

RESTORED GOSPEL W. H. KING'S THEME

Interesting Discourse the Feature of Sunday Services at The Big Tabernacle.

BACK TO FIRST PRINCIPLES

Return to Original Plan, Argues the Speaker, Necessary if God's Plans Not in Vain.

"The Restored Gospel" was the theme of an interesting discourse by Elder William H. King at the tabernacle yesterday afternoon. The subject was suggested by a sentiment expressed in the opening prayer, a sense of gratitude for a return to earth of the principle plan of salvation. There were many tourists and other visitors in the congregation, and the speaker gave a clear and concise epitome of the principles of belief of the Latter-day Saints, especially as regarding the re-establishment of communication between the heavens and earth.

The musical exercises consisted of the following hymns and anthems: "Great God Indulge my humble claim," "Lord Thou wilt hear me when I pray," and "Lift up the voice in singing." The invocation was offered by Elder George R. Emery and Elder Joseph S. Wells pronounced the benediction. The services were presided over by President John R. Winder.

ELDER WILLIAM H. KING.

A brief synopsis of Elder King's remarks follows:

In the minds of many persons Mormonism is worthy the dignity of being called a creed or a religion. Why men who profess a love for the principles taught by the Savior of the world should take offense at the declaration that the gospel had been restored to earth is beyond understanding. To all who are conversant with the history of the world since the Son of Man lived and died it must be plain that His gospel did not remain among men throughout the years. None of the philosophies of men following in its wake were equal to it and it was but natural to believe that a return to former principles would be necessary.

God's plans were not in vain. There is something above and beyond anything brought forth from the mind of men. Material truths would plunge the world in darkness, but for the truths of the gospel of Jesus Christ. The progress of the world is measured by the amount of gospel truths possessed by men.

To speak of a restored gospel implies that times have been when the gospel was absent from the earth. The view of the Mormon people that a restoration in modern times has been made, an offense to many of their Christian friends. The mission of the Latter-day Saint is to preach the Gospel of salvation, and to proclaim that communication between heaven and earth is once more a reality.

Any one to believe that there is nothing to come of the second coming of the Son of God, and the establishment of the kingdom of heaven, was Christ really the Son of the eternal Father, and did He break the bonds of death and bring about the resurrection of the dead? The Latter-day Saints believe these propositions to be verily true. They proclaim a living and genuine faith in Christ.

PREVALENT CONCEPTION.

A wrong conception of the nature and attributes of God, and a growing idea that Christ was only a man, are altogether too prevalent in the world to much of the form of godliness, with denial of the power thereof. There is a lack of reverence and love for God the Father and His Son Jesus Christ. If men have true faith, they manifest it in their lives. It was necessary that the gospel be restored, in order that faith, true faith, again be found among men. There is oneness in God's law and unity in all that He does. There must be a plan of salvation alike for all God's children, bringing all who obey it into a bond of God and love.

A knowledge of God and His purposes is necessary to the exercise of faith. A belief in a vengeful and angry God is impossible. To worship a cruel and angry God is a foolish and faith-promoting. A knowledge of the true character of God has been revealed anew in this age of the world. God revealed Himself to the Prophet Joseph Smith, and the gospel of His Son is again proclaimed to the nations, the first principles of which are faith, repentance from sin, baptism for the remission of sins, and the laying on of hands for the bestowment of the Holy Ghost. These are doctrines that must be obeyed by all who would be properly inducted into the Church of Christ. Men may differ, honestly, on trivial matters, but the cardinal principles of the gospel must be believed and obeyed by all alike.

Men speak of a "hierarchy" in the Church, forgetting that it is the work of God there must be some power and authority ordained of heaven. Many churches of the day have great and good men, devoted to the cause, in which they are engaged, but these have not the authority bestowed from on high as did the primitive Church of Christ. The lack of such authority made necessary the restoration of the gospel, with the priesthood of the Son of Man.

HAPPY HOUR CLUB ON PLEASURE BENT.

The above picture represents the members of the Happy Hour club and their guests as they stepped out of the drag Utah, on the occasion of their outing last Wednesday, held in celebration of the fifteenth anniversary of the club's organization. This club is devoted chiefly to social purposes, but during the meetings needlework and other useful things creep in among the pastimes. A feature of the club and one which stands as worthy of emulation, is the charity work done by the club members. Though in no way posing as a philanthropic organization, the club keeps on hand, through personal contribution, a sum of about $20 a month, which is distributed to worthy charities, so that the meetings stand for something more than the indulgence of personal pleasure.

The club has been in existence 15 years and numbers usually about 15 members. Mrs. P. W. Madsen is the president.

of God as its ruling power, with all the keys, gifts and blessings as they existed of old. Mormonism is not a myth, not a froth that will pass away. It is immutable and will endure throughout eternity. God extends His hands over all humanity, and wills the salvation of all His children.

HIT BY AUTOMOBILE.

U. E. Mowery Knocked Off His Wheel In Unavoidable Accident.

An unavoidable, though by no means serious accident, occurred in front of the postoffice at 8 o'clock Saturday evening when a heavy automobile driven by S. C. Sherrill, of 225 east South Temple street ran into U. E. Mowery, a carpenter of 1137 south Third East street, pushed him from his bicycle and bruised him slightly about the legs.

Mr. Sherrill, two members of his family and a couple of friends were in the automobile and were on their way to the Salt Palace. They were going at a rate of speed not more than four miles an hour when the accident happened. A car was coming along the street about 12 feet from the machine. A buggy, on the wrong side of the street, crossed in front of the automobile. Mr. Sherrill slowed up to avoid contact with the buggy but on the other side of the rig were Mr. Mowery and his 15-year-old daughter. They were riding bicycles. Mr. Sherrill tooted the auto horn and Mowery, for some unaccountable reason, turned his wheel directly in front of the big machine and looked backward over his left shoulder. The machine struck him, pushed him from his wheel and two wheels of the auto passed over him. Several persons witnessed the accident and called to Mr. Sherrill and declared that he was in no way to blame and that the accident was entirely due to the carelessness of the cyclist.

