

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

GONE NORTH.—President Young, accompanied by W. Jennings, Esq., Vice President of the Utah Central Railroad Co., F. Little, Esq., Director, and J. A. Young, Superintendent of the road, left this city this morning on business connected with the best location of the road. President Wells, Elders W. Woodruff, G. Q. Cannon, B. Young, Jr., W. H. Hooper and others will join President Young at Ogden, and with him will hold meetings at Ogden on Saturday and Sunday. After which they will proceed on a visit to the settlements in Rich and Cache Counties.

THEATRE.—Last night, Byron's burlesque of Aladdin was presented to a good house. This piece is decidedly one of Byron's best, abounding in side-splitting puns and situations. The audience could not have been better pleased and they were not slow to manifest their appreciation of the artists. Miss Clella in the title role and Miss Emma as the Princess were excellent and both dressed their characters magnificently. Mr. Jerome made a decided hit as Widow Twankey, his comic depictions of the distressed mother were very amusing, and in the trio of "the Cure," his comic actions convulsed the whole audience with laughter.

Miss Annie Ward as Pekoe, was also very good.

To-night, Aladdin will be repeated for the last time, and we would advise those who wish to enjoy a hearty laugh, to go and see it.

To-morrow night is set apart for the benefit of Miss Emma Howson, and the mere mention of this, we think, will insure a full house. The programme announced is a rare one.

ODGEN ITEMS.—We clip the following from yesterday's Daily Telegraph. On Tuesday, in the County Court of Weber Co., Hooper City, formerly "Musk Rat," was organized into a precinct and a school district, to be known as the Hooper City precinct and 16th School district.

W. P. Decker, Esq., has sold out his entire stock of goods to the Hooper Co-operative institution. Another company of graders, in charge of Mr. J. Leavitt rolled out on Tuesday to commence work on the U. C. R. R. A few days ago O. Millon met with a painful accident. While loading a breech-loading rifle, the gun exploded and shattered his right hand badly. One was buried in the palm of his hand, and another passed through about the middle of his hand, he is however now doing well. At North Ogden the crops look well, they have no locusts to bother them, the health of the people is good. The settlement has about twenty teams and twenty-five men engaged in grading on the "Utah Central."

BAD FOR OMAHA.—The Omaha Herald calls for effective and decisive measures to be used to stem the torrent of crime that is overflowing that city. Murders, robberies, garrotings and bloody encounters are of almost daily occurrence. On the 4th inst., two men who had long been friends, named Stephen O'Donnell and Thomas Russell, had an off-hand, good-humored sparring bout, but O'Donnell getting a little the worse of it got mad and a short time after, without further provocation, when Russell was paying for some drinks, plunged a knife into his breast and again into his left side. Russell ran and procured a carving knife with which he inflicted a serious wound in O'Donnell's side. The fight was kept up for some time until the parties were both arrested, had their wounds dressed and were lodged in jail, where they both remained at last advice. It is probable O'Donnell may not recover.

RICH COUNTY.—Bro. Jonathan Pugnaire, of St. Charles, dropped into our sanctum this morning. He reports the crops in that district as a general thing looking splendid. There are a great many grasshoppers hatching out in some parts of the valley, but they had not done very much damage when he left. The health of the people is good, and the prospects bright for a good harvest.

TERRIFIC STORM IN VIRGINIA.—The Wheeling (Va.) Intelligencer, of May 29th, contains the particulars of a most terrific hail storm, which passed over that city on the previous afternoon. It appears that the day was very fine and warm until nearly 3 p.m., when a dark and heavy cloud, but a short distance from the earth, overcast the sky, which suddenly grew darker, while the close and stifling atmosphere was succeeded by a terrific blast which swept everything before it. The dust was so thick and blinding that nothing could be seen for a few seconds; but when the large and heavy drops of rain had laid the drifting dirt, the scene was one of terrible yet peculiar significance. Not a moment was allowed to merchants for removing the goods which were in the front of their stores, or the housekeepers for closing blinds, doors or shutters, and these moveables, with roofs, timbers, etc., were flying in every direction, as if an earthquake had shaken the city from her foundations. Horses attached to and disconnected from their vehicles were madly plunging through the thoroughfares, endangering life and limb to unfortunate pedestrians. In a moment or two the wind ceased and the rain changed to hail, which rattled against the windows for a moment and then perforce the glass was the lumps of congealed water grew in size. The sound upon the pavements and roofs was like the rapid firing of musketry, and so great was the force of the stones that shutters were smashed and even the window sashes broken and beaten to pieces. Not only this but the walls across the rooms from the windows were indented and the plastering in some cases, beaten off to the solid masonry.

When the storm was at its highest fury, the hailstones were of the size of a man's clenched fist, and solid as cannon balls, which they very much resembled in appearance. They were in most cases nearly round, being slightly flattened on two sides like an apple, with smaller holes or indentations resembling the place where the stem joins the core, on one side. In a few minutes the hail ceased and the lower part of the city were covered to the depth of a foot with these wonderful balls of ice, and every window facing the north, from which direction the storm came, filled with broken panes.

In about twenty minutes the fury of the storm had passed, but the streets seemed like small rivers, bearing away boxes and debris on rapidly increasing currents. Here and there a large tree came floating by with the stock in trade of a merchant mingled in its branches; carts and wagons were clinging to the lamp posts and convenient corners. The depth of the hail and water on main street, was over three feet, and the heaps of ice in places were nearly five feet high.

In about three quarters of an hour after the storm commenced it had ceased, and soon after the sun was again shining, the air warm and pleasant, and the sky as serene as though its tranquility had not for a moment been disturbed by one of the most terrible storms, whilst it lasted, that ever passed over that section of country.
