

TELEGRAPHERS IN SESSION TODAY.

Convention Opens in Parlors of Kenyon Hotel.

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY

Shows a Present Membership of 1,070—Election of Officers for ensuing year.

The Old Telegraphers and Historical association, and the society of the U. S. Military Telegraph corps opened their convention session this morning in the parlors of the Kenyon hotel, with about 150 veterans of the key present. The first named society held its session first with President Corne of Ogden in the chair, and John Brant of New York secretary. President Corne made a few appropriate introductory remarks, welcoming the veterans to Utah, where they had gathered for the first time, and he felt sure they would all enjoy themselves while here. The veterans were falling away in the course of years, but many still remained, and there were certainly enough present to insure an enjoyable and profitable meeting. Rev. P. A. Simpson had been impressed as a local speaker, and he made a witty, pleasant address that gave great pleasure to his hearers. He welcomed them to Salt Lake in a genial vein, and was heartily received.

Secy. Brant in his annual report stated that at the beginning of the fiscal year there were 901 members enrolled; and during the year, 210 applications for membership had been received, and 210 corresponding members of certificates issued. Twenty-two members have died and three resigned, leaving a total present membership of 1,070. The secretary reported that so little had been received in way of subscription for the proposed publication of the past history of the association, that it was evident the members did not care to have the history printed, and the moneys subscribed would be returned. It was suggested that the constitution be changed so as to read, "Any person of good standing who at the time prior to 25 years before the date of making application (for membership) had been employed in the telegraph service for at least five years, should, upon payment of an initiation fee of $1, be eligible to membership, and I heartily approve of the suggestion." There has been but one contribution of history value during the year, a photograph album containing portraits of many men connected with the telegraph service of gone-by days, by Mr. Frank R. Rice of New York. It does not seem that the historical feature of the association is appreciated as it should be by its members." The report was adopted.

Treasurer Brant reported receipts for 1902 at $1,856.46, with expenses at $139.35, leaving on hand Sept. 1, $1,717.08. The report was approved.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, W. P. Fry of Milwaukee; vice president, W. J. Lloyd of Chicago; secretary and treasurer, John Brant of New York; executive committee, G. H. Corne of Ogden, L. B. McFarland of Salt Lake, H. C. Hooper of St. Paul, H. J. Pettigall of Boston.

The convention decided upon Milwaukee as the place of the next annual meeting, and in the course of routine business, a vote of thanks was passed to the citizens of Salt Lake, the Western Union Telegraph and Rocky Mountain Bell Telephone companies for courtesies extended to the veterans, and an association badge was taken up, but not settled, as not a few thought a plain card would be enough. The convention extended the time limit for membership, so that now a candidate is not eligible for membership unless 25 years have elapsed since he entered the service. In his report at the Montreal convention of last year, Secy. Brant called attention to this matter and said:

"In scanning the applications for membership during the year past, our secretary has been impressed with the youthfulness of many of the applicants, and, after mature consideration, has reached the conclusion that if this organization is to be known as the 'Old-time Telegraphers' association,' it will be necessary to make the eligibility limit 25 or 30 years' service, instead of 20, as at the present time."

So the limit is now fixed at 25 years. With the shorter limit obtaining the organization was filling with persons of less age than was thought desirable.

The salary of the secretary was raised to $300 against his protests.

At the adjournment of the session the convention adjourned to the Kenyon hotel, where the U. S. Military Telegraph corps was called with Vice President W. J. Lloyd of New York in the chair, and W. C. Burton as secretary. President Wilson, who was absent, sent in his annual report from Colorado Springs, Mo., and which was read by the secretary. The president recounted the fact that the last session of the society was held in the shadow of a great national calamity; the president of the United States had been stricken by the untimely hand of the assassin and was on his deathbed. Your message of sympathy sent from Montreal did not reach him, but after his death, Mrs. McKinley acknowledged it in words of appreciation. The president recounted his inability to secure from the present Congress "legislation in recognition of our just and free claims." There has been for the past 23 years an element in both houses of Congress which has been exercising an influence against them. Happily this influence is

The Stimulus of Pure Blood

That is what is required by every organ of the body, for the proper performance of its functions. It prevents biliousness, dyspepsia, constipation, kidney complaint, rheumatism, catarrh, nervousness, weakness, faintness, pimples, blotches, and all cutaneous eruptions.