Sermons By Local Ministers.

In the First Methodist church last evening, Rev. F. D. Short preached on "Better than Silver and Gold," in which he said:

"Most people are poor, and this is especially true of those who have left all to go and follow Christ. Material wealth is not in the hands of the most earnest Christians; neither is it a necessity for Christian happiness. Our Lord was as poor as the poorest of men; indeed even poorer, for He had not where to lay His head. Peter, the servant, was not above his Master, for he was also penniless; but he had that which is better than gold. He had the knowledge of the name of Jesus, and something that which he had, 'Silver and gold have I none, but such as I have I give to Thee.'"

"Suffering humanity does not recognize its real needs. The great cry is for gold, or its equivalent. The false idea is abroad that gold is the means by which every need of the human family can be satisfied. Well, it is a necessity to provide for physical comforts; but gold is not the first requisite, neither is it sufficient to satisfy our real needs. The first necessity is that the kingdom of heaven shall be within us. This would eliminate sin, the elimination of which would be both righteous and economical. Abnormal appetites and habits would then cease, and the sin of extravagance would entirely disappear. This would mould the spirit of mankind into a real brotherhood, and the division of gold would be on a Christian basis.

"And to you, my Christian brethren, permit me to say: Go forth in the name of Christ and give to needy humanity the very best that you have. Give your aid and your silver, but do not forget that you must likewise give yourselves."

FIRST BAPTIST.

Rev. D. A. Brown preached in the First Baptist church yesterday on finding and saving lost sheep. In the course of his discourse, the speaker said:

"In response to the questions of the scribes and Pharisees, Jesus answered: 'You ask Me why I eat with sinners. If you had a hundred sheep, 99 of which were safe within the fold, but the hundredth was lost and perhaps dying in the mountains, would you not seek until you found it? Likewise, I say unto you, there is more joy in heaven over one sinner that repenteth than over ninety and nine just persons who need no repentance.'

"So with the church today, the gospel of Jesus Christ within you and within me is the possibility for saving the lost. You and I will be held accountable for the responsibility which has been placed upon us, and this feeling ought to press us on to find the lost sheep. My friends, get this lesson tonight, and from now on leave the ninety and nine sheep that are safe to go in search for that which is lost."

CENTRAL CHRISTIAN.

Rev. Albert Buxton preached in the Central Christian Church yesterday, on foresight as the first essential in the making of life. He said in part:

"The chief failure in life is due to thoughtlessness—more particularly disregard of the claims and needs of the future. Life, like machinery, needs a balance wheel, whose gathering energy shall carry us over the needs and questions of the future."

SELF DELUSION

Many People Deceived by Coffee.

We like to defend our indulgences and habits even though we may be convinced of their actual harmfulness. A man can convince himself that whisky is good for him on a cold morning, or beer on a hot summer day—when he wants the whisky or beer?

It's the same with coffee. Thousands of people suffer headache and nervousness year after year but try to persuade themselves the cause is not coffee—because they like coffee. "While yet a child I commenced using coffee and continued it," writes a Wis. man, "until I was a regular coffee fiend. I drank it every morning and in consequence had a blinding headache nearly every afternoon. 'My folks thought it was coffee that ailed me, but I liked it and would not admit it was the cause of my trouble, so I stuck to coffee and the headaches stuck to me.'"

"Finally, the folks stopped buying coffee and brought home some Postum. They made it right (directions on pkg.) and told me to see what difference it would make with my head, and during that first week with Postum my old affliction did not bother me once. From that day to this we have used nothing but Postum in place of coffee—headaches are a thing of the past and the whole family is in fine health."

"Postum looks good, smells good, tastes good, is good, and does good to the whole body." "There's a reason." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkg.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

debauch; but his prison life seems to have done wonders for him. In his address before the board he told the story of a young man of good education, for he is a Cambridge, Eng., university graduate, with wealthy and influential parents. He had excellent opportunities which were improved, and after his Australian appointment Hamilton became a shining light in the legal world. But there was "a woman in the case"—but since deceased. Then he took to drink, lost his social status, drifted to the United States, and finally landed in Salt Lake. The unfortunate man fought against his appetites, but was unsuccessful, forged checks to raise cash, and landed in the pen. Hamilton repaid the money he had swindled people out of, while in prison, and starts square with the world again. The board pardoned Brigham Lyons, the prison tempter, sent up in 1902 from Mantle, for a statutory offense, Col. N. W. Clayton appearing as Lyons' sponsor. The cases of S. C. Spencer, C. H. Candland, Albert Whitaker, and Harry Waddell, were continued.

FUNERAL OF S. C. BARTLETT.

Funeral services over the remains of Samuel Curry Bartlett will be held at the Third ward meetinghouse Tuesday, commencing at 1 o'clock. The remains may be viewed at the family residence, 632 Third East street, from 10 to 12 o'clock tomorrow. The deceased was 64 years of age and had resided in Salt Lake since 1872. Previous to that time he had been a stage driver and messenger for Wells-Fargo, in Colorado and Montana. Mr. Bartlett died suddenly Saturday afternoon, from heart failure. He was apparently in the best of health up to the moment that he was stricken, when he passed away almost immediately. He is survived by a widow and three children. A son, Rodney W. Bartlett, is a telegraph operator for the Western Union Telegraph company.
