles are by William Inglis, whose reputation for impartial and accurate observation gives a tone of authority to all that he writes. The story of this remarkable conflict is revealed by Mr. Inglis for the first time in its entirety and in all its bearings, and it should be read by all those who may well have been misled by partisan accounts of it. It has the dramatic vividness and picturesqueness of incident that belong to fiction, yet not a word is overdrawn or colored by fancy. —Harper & Bros., New York.

Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup is best for women and children. Its mild action and pleasant taste makes it preferable to violent purgatives, such as pills, tablets, etc. Get the booklet and a sample of Orino at F. J. Hill Drug Co., "The Never Substituted."

SALT THEATRE GEORGE PYPER, MANAGER. LAKE CURTAIN 615.

TONIGHT, Friday and Saturday. SATURDAY MATINEE. Charles Frohman Presents.

William Collier

In the Farce Comedy in Three Acts, CAUGHT IN THE RAIN!!

CUTLER'S 36 MAIN ST.

$16³⁵ Suit Special

The dressiest combination for summer wear is a Blue Serge Coat and Vest with Light Trousers.

A suit of this kind is appropriate for most any occasion and is always "correct." This week we sell

A BLUE SERGE SUIT, with your choice of any extra pair of Trousers, for $16.35

These suits are made from the finest serge and the extra trousers are the newest patterns and styles. Two pairs of trousers and a coat and vest for $16.35

SALE IS NOW ON.