

LOCAL NEWS.

FROM THURSDAY'S DAILY NOV. 4.

David May.—An inquiry was made through the News, a couple of weeks ago, for this gentleman. His present address is Provo City.

Information Wanted.—Mr. Jonas Wilkinson, of Woonsocket, Rhode Island, writes for information as to the whereabouts of Alexander Kershaw. When last heard from, three years ago, he was living in the Fourteenth Ward of this city.

Poor Range.—The range in some portions of southern Idaho is so poor that a number of Cache Valley men who intended to winter their stock upon it have brought their cattle and horses into Cache Valley, and will feed hay to their animals. This state of affairs, combined with the light crop of hay, has tended to raise the price of that article to a figure unknown for years.

"Memoirs of My Life."—The second part of this splendid publication, which sets forth in detail the experiences of John C. Fremont, is before us. As was the case with the first part, this is finely printed on strong, thick paper, the matter is clearly written and the interest by a perusal increases as we go along. There is a steel engraving of Colorado Valley, executed in the very best style; a portrait of Kit Carson, and a number of other engravings illustrative of life on the plains. Bedford, Clark & Co., Chicago and New York; 50 cents a part.

Still Looking.—Marshal Dyer and three of his deputies—Captain Greenman, Arthur Pratt and E. A. Franks—paid the Historian's Office a friendly visit about noon to-day. Capt. Greenman stood guard at the front door and Mr. Franks at the back, while the Marshal and Mr. Pratt searched the house from cellar to garret. They had received information, they said, that President Taylor and Cannon, and probably others who were wanted in connection with prosecutions under the Edmunds law, had been in the neighborhood, and were anxious to find them. In their perquisitions, however, they failed to discover any indications of any of the gentlemen for whom they were searching, and retired at the conclusion of their investigations.

Shot While Hunting Rabbits.—Last Monday seven men went out as a rabbit hunting party, near South Jordan. They ranged themselves in a line about a mile long, in order to insure the bagging of game. When about two miles south of the settlement one of the hunters saw two rabbits jump up on the top of a ridge near him, and he took aim and fired, not supposing any of his companions were within range. At the instant of firing, however, another of the hunters named Samuel H. Beckstead stepped in line with the shooter's aim received a wound in the breast above the right nipple which it was at first feared would be fatal. But the patient is improving and will probably recover. No blame is attached to anyone. We have been furnished with the foregoing particulars by Henry B. Beckstead.

Thomas Jenkins Arrested.—It will be remembered that, on Friday last, deputy marshals searched the house of Mr. Thomas Jenkins, in the Fourth Ward. That gentleman was not at home at the time, but sent word from Ogden to Marshal Dyer, so we are informed, that he would be on hand when wanted. To-day he gave himself up to the officers, the return on the warrant being the signature of deputy Boman Cannon. At about 3 o'clock this afternoon he was brought before Commissioner McKay and bound over to await the action of the grand jury in the sum of $1,500. John Bailey and Wm. McIntyre were his sureties. The complaint charges him with cohabiting unlawfully with Mrs. Florence Jenkins and Jane Doe Jenkins from Dec. 1, 1883, to Nov. 1, 1885. A subpoena had been served upon a number of the members of the defendant's family.

Court Notes.—Proceedings in the Third District Court to-day:

Park City Smelting Company vs. Wm. Timms et al.; trespass suit; court finds for plaintiff, and damages in the sum of $25.

Same vs. same; suit in ejectment; court finds for defendant for rents and profits.

J. W. Rands et al. vs. Edward Brain; jury trial resumed, and witnesses examined for the defense.

The People vs. Peter Miller, Frank Prestou and Richard Mooney; grand larceny. Miller was arraigned and pleaded not guilty.

The following names were returned on the open venire for additional petit jurors for this term: Henry W. Lawrence, John M. Young, L. C. Kartick, Thomas Carter, W. C. Dunbar, Jr., Jas. T. Little, C. L. Haines, E. Kahn, James W. Campbell and W. H. Remington. As Mr. Remington had served on the trial jury during the April term, he was excused.

