THE EVENING NEWS. GEORGE Q. CANNON, EDITOR AND PUBLISHER Jane 25, 1973. THE meeting of the St. Louis Board o Trade held on the 17th instant for the consideration of the plans proposed for the completion of the thirty-fifth paral- latien to the people of Utab since last lei railroad between St. Louis and San Francisco was an enthusiastic affair. In the speeches made by the committee appointed at San Francisco to examine the road already built and the proposed line, and to report upon the same, they express great satisfaction with the condition of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad as far as it had progressed. The committee had come, its chairman stated, armored in suspicion, and had declined the most of the hospitalities which had been tendered, so that its members might have more time to examine its affairs. They were satisfied with the examination. They had met in conference also at Boston with the directors and principal stockholders, and after an examination of all the books and papers there, had proceeded to negotiate terms for an alliance, for brace Missouri and California, and which might be acceptable to those States. The committee had aimed to have California placed upon an equal footing with the most favored original stockholder in the company; but above all, its members desired an absolute control and full guarantee, that this promised people's line across the continent, shall forever remain free and independent from all rings and monopolies, and operated only in the interest of Missouri and California, for and much curiosity felt as about that of in behalf of the people at large. These four men by proprietorship and pur-chase substantially control all the railroads in the State of California, and are the owners and administrators of the grandest, the most perfect and comprehensive monopoly that perhaps the world has ever known." In speaking of it in another connection, he said: "This Goat Island business is the last pound that has broken the back of our forbearing public. *
