Church are respectfully invited to JOHN TAYLOR, GRORGE Q. CANNON,

AN OFFICIAL OUTRAGE. THE cutrage committed upon the peaceable inhabitants of Herriman in this county, about two o'clock on Saturday morning, is one that calls for more than a mere relation of the facts. These as related to our reporter by a local columns in Saturday's Evening trated or under what pretext they are attempted. An outrage is none the less an outrage because it is official.

The whole population, it is stated, were aroused out of their presiding. beds in this ruffianly assault upon their liberties, and some of them were questioned as to matters that no execetive officer is authorized to inquire into. We have no hesitation in stating that such an unwarrantable attack upon a sleeping community would not be tolerated in any other part of the United States than in Utah .. It is disgraceful te those who perpetrated it, those who advised it, and those officials, high or low, who after being informed, either countenance or excuse

We have advised the people to suffer wrong rather than do wrong; to offer no resistance to lawful arrest or service of legal papers; to treat as gentlemen all officers acting like gentlemen. And we now repeat this advice. But the difference between them that they redirectly account of their stewardsnips. Officers are just as much bound to obey the law as the humblest private citizen, and their office forms no legal protecother; and the irrelation given was that it required faith and works combined to insure success.

The Latter-day Saints believed in God the Father and His Son Jesus Christ, and in all that they had or their persons while engaged in a would reveal to man. Paul had said, gations to submit to night assaults by o their persons while engaged in a would reveal to man. Paul had said, Admittance must be demanded and refused before an officer is authorized to break into any building to make an arrest. The warrant must name the person to be arrested, it cannot be used wholesale for persons whom the officers may please to demand.

As to searches and seizures there is "The right of the people to be secure in their houses, papers and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures shall not be violated; and no warrants shall issue but upon prob-able cause, supported by oath or affir-mation, and particularly describing the

They are simply executive officers and their impertinent curiosity and rude effrontery should not be gratified or endured. Let them attend to their duties in a proper way and at a proper time and they will be treated with proper courtesy. Otherwise they are entitled to no respect.

Was the next speaker. He said the saints were able to exercise faith for the Elders, that they might speak under the influence of the Holy Ghost. This principle was not understood by the world at large. He had not received a collegiste education, or been taught to preach. BISHOP O. F. WHITNEY was the next speaker. He said the call upon him had been most unexpected Spirit he would endeavor to fill it. He had a similar testimony to those which great honor conferred upon men to be sent forth to preach the Gospel. I was a great mission to bear the mes-sage of salvation and minister in As was said by one of old, it was better to be a doorkeeper in the house of the Lord than to dwell in the tents of wickedness. There was more honor in the least office in God's his throne.

authority, though often abused and misused. When Jesus presented Him-self for baptism, He set an example of obedience to rightful authority which no man could afford to despise. John the Baptist was struck with the apparent incongruity of the greater hum bling Himself below the lesser; that one whom He had announced as the famb of God, should apply to him for baptism. But Jesus replied, "Suffer it to be se now, for thus it becometh us to fulfill all righteousness." The secret of the obedience rendered by the Savior, was that John bore the Priest-hood of God, and had authority to preach the Gospel of repentance and baptize with water, and Jesus could no more afford to ignore the authority of John, than the latter could afford to deny that Jesus was the Savior of the world. It was not the man but the authority that God required His Son to oow down to.

This was also the secret of the obed: ence and fove given by the Latter-day Saints to their leaders. They knew these men had the authority to adminwhom he had labored had generally given him similar credit. He taught the same Gospei as did Jesus and Peter and the other Apostles. The statutes governing arrests provide that for a misdemeanor an arrest cannot be made at night, unless upon the direction of the magistrate endorsed upon the warrant, or unless the offense is committed in the presence of the person making the arrest. The warrant must be shown when required.

After baptism came the Holy Ghost, to be conferred by those having authority. Among the people where the mumility to pick up a diamond from the dirt, or would overlook the precious treasures in the fighteousness looks down from heaven. Joseph Smith sprang from the earth, as it were, and called around Him men humble as Himself, there were many who were slow to believe in the laying on of hands for was one of the noblest spirits that ever

But it was a principle that could not be done away with, for if one doctrine could be put away others could, usuall the whole plan of salvation was laid aside. The apostles taught the necessity of the laying on of lands to receive the Holy (these to necessary that they become greater with the lapse of years. become greater with the lapse of years God did not choose the great and mighty, as Bis ways were not as men's ways. The world would have chosen men of prominence. The speaker had been asked "Do you think God would, in choosing a Prophet, pass by such lights as Beecher, Talmage, Spurgeon, and choose a boy like Joe Smith?"
"Yes," he had replied, "that is just what I think He would be most apt to do." His ways were above the ways of men, as the heavens are above the earth To the worldly mind it would require no stretch of faith to accept a man like Beecher, who was a great man, but he was not called as a Prothet of God, A lady once asked the speaker why the Mormons did not labor to convert a man like Beecher, because a great con-gregation would follow him into the Church. They must show, forth patience, charity and forebearance, and be ready to extend help to those who are sinking in the mire of unbelief. They must not fight, but preach the Gospel and God would overrale all for their good and His own glary. An old man named M. Yager, aged about 60 years, was run over and killed by a switch engine of the Southern Pacific on San Fernando Street, Los Angeles, Cal., March 27th. The man had evidently been drinking. Two fint cars and the engine passed over Yager cutting him completely in halves, near the breast bone.