An Ex-"Mormon" Arrested.—Yesterday afternoon Deputies Cannon and Smith drove out to Granger, and called at the house of William A. Morrow, formerly a resident of Mill Creek Ward, with a warrant of arrest for him on the charge of unlawful cohabitation. The marshals were informed that the object of their search was in Salt Lake on a visit, so they returned and met him on the way home.

He was in company with his wife, and was taken in custody and brought back to the city. It was nine o'clock when they reached the Marshal's office, so Morrow was confined in the penitentiary over-night.

This morning he was taken before Commissioner McKay, and pleaded guilty to a complaint charging that, from Nov. 1, 1883, to Oct. 1, 1885, he had unlawfully cohabited with Mary Morrow and Margaret McFarlane. His bonds were fixed at $1,500.

The second wife, who is a sister of the first, did not appear as a witness, as she had a child only two weeks old. The first wife has no children.

The accused, after his arrest, told the deputies that he had not been a "Mormon" for six or seven years (having been cut off for adultery), and that now he was caught he would plead guilty and promise to obey the law in the future. He will doubtless be an excellent addition to the ranks of the "truly loth" in the light of the unenviable position which he occupies.

Election Returns.—The following election returns have been received in addition to those published yesterday:

Table with 2 columns: Precinct Name and Votes. Includes Davis County, Cache County, Rich County, Juab County, Brigham City, North Jordan, Huntsville, and Harrisville.

Shot Through the Heart.—On Tuesday afternoon, at Bingham Canon, a Celestial known as Chan Sing was shot through the heart and instantly killed. Parties outside of the building where the unfortunate man was rushed inside, where they discovered Charley Lee Wy, wringing his hands apparently in great agony, King Chung and his wife, and another Chinaman. In answer to the question as to who did the deed, nothing could be elicited except that the dead man had killed himself. An examination showed, however, that the fatal wound had been inflicted from behind, the ball having entered below the left shoulder, passed through the heart, and come out at the left breast.

The three Chinamen and the Chinawoman were lodged in jail and Sheriff Burt was notified, and went to Bingham yesterday. An inquest was held over the body of the dead Mongolian, at which Charley Lee Wy testified that he was handling a 32-calibre revolver. The weapon was rusty, so that he could not raise the hammer, and he applied coal oil. When he again attempted to lift the hammer it came up a short distance, but being greasy, slipped, and the weapon was discharged. Chan Sing was standing about six feet distant, and the ball struck him in the back, with the result stated. The other two Chinamen and the woman were in the next room and came in, and it was at this juncture that the outside parties arrived on the scene. The story of Charley Lee Wy was corroborated by the condition of the revolver and other evidence, and he was released on the jury rendering a verdict that the deceased came to his death as the result of an accident. The Celestial in whose hands the weapon was when discharged, feels very bad over the affair. He was just preparing to return to China to take up his abode there, and was going to pack the pistol with his goods.

FROM IDAHO.

THE PEOPLE HAVE A SHOWING AFTER ALL.

Special to the DESERET NEWS.]

PARIS, Idaho, Nov. 4.

As near as can now be determined, the People's ticket elected a representative to the Legislature, Prosecuting Attorney, Probate Judge, Auditor and Recorder, Treasurer, the three County Commissioners, the Superintendent of Schools, and Coroner, by small majorities. There is a tie on the County Surveyor. The anti-Mormons elected the Sheriff and Assessor.

Dubois has twenty majority in the county.

Col. Woods, the Democratic Joint Councilman candidate, has twenty-four majority in the county.

FROM FRIDAY'S DAILY, NOV. 5

An Arrest.—On Wednesday Deputy Marshal Exum returned to Ogden from Piedmont, Wyo., having in charge

Timothy Parkinson, whom he had arrested at the latter place on an indictment found against him, and which charges unlawful cohabitation. Mr. Parkinson is a resident of Wellsville. He was placed under $1,500 bonds to await trial in the First District Court.

Third District Court.—To-day William Stanton a petit juror, was excused.

The United States vs. N. V. Jones et al. The Court allows amendment to statement in part, and settlement of bill of exceptions is made.

J. W. Rands et al. vs. E. Brain. B. Wayland, Mr. Lee and B. H. Schettler were sworn and testified. Evidence closed for the defense. C. O. Whittemore, attorney for plaintiff, concluded his address to the jury at noon and Court took a recess till 2 p. m.