It perfects all the vital processes.

W. P. Keeton, Woodstock, Ala., took Hood's Sarsaparilla to make his blood pure. He writes that he had not felt well for some time. Before he had finished the first bottle of this medicine he felt better and when he had taken the second was like another man—free from that tired feeling and able to do his work.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Promises to cure and keeps the promise. Accept no substitute, but get Hood's today.

Consumption

Nearly all early cases can be cured. Expert physicians tell us they rely largely on three things—fresh air, good food, and Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. If the case is advanced, recovery is more uncertain. Follow your doctor's orders. That's best.

"I had a terrible cold on my lungs. I feared I might have consumption. Nothing seemed to give me relief until I used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It acted promptly and cured me completely."—Miss Emma Miller, Fort Snelling, Minn. 25c., 50c., $1.00. J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.

becoming weaker and it is to be hoped will soon disappear. I would recommend that no further appeal be made to the national legislature until the next Congress convenes in December. Mr. Wilson advised "that some member of the society be appointed to lay our case before President Roosevelt, and I know of no one so able and competent to act as an envoy as Major Rosewater of Omaha." The convention approved of the report, and chose Major Rosewater as recommended. Secretary and Treasurer Pettit reported for the year receipts at $132.70, with expenses at $73.20, leaving a balance in the treasury of $59.50. Adopted. Short speeches were made by two or three old timers, including Major Cochran of Montreal, and the conventions adjourned to the lunch table. This afternoon will be occupied with a trolley ride around the city, including a trip to Fort Douglas, the Salt Palace and other places of interest. The program for tomorrow is as follows: 10 a. m.—Trip to Salt Lake "Grass at Salt Lake," returning to City in time for lunch. 2:30 p. m.—Special train to Laegon. 3:30 p. m.—Subscription banquet at the Kenyon hotel.

The ladies reception committee is as follows: Mrs. Geo. H. Corne, Chairman, Ogden; Mrs. Samuel P. Penton, Mrs. Geo. Penton, Mrs. L. L. Dunning, Mrs. Donald Rose, Mrs. A. Tripp, Mrs. J. B. Twiford, Mrs. R. S. Campbell, Mrs. C. H. Griffin, Mrs. C. F. Warren, Mrs. E. Lewis, Mrs. Geo. A. Lowe, Mrs. Arthur W. Copp, Mrs. C. A. Walker, Mrs. S. Spence, Mrs. Katherine Lowe, Mrs. Jos. H. Young, Salt Lake City; Mrs. Chas. M. Andrews, Ogden; Mrs. W. W. Carlton, Hilliard, Utah; Mrs. Charles H. Horton, Denver, Colo.

DEATH OF CHARLES COYLE.

Bookkeeper for Gemini Mining Company Dies of Lung Trouble. (Special to the "News.") Eureka, Utah, Sept. 10.—Charles A. Coyle, aged 28 years, died here this morning after an illness of a couple of weeks. Death resulted from hemorrhage of the lungs. Mr. Coyle came to Eureka from Montreal, Canada, in 1892, and entered the employ of the Gemini Mining company as bookkeeper, which position he held up to the time of his illness. A mother and one sister survive him. These relatives are at present in New York. A brother of deceased, Harry Coyle, died at Salt Lake about one year ago from the same disease. Mr. Coyle was a charter member of the local lodge of Elks, and served as secretary of the order since its organization.

The funeral services will be conducted from the St. Mary's cathedral at Salt Lake Thursday at 1 o'clock. The remains will be taken to Eureka Thursday morning over the Rio Grande Western and a large number of local Elks, together with other friends, will attend the funeral.

PETITION FOR RESERVE.

Citizens of Fremont County, Wyo. Want One to Prevent Fires. (Special to the "News.") Washington, D. C., Sept. 10.—Assistant Commissioner of the Land Office Richards has received an application from citizens of Fremont county, Wyoming, to reserve a forest reserve lying southwest of the town of Lander, containing 550,000 acres. This is the location where the recent forest fire was and they think that setting apart the forest for reserve will prevent future fires. This matter will be taken up and investigated as to the advisability for establishment of such reserve.

