Foreign Notes.
London, 27.—A Home dispatch says the speech from the throne was very well received.

BOYS' COMPOSITION ON SOAP.
My teacher wants me to write a composition on soap. I like to write compositions better than arithmetic, and I like soap. I wonder why they don't put that thing a dishwashing soap, or something you can pronounce without hearing your jaw crack, but I don't see much soap in it. It is made of a compound formed by the union of alkalis with oils and fats. That's a blamed lie, and if I was a soapmaker I'd know better than to say that. Soap is made of water and soap, and it's the water that does the work. I wonder why they don't put that thing a dishwashing soap, or something you can pronounce without hearing your jaw crack, but I don't see much soap in it.