New Building.—A contract has been closed between Z. C. M. I. and Fred. Foulger stipulating the erection of a brick addition to the Co-op. building by Mr. Foulger. The addition will be made on the north side and will cover the entire ground between the present building and the new block of David Eccles, its dimensions being 14 by 80 feet, three stories high. The lower story will be used for a passage-way for teams to the interior of the lot. Work will begin immediately, and by New Year's it is expected the new addition will be ready for occupancy.—Ogden Herald.

Chicken Stealing.—This morning four boys, all under 14 years of age, were brought into the Police Court to answer to the charge of petit larceny. They were Moroni Caldwell, John Kener, Reese Briscoe and Alonzo Sadler (who is under suspended sentence for a similar offense.) They are accused of having stolen a number of chickens at different times, and also to have indulged in the habit of pilfering potatoes from a vegetable vendor's wagon. All of the witnesses for the prosecution were not able to attend to-day, so the case was deferred until 10 a. m. to-morrow.

Arrest of a Supposed Murderer.—Marshal Dyer has now in custody at the penitentiary Christian Maier, whose real name is believed to be Sprouts, and is holding him for the Nebraska officers. It is alleged that Maier committed a murder last September, in Adams County, Nebraska, and after his arrest escaped from custody. He came west and engaged in his trade, that of butcher, at Ogden. He was arrested on a description sent to the Marshal, who received a dispatch from the sheriff of Adams County this morning, stating that he had sent for Maier, who will probably be taken east to-morrow.

Detroit District.—From a gentleman just in from this mining district, which is located in the western part of Millard County, we learn that it is an extremely rich but at present very poor district. After establishing a mill with five stamps to work the ore, the returns have been so small that they did not pay expenses of mining; but by running a magnet through the tailings, and making an assay of the iron clinging thereto, the startling fact was developed that they were worth $1,600 per ton, gold, the latter being encased in scales of magnetic iron. There is also plenty of black sand worth $700 a ton, but the magnet does not draw the precious metal nor can it be extracted by means of the recently constructed concentrator. A big percentage is offered any one who can devise a practicable and profitable plan for getting at the yellow metal, and as there seems to be plenty of it, it is, at the figures named, worth some expert's or chemist's serious attention. The majority of the locators are poor men, and as a consequence not much work is being done.

Arrest of Another Who "Promised."—The Ogden Herald says that on Wednesday evening Deputy Whetstone came in from Evanston, having in charge A. J. Kershaw, whom he had arrested on a charge of unlawful cohabitation, alleged to have been committed between December 1st, 1885, and November, 1886. He was taken before Commissioner Wardleigh and placed under temporary bonds to appear at 10 o'clock Thursday morning. At that hour he came, and, in the absence of witnesses for the prosecution, was bound over to appear again in the sum of $3,000, security being furnished by his first wife, S. J. Kershaw and A. H. Wright, Esq. For one of the witnesses, who, it was said, is in such a condition that she is unable to appear, security in the sum of $500 was also required, and was furnished by Mrs. Kershaw and B. Malan.

It will be remembered that Mr. Kershaw was indicted on two counts at the November term of court last year. On one of these counts, the first one, he was convicted, and on the second, for the want of evidence, he was acquitted. Sentence was suspended by the court in consequence of the defendant's promise to obey the law.

A Hunter's Death.—The Laramie Boomerang gives the following account of the tragic end of a hunter in Wyoming:

"From Adam Esterhazy, a hunter who has spent the summer and fall in the Rattlesnake Mountains, the reporter yesterday heard the story of a hunter's death.

The event occurred about three weeks since, and the victim was Abner Arnold, the almost life-long friend and comrade of Adam Esterhazy. In fact "Ad" and "Ab" were known as brothers in feeling if not in blood, among the hunters and trappers of the northwest, from the mountains of Colorado to the waters of the great British lakes. The men had passed an ordinary lifetime together during the long years of which they had sat by the same camp fire, eaten from the same dish, slept in the same blankets, succored each other in a thousand dangers, thought the same thoughts and rejoiced in the same rude and hearty pleasures.