AMUSEMENTS.

"The Penitent," a play made from Hall Caine's celebrated novel of the same name, will be at the theatre tomorrow night. The company is a New York organization under the management of W. E. Nankeville.

Commencing tomorrow night the Grand will be open for the remainder of the week. The attraction will be the sensational melodrama "Lost in New York."

Treasurer Derr of the Salt Lake Theatre reports considerable inquiry for seats to the Marguerite Sylva performance. The advance sale will not open till Friday morning.

W. C. Spence, who has just returned from Denver, states that the Corlison company had the hardest sort of opposition to encounter in the horse show there. The final performance was given Saturday night and all the members of the company left Denver for Lincoln, Neb., feeling well. While the Denver business was not all that had been expected, it is not thought there was any considerable loss as the company received 75 per cent of the gross receipts.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Russell left Salt Lake today for New York, where they go to open the professional season. Mr. Russell with Mrs. Le Moyne, and Mrs. Russell with Kyle Billwe.

PERSONALS.

Leon L. Looftrow has left for Boston, where he will enter Boston university, a Methodist college. He holds a scholarship there.

Justice Sommer is in Park City on a business trip.

E. E. Richardson, for 30 years secretary and treasurer of the Kansas City stock yards, is a guest at the Kenyon.

Mrs. William C. Wallace of Park City is visiting in the city for a few days.

Mr. L. R. Watters, who is in the merchandise business at the Pearl mining district, Ida., is visiting Salt Lake, after attending the recent convention at Pocatello, Idaho.

Mrs. Watters is a sister of Mr. Watters who has not been for 25 years. Mr. Watters is at the Cullen.

TUNNEL WILL BE SEVEN MILES LONG

Big Bore on Central Pacific Will Do Away With Snow Sheds.

ESTIMATED COST $14,000,000

Part of Harriman's Plan to Reduce Time Between San Francisco and Chicago Twelve Hours.

San Francisco, Sept. 10.—The Southern Pacific surveyors that have been engaged since last spring to find a tunnel route for the Central Pacific road through the Sierra Nevada mountains, are putting the results of their work into shape for submission to President E. H. Harriman.

It is known, says the Examiner, that the route laid out by the surveyors provides for a tunnel 3,430 feet long, or nearly seven miles. The estimated cost is $14,000,000. It will cut down the summit grade 1,500 feet and enable the company to get rid of all but three miles of the miles of snow shed. The proposed tunnel will pierce the mountains at an elevation of about 8,300 feet.

The tunnel is part of Harriman's plan to reduce time between San Francisco and Chicago 12 hours or from three days, as at present, to two days and a half.

DENVER GATEWAY OPEN.

Union Pacific Lets Down Bars to All Chicago Lines.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—The Denver gateway of the Union Pacific, which has remained closed since 1893, has been thrown open to all roads, both for freight and passenger traffic. The new arrangement in the policy of the Union Pacific road caused great surprise today when it became generally known, and led to much speculation as to the cause. An official of the Union Pacific stated that there was nothing to be said regarding the matter except that the Denver gateway was now wide open and that it remained for other roads to say how extensively they would use the new coast business.

The new agreement regarding traffic was entered into early in August, but has been kept a close secret until today. The greatest advantage to the Chicago-Denver route will be to the Chicago-Denver route, which has been turned over to the Union Pacific at the river, the latter company refusing to accept it at Denver. The Chicago route will be the Chicago route, which will enjoy the long haul on all of their business.

An official of the Harriman lines stated that the management had decided to close the Denver gateway and the closing of the Denver gateway and that there was no good reason why the roads east of the river should not have the long haul on traffic originating in their territory. For one thing, the new arrangements, also, the Union Pacific had greatly decreased, and this and other new conditions made it good policy to throw the Denver gateway open.

The above dispatch is slightly misleading inasmuch as the Denver gateway is not thrown open to all lines. The roads affected, the Union Pacific, the Rock Island, which heretofore transferred their consignments for Harriman territory at Kansas City and Cheyenne. The gateway has always been open to Missouri Pacific and Union Pacific trains. The fact as still up against the Santa Fe. The opening of the gateway to the lines named embrace points on the Union Pacific, Oregon Short Line and the Oregon Railroad & Navigation company.