Last winter they spent trapping on the headwaters of the great McKenzie river, and when spring came, and they had disposed of their peltries, they determined to make a summer trip to the southward. Passing through Montana they entered Wyoming, and early in the summer reached the Rattlesnake range. Here, finding plenty of deer, bears and elk, they determined to stay for the season. The expedition savored more of a summer holiday than actual work, and they enjoyed themselves accordingly.

About a month ago, they were camped in a deep gorge of the Rattlesnake. One night they were aroused from their slumbers by a noise in camp, and peering forth discovered a huge silver-tip bear in the act of pulling down the carcass of a fine black-tail deer Esterhazy had shot during the preceding day. Arnold at once, rifle in hand, dashed from the tent and fired on the intruder. The bear turned tail and fled up the mountain side. Arnold pursued him, and both the bear and the adventurous hunter soon disappeared in the darkness.

Esterhazy lost no time in following, but in the gloom of the night lost track of the man and the bear, and eventually retraced his steps to camp. He had not been there long before he overheard the sound of a confused struggle. The sounds appeared to come from the very edge of the precipice overhanging the gorge, and in a few moments there shot down through the darkness the bodies of Arnold and the bear, alighting in the very camp itself. Both were instantly killed by the frightful fall, and both even in death retained the grip they had fastened on each other, on the edge of the fatal precipice.

Burying, with rude hunter justice, the two gallant foes where they had mutually fallen, Esterhazy, heart-broken at the loss of his friend and more than brother, wandered away from the Rattlesnake, and is now on his way to the mountains of Arizona and New Mexico, to forget, if possible, in new scenes the memory of old and happy days spent with his dead comrade.

WHICH IS IT?

SALT LAKE CITY, November 4th, 1886.

Editor Deseret News:

I see by the Tribune that the election created such interest that Ed. Pitts got out and voted for the first time in 14 years. That is my name, and unless there is some other person bearing that cognomen who is referred to, the statement is untrue.

Respectfully, Ed. PITTS, Of the Sixth Ward.

FROM SATURDAY'S DAILY NOV. 6.

Election at Beaver.—The election passed off quietly at Beaver. It was, in fact, a very tame affair. Beaver City polled 227 votes for Hon. John T. Caine and 36 for Ferry.

Half Rates.—The National Stock Convention meets at Chicago from November 16th to 20th. For this convention the Union Pacific will make a half rate to Omaha from the principal stations in Utah and Idaho.

The Immigrants' Baggage.—A dispatch received in this city this afternoon by Francis Cope, Esq., of the Utah Central, stated that the baggage of the last company of immigrants, which had been delayed at Omaha, had been forwarded and would reach this city on Monday. It will be distributed on Tuesday.

Court Notes.—Proceedings in the Third District Court to-day: J. W. Rands et al. vs. Edward Brain; Arthur Brown closes argument for the defendant (and P. L. Williams for the plaintiff); Court charges the jury, and the latter retire at 12 m. They had not returned with a verdict when we went to press.

Frauk Wright vs. M. S. Ascheim et al.; on trial before a jury.

United States vs. Henry H. Hawthorne; polygamy; demurrer to indictment argued and submitted.

Second Term.—Parents and guardians of children whom they would like to see attending a first-class institution of learning, are referred to the notice published by the University of Deseret, in another column, which announces that the second term of the current academic year of that institution will begin on Monday, the 15th instant. Commencing classes will be organized in all the preparatory, and some in the academic studies. For further information relative to the instruction, send for Annual, or apply to John R. Park, President.

A Narrow Escape.—At Washington, Utah, on Sunday morning, October 31st, at about 4 o'clock, in a house belonging to Brother Miller Iverson, the middle beam gave way, causing the roof to fall in and the wall to spread out, leaving the inmates in a critical condition. Two ladies, namely, Marcena Iverson and Matilda Sandberg, were in bed in the house and were awakened by the crash. A piece of heavy timber fell between them, knocking a hole in the pillow. Fortunately there were two boys sleeping in the stackyard, who heard the sound, and rushed to the rescue. They pulled the adobe away and the inmates escaped unhurt.