Some Fine Sheep.

The Rio Grande Western has received from the Colorado Midland two carloads of yearling Lincoln rams consigned by Patrick Bros. of Iderton, Ontario, Canada. The sheep are among the finest that have been brought into Salt Lake and today were the center of attraction out at the stockyards. The animals are practically sold to a prominent Idaho sheepman. Patrick Bros. are the largest breeders of more rams and their stock in the near future, as this consignment has stood the long journey exceptionally well.

Official Train.

The special Republican convention train will leave Ogden tomorrow morning and return to Salt Lake after the convention. As it is the official train it will carry the Utah, Salt Lake and Davis county delegations, also the U. S. and county delegations. The train is promised to Ogden, and the fare for the occasion will be $1.50 the round trip.

Saltair Meeting.

The regular monthly meeting of the directors of the Saltair beach company and the railway company was held at the railway company's office yesterday afternoon. The financial reports for the season's business showed somewhat of a falling off as regards the business at the resort in comparison with previous years. The railroad, however, with its increased shipments of salt continues

COFFEE BLOATING.

Coffee Causes Liver Congestion in Some People.

"We drank coffee some years and it seemed an established law in our household to take refuge with some medicine to relieve the stomach of its pressure (coffee is generally the cause of persistent constipation as it produces more or less congestion of the liver). I was so nervous that my hands trembled and I slept but little. I felt irritable all the time and unable to do much of any work. I had to force myself to do things; always felt lazy and had to drive myself to get around; the food I ate belched up and I always felt as if I were bloated, and had such a narrow and tight sensation in my chest, so that every little exertion started hot waves running through the whole body, followed by a cold, chilly sensation."

But after I commenced to use Postum Food Coffee, and quit coffee these complaints all disappeared! I feel well, energetic and hopeful; no better nourished and able to sleep well every night. My husband was often sick and the doctor and medicine were constantly needed in our house, but since we stopped coffee and used Postum, all these things are changed and I have a heavy feeling around the chest has gone.

Every wife should introduce this wholesome beverage into her family. She would discover in a few days what a rich food she had prepared for her loved ones, and would be rid of all of those oppressing sensations and stomach and bowel complaints which are caused by coffee drinking. Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

ROARING FARGE AT HEBER CITY.

Prof. Fontanna, "The Renowned Hypnotist," in a New Light.

SUBJECT SUDDENLY WAKES

The Member Skips From Town Pursued by His Wife—Narrow Escape of Miss Duncan.

(Special to the "News.") Heber City, Utah, Sept. 10.—What promised to be a tragedy yesterday afternoon before night resolved itself into a roaring farce comedy.

Prof. Fontanna, "the renowned hypnotist," skipped from town last night and as soon as it became known beyond a peradventure of a doubt the young man whom he put to sleep in the drug store window some 20 hours previous, miraculously awoke, climbed out of the window and demanded his 25, which he claimed the "professor" had promised him if he would lay quiet for 24 hours.

This morning the residents of Heber are divided into two classes. One class is divided into convulsions over the fake, while others are indignant. Possibly none feel like congratulating themselves as does Miss Nellie Duncan, the young lady who apparently was hypnotized by the fakir, whom despite the remonstrances of her friends and relatives, she seemed determined to marry.

"Prof. Fontanna arrived in Heber City on Friday with a young man he called his brother. They registered at the Duncan House and proceeded to give exhibitions of their "occult" powers. Taken all in all some of the things done by the professor were decidedly clever. On Monday night the fakir selected a young man named Johnson of Provo, apparently at hazard from the audience, and then proceeded to "put him to sleep." The inanimate man was tenderly placed in the local drug store window and the boy was to be brought round at the seance which was to have been held last night.

The program did not materialize, however, because a woman claiming to be the wife of the fakir, who had been selected a young man named Johnson of Provo, apparently at hazard from the audience, and then proceeded to "put him to sleep." The inanimate man was tenderly placed in the local drug store window and the boy was to be brought round at the seance which was to have been held last night.

The program did not materialize, however, because a woman claiming to be the wife of the fakir, who had been selected a young man named Johnson of Provo, apparently at hazard from the audience, and then proceeded to "put him to sleep." The inanimate man was tenderly placed in the local drug store window and the boy was to be brought round at the seance which was to have been held last night.

The program did not materialize, however, because a woman claiming to be the wife of the fakir, who had been selected a young man named Johnson of Provo, apparently at hazard from the audience, and then proceeded to "put him to sleep." The inanimate man was tenderly placed in the local drug store window and the boy was to be brought round at the seance which was to have been held last night.

The program did not materialize, however, because a woman claiming to be the wife of the fakir, who had been selected a young man named Johnson of Provo, apparently at hazard from the audience, and then proceeded to "put him to sleep." The inanimate man was tenderly placed in the local drug store window and the boy was to be brought round at the seance which was to have been held last night.

The program did not materialize, however, because a woman claiming to be the wife of the fakir, who had been selected a young man named Johnson of Provo, apparently at hazard from the audience, and then proceeded to "put him to sleep." The inanimate man was tenderly placed in the local drug store window and the boy was to be brought round at the seance which was to have been held last night.

The program did not materialize, however, because a woman claiming to be the wife of the fakir, who had been selected a young man named Johnson of Provo, apparently at hazard from the audience, and then proceeded to "put him to sleep." The inanimate man was tenderly placed in the local drug store window and the boy was to be brought round at the seance which was to have been held last night.

The program did not materialize, however, because a woman claiming to be the wife of the fakir, who had been selected a young man named Johnson of Provo, apparently at hazard from the audience, and then proceeded to "put him to sleep." The inanimate man was tenderly placed in the local drug store window and the boy was to be brought round at the seance which was to have been held last night.

The program did not materialize, however, because a woman claiming to be the wife of the fakir, who had been selected a young man named Johnson of Provo, apparently at hazard from the audience, and then proceeded to "put him to sleep." The inanimate man was tenderly placed in the local drug store window and the boy was to be brought round at the seance which was to have been held last night.

The program did not materialize, however, because a woman claiming to be the wife of the fakir, who had been selected a young man named Johnson of Provo, apparently at hazard from the audience, and then proceeded to "put him to sleep." The inanimate man was tenderly placed in the local drug store window and the boy was to be brought round at the seance which was to have been held last night.

The program did not materialize, however, because a woman claiming to be the wife of the fakir, who had been selected a young man named Johnson of Provo, apparently at hazard from the audience, and then proceeded to "put him to sleep." The inanimate man was tenderly placed in the local drug store window and the boy was to be brought round at the seance which was to have been held last night.

The program did not materialize, however, because a woman claiming to be the wife of the fakir, who had been selected a young man named Johnson of Provo, apparently at hazard from the audience, and then proceeded to "put him to sleep." The inanimate man was tenderly placed in the local drug store window and the boy was to be brought round at the seance which was to have been held last night.

The program did not materialize, however, because a woman claiming to be the wife of the fakir, who had been selected a young man named Johnson of Provo, apparently at hazard from the audience, and then proceeded to "put him to sleep." The inanimate man was tenderly placed in the local drug store window and the boy was to be brought round at the seance which was to have been held last night.

The program did not materialize, however, because a woman claiming to be the wife of the fakir, who had been selected a young man named Johnson of Provo, apparently at hazard from the audience, and then proceeded to "put him to sleep." The inanimate man was tenderly placed in the local drug store window and the boy was to be brought round at the seance which was to have been held last night.

The program did not materialize, however, because a woman claiming to be the wife of the fakir, who had been selected a young man named Johnson of Provo, apparently at hazard from the audience, and then proceeded to "put him to sleep." The inanimate man was tenderly placed in the local drug store window and the boy was to be brought round at the seance which was to have been held last night.

The program did not materialize, however, because a woman claiming to be the wife of the fakir, who had been selected a young man named Johnson of Provo, apparently at hazard from the audience, and then proceeded to "put him to sleep." The inanimate man was tenderly placed in the local drug store window and the boy was to be brought round at the seance which was to have been held last night.