Petty Thieving.—Instances of the loss of small articles from the premises of different citizens have been reported very frequently of late, and no part of the city seems exempt. The carrying away of wood, coal, tools, clothing, and anything that is found loose outside the houses or in sheds, appears to be made a practice by parties who operate in every quarter of town. An instance took place in the First Ward this week. A set of buggy harness, which had been left outside of a barn, was carried off, and from a house near by a barrel of cider and an overcoat were missed. The next night three bushels of potatoes were taken. An effort should be made to capture and punish the parties engaged in this nefarious business.

James Newton Arrested.—At 6 o'clock this morning Deputy Marshal Greenman arrested James Newton, at the latter's home in the Tenth Ward, on the charge of unlawful cohabitation. Sarah G. Newton and Sarah M. Newton, the defendant's wife and daughter, were subpoenaed as witnesses. Mr. Newton, who is an aged and infirm man, was brought before Commissioner McKay, and listened to the reading of the complaint, which was sworn to by D. W. Ruch, and charged him with having lived with Elizabeth Newton and Sarah Doe Newton as his wives, from December 1, 1883, to November 1, 1886. The accused pleaded guilty, and was placed under $1,500 bonds to await the action of the grand jury. The witnesses also gave $200 bail each to appear before the inquisitors on November 22nd.

Obsequies.—The funeral service over the remains of the late Sister Martilla Smith was held in the 12th Ward school house yesterday afternoon. Elder John A. Druce presided, and Bishops O. F. Whitney and Wm. Thorn, and Elder B. H. Schettler addressed the assemblage. It was the request of Sister Smith that Bishop Whitney should be one of the speakers. He occupied about an hour, referring to the many noble qualities exhibited by the deceased during her lifetime, the persecutions she had suffered during the early days of the Church, and gave some excellent teaching to those present on the principle of charity.

The relatives of Sister Smith desire to express their gratitude to those who, during the sickness and at the funeral of the deceased, performed many acts of kindness.

Academy at Beaver.—Our correspondent "Moonshoe" writing from Beaver, on the 3d inst., says:

Among other enterprises, as an additional lever to implant an increase of faith in the hearts of the youth of Beaver, an academy was formally opened on the 2nd inst., in the upper rooms of the Co-operative store, which will accommodate 90 pupils. Patriarch Daniel Tyler offered the dedicatory prayer, after which appropriate remarks were made by R. Stoney and D. Grimshaw, directors, and also by President Burdock and Elder K. Maesser. The latter will be the principal and have the control of the institution, conducting it after the manner of the B. Y. Academy at Provo. He opened with 28 pupils and with the prospects of a large attendance from Beaver, as well as a sprinkling from adjacent counties. From the spirit manifested in the undertaking, it bids fair to become one of the leading high schools in the Territory.

Raid on Centreville.—About eight o'clock last night Deputy Arthur Pratt and a number of assistants made a raid on Centreville, Davis County. John Adams, superintendent of the Centreville Co-operative, was arrested at the store and brought to this city, arriving about 11 p. m. He was kept at the Cliff House over night, and this morning taken before Commissioner McKay. The complaint against him, sworn to by D. W. Ruch, alleges that, from December 1, 1883, to November 1, 1885, he had lived with Mariette Adams and Lizzie Cleveland Adams as his wives. The defendant stated that he desired to waive examination, and the Commissioner remarked, "Well, there is no District Attorney here, and I guess I'll let him do it." The bonds were accordingly fixed at $1,500, L. S. Hills and Wm. H. Streep being sureties. Six witnesses were required to furnish $200 bonds, each, to appear before the grand jury on Monday, November 22d, and John Ford and Aaron Porter became sureties for Mrs. Mariette Adams, Mrs. Cleveland, Wm. Cleveland, Misses Olla and Jessie Cleveland and Annie Adams.

THE STOCK INTEREST.

A PROMINENT REPRESENTATIVE'S VIEWS.

Meeting Dr. Faust to-day, our representative asked him what he thought of Utah stockmen going to the Chicago Convention, to which he replied—"Well, there is nothing in it for Utah stockmen. When we went to St. Louis last year and the year before, we had a grand time of course, seeing the sights and partaking of the luxuries, but that was all; the convention did nothing