The program did not materialize, however, because a woman claiming to be the wife of the fakir, who had been selected a young man named Johnson of Provo, apparently at hazard from the audience, and then proceeded to "put him to sleep." The inanimate man was tenderly placed in the local drug store window and the boy was to be brought round at the seance which was to have been held last night.

The program did not materialize, however, because a woman claiming to be the wife of the fakir, who had been selected a young man named Johnson of Provo, apparently at hazard from the audience, and then proceeded to "put him to sleep." The inanimate man was tenderly placed in the local drug store window and the boy was to be brought round at the seance which was to have been held last night.

The program did not materialize, however, because a woman claiming to be the wife of the fakir, who had been selected a young man named Johnson of Provo, apparently at hazard from the audience, and then proceeded to "put him to sleep." The inanimate man was tenderly placed in the local drug store window and the boy was to be brought round at the seance which was to have been held last night.

The program did not materialize, however, because a woman claiming to be the wife of the fakir, who had been selected a young man named Johnson of Provo, apparently at hazard from the audience, and then proceeded to "put him to sleep." The inanimate man was tenderly placed in the local drug store window and the boy was to be brought round at the seance which was to have been held last night.

The program did not materialize, however, because a woman claiming to be the wife of the fakir, who had been selected a young man named Johnson of Provo, apparently at hazard from the audience, and then proceeded to "put him to sleep." The inanimate man was tenderly placed in the local drug store window and the boy was to be brought round at the seance which was to have been held last night.

The program did not materialize, however, because a woman claiming to be the wife of the fakir, who had been selected a young man named Johnson of Provo, apparently at hazard from the audience, and then proceeded to "put him to sleep." The inanimate man was tenderly placed in the local drug store window and the boy was to be brought round at the seance which was to have been held last night.

The program did not materialize, however, because a woman claiming to be the wife of the fakir, who had been selected a young man named Johnson of Provo, apparently at hazard from the audience, and then proceeded to "put him to sleep." The inanimate man was tenderly placed in the local drug store window and the boy was to be brought round at the seance which was to have been held last night.

The program did not materialize, however, because a woman claiming to be the wife of the fakir, who had been selected a young man named Johnson of Provo, apparently at hazard from the audience, and then proceeded to "put him to sleep." The inanimate man was tenderly placed in the local drug store window and the boy was to be brought round at the seance which was to have been held last night.

The program did not materialize, however, because a woman claiming to be the wife of the fakir, who had been selected a young man named Johnson of Provo, apparently at hazard from the audience, and then proceeded to "put him to sleep." The inanimate man was tenderly placed in the local drug store window and the boy was to be brought round at the seance which was to have been held last night.

ROARING FARGE AT HEBER CITY.

Prof. Fontanna, "The Renowned Hypnotist," in a New Light.

SUBJECT SUDDENLY WAKES

The Member Skips From Town Pursued by His Wife—Narrow Escape of Miss Duncan.

(Special to the "News.") Heber City, Utah, Sept. 10.—What promised to be a tragedy yesterday afternoon before night resolved itself into a roaring farce comedy.

Prof. Fontanna, "the renowned hypnotist," skipped from town last night and as soon as it became known beyond a peradventure of a doubt the young man whom he put to sleep in the drug store window some 20 hours previous, miraculously awoke, climbed out of the window and demanded his 25, which he claimed the "professor" had promised him if he would lay quiet for 24 hours.

This morning the residents of Heber are divided into two classes. One class is divided into convulsions over the fake, while others are indignant. Possibly none feel like congratulating themselves as does Miss Nellie Duncan, the young lady who apparently was hypnotized by the fakir, whom despite the remonstrances of her friends and relatives, she seemed determined to marry.

"Prof. Fontanna arrived in Heber City on Friday with a young man he called his brother. They registered at the Duncan House and proceeded to give exhibitions of their "occult" powers. Taken all in all some of the things done by the professor were decidedly clever. On Monday night the fakir selected a young man named Johnson of Provo, apparently at hazard from the audience, and then proceeded to "put him to sleep." The inanimate man was tenderly placed in the local drug store window and the boy was to be brought round at the seance which was to have been held last night.

The program did not materialize, however, because a woman claiming to be the wife of the fakir, who had been selected a young man named Johnson of Provo, apparently at hazard from the audience, and then proceeded to "put him to sleep." The inanimate man was tenderly placed in the local drug store window and the boy was to be brought round at the seance which was to have been held last night.

The program did not materialize, however, because a woman claiming to be the wife of the fakir, who had been selected a young man named Johnson of Provo, apparently at hazard from the audience, and then proceeded to "put him to sleep." The inanimate man was tenderly placed in the local drug store window and the boy was to be brought round at the seance which was to have been held last night.

The program did not materialize, however, because a woman claiming to be the wife of the fakir, who had been selected a young man named Johnson of Provo, apparently at hazard from the audience, and then proceeded to "put him to sleep." The inanimate man was tenderly placed in the local drug store window and the boy was to be brought round at the seance which was to have been held last night.

The program did not materialize, however, because a woman claiming to be the wife of the fakir, who had been selected a young man named Johnson of Provo, apparently at hazard from the audience, and then proceeded to "put him to sleep." The inanimate man was tenderly placed in the local drug store window and the boy was to be brought round at the seance which was to have been held last night.

The program did not materialize, however, because a woman claiming to be the wife of the fakir, who had been selected a young man named Johnson of Provo, apparently at hazard from the audience, and then proceeded to "put him to sleep." The inanimate man was tenderly placed in the local drug store window and the boy was to be brought round at the seance which was to have been held last night.

The program did not materialize, however, because a woman claiming to be the wife of the fakir, who had been selected a young man named Johnson of Provo, apparently at hazard from the audience, and then proceeded to "put him to sleep." The inanimate man was tenderly placed in the local drug store window and the boy was to be brought round at the seance which was to have been held last night.

The program did not materialize, however, because a woman claiming to be the wife of the fakir, who had been selected a young man named Johnson of Provo, apparently at hazard from the audience, and then proceeded to "put him to sleep." The inanimate man was tenderly placed in the local drug store window and the boy was to be brought round at the seance which was to have been held last night.

The program did not materialize, however, because a woman claiming to be the wife of the fakir, who had been selected a young man named Johnson of Provo, apparently at hazard from the audience, and then proceeded to "put him to sleep." The inanimate man was tenderly placed in the local drug store window and the boy was to be brought round at the seance which was to have been held last night.

The program did not materialize, however, because a woman claiming to be the wife of the fakir, who had been selected a young man named Johnson of Provo, apparently at hazard from the audience, and then proceeded to "put him to sleep." The inanimate man was tenderly placed in the local drug store window and the boy was to be brought round at the seance which was to have been held last night.

The program did not materialize, however, because a woman claiming to be the wife of the fakir, who had been selected a young man named Johnson of Provo, apparently at hazard from the audience, and then proceeded to "put him to sleep." The inanimate man was tenderly placed in the local drug store window and the boy was to be brought round at the seance which was to have been held last night.

The program did not materialize, however, because a woman claiming to be the wife of the fakir, who had been selected a young man named Johnson of Provo, apparently at hazard from the audience, and then proceeded to "put him to sleep." The inanimate man was tenderly placed in the local drug store window and the boy was to be brought round at the seance which was to have been held last night.

The program did not materialize, however, because a woman claiming to be the wife of the fakir, who had been selected a young man named Johnson of Provo, apparently at hazard from the audience, and then proceeded to "put him to sleep." The inanimate man was tenderly placed in the local drug store window and the boy was to be brought round at the seance which was to have been held last night.

The program did not materialize, however, because a woman claiming to be the wife of the fakir, who had been selected a young man named Johnson of Provo, apparently at hazard from the audience, and then proceeded to "put him to sleep." The inanimate man was tenderly placed in the local drug store window and the boy was to be brought round at the seance which was to have been held last night.

The program did not materialize, however, because a woman claiming to be the wife of the fakir, who had been selected a young man named Johnson of Provo, apparently at hazard from the audience, and then proceeded to "put him to sleep." The inanimate man was tenderly placed in the local drug store window and the boy was to be brought round at the seance which was to have been held last night.

The program did not materialize, however, because a woman claiming to be the wife of the fak