EDITORIAL NOTES.

The secret of happiness is never to allow your energies to stagnate.

The cost of feeding the Grand Army in Denver next month is estimated at $20,000.

A number of signal service stations have been discontinued owing to the failure of Congress to make adequate appropriation for their support.

It is stated that among the enterprises soon to be undertaken by the D. & R.G. road will be the sinking of an artesian well in the Utah desert. It is to be hoped that the project will be a success.

One more has been added to the novel methods of committing suicide, by an Italian in San Joaquin Cal., who tried to beat out his brains with a boot-jack. He didn't succeed. No brains there, perhaps.

In St. Louis, the agitation of the subject of school discipline has resulted in this decision that after September 1st there shall be no corporal punishment administered in the public schools of that city.

Blaine predicts that unless the Democrats make some egregious mistakes they will elect a President in 1894. A great many other politicians who are wise in their generation are predicting the same thing.

A Roman correspondent writes that, after a long experience in Italian cities, he gives the palm to Rome for a summer climate, on account of the regularity of the evening breezes and the coolness of the nights. By following the natives' precautions, summer in Rome is both pleasant and safe.

One hundred and sixty female clerks are employed in the Bank of France. Their salary to begin with is sixty cents a day, which after a year or two is increased to $300 annually. They sit in rooms apart from the men, are superintended by officials of their own sex and their work is very satisfactory.

The movement in favor of woman suffrage in England appears to be gaining strength. A memorial to the Prime Minister is signed by 108 Liberal members, including the "most cautious Whigs and most cautious Radicals," by a dozen members of the administration, and by Sir Stafford Northcote and several Conservatives.

A wealthy pork packer of Milwaukee, Frederick Layton, proposes to erect an art gallery at a cost of $100,000, and present it to the city, unhampered by conditions or restrictions. He will go to Europe immediately, to select plans and pictures. Let it no longer be said that pork packing and high art are incompatible.

At Bay St. Louis, the other day, a bolt of lightning came out of a clear sky and killed two cattle dealers, melting gold and silver coins in their pockets and striking terror to the hearts of the inhabitants in all the region round about. It is suggested as probably a manifestation of Divine wrath because of the exorbitant prices charged for beef, and should serve as a warning to other meat-venders throughout the land.

The special mission from England to the Moscow coronation was rather an expensive affair. The items of estimate are: Rent of house $10,000; expenses of transport and incidental charges for Her Majesty's Ambassador and members of the embassy and servants, maintenance of suite, hire of horses and carriages and transport of same, $10,000; cost of transport and incidental expenses of special embassy, $5,000; gratuities, illuminations and unforeseen expenses, $5,000. These items make up a total of $30,000.

Not having succeeded in inducing the British Government to sanction the annexation of Queensland, the Australian colonies are now urging the absorption of the New Hebrides, the Solomon Islands, and other neighboring groups. But it is only a few months since Lord Derby called the attention of the French Government to signs that the latter was contemplating the annexation of a group of South Pacific Islands, and received for a reply that France had no such intention, and expected England also to refrain from so objectionable a policy.

The Shaker doctrine as now formulated, presents the following points: Belief in a God who is over all. That in the Godhead are the male and female principles, Father and Mother. That created by Him and sent forth by Him are many spirits who will guide safely those to whom they are sent. The highest of these spirits is the Christ, first descending upon Jesus, who was the son of Mary and Joseph, and then upon Ann Lee. The direct guidance of every believer by the Christ order of spirits. The rejection of the books called the Holy Scriptures as containing all the word of God. The consequent disuse of the sacraments commanded in the Bible. The enforcement of virgin purity, abstinence from marriage, and from all that offends against chastity. A community of goods, of affection and interests. The following of the moral virtues: love, peace, justice, holiness, goodness, truth. An open confession of every known sin. Temperance, non-resistance, freedom from worldly ambition.

THEY HAVE THE RIGHT.

"The Mormons seem to be getting as firm a footing in Idaho as they have in Utah. Evidently the government does not believe in the old maxim that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

That is from the Chicago Inter-Ocean. Now, will the great organ of the Republicans in the city by the lake please tell us what the government has to do with preventing the "Mormons" or any other citizens from settling in Idaho? The country is open for people of all creeds and classes, and we do not know of any provision in the land laws which reserves the public domain for orthodox believers. The "Mormons" have as good a right to go upon the public lands in Idaho as any other part of this great country, and we notice that "Mormon" money is just as acceptable to land office officials as Methodist money or infidel money.

This continual worry about Idaho and Arizona and other places being occupied by the "Mormons" is extremely inconsistent and foolish, and stings at the government, often indulged in by opposition papers, ought not to be repeated by an Administration organ like the Inter-Ocean, particularly when they are as senseless as those in the paragraph we have quoted. The Government cannot establish a system of espionage to find out whether a pre-emptor or homesteader is a "Mormon," and if such a spy scheme were adopted, there is no law or regulation, and cannot be, to prevent a "Mormon" from acquiring title to real estate.

Idaho is in no danger. The settlers upon its unoccupied lands are composed of many kinds and classes, and those who belong to the "Mormon" Church will compare favorably with any other in all the qualities that go to make good and valuable citizens of a new region, where energy, union, patience, sobriety and determination are requisites to the general prosperity.

Every "Mormon" who takes up his abode in Idaho adds greatly to the strength, wealth and permanence of the Territory.

A WILD GOOSE CHASE.

A PREACHER by the name of Chase, and hailing from New York, lectured a few days ago to the Young Men's Christian Association in San Francisco. His subject was not new but he made it startling; it was "Mormonism." The lecture was chiefly remarkable for the speaker's total lack of information on the subject. We do not know the gentleman, nor understand the reason why he chose "Mormonism" on which to speak to the young men of San Francisco. Probably, on his way from the Atlantic to the Pacific, he spent a few hours in Salt Lake, and like other tourists, particularly the preaching kind, who call and take a quaint air and hurry on, he was impressed with the idea that he was qualified therefor to enlighten the world in regard to Utah and the "Mormons," their history, religion, politics, social life and the true method of solving the problem.

He told the old stories related in ridiculous romances, under the idea that he was giving the history of "Mormonism," repeated the current falsehood about "Mormon" missionaries enticing "the lowest classes from abroad" under the promise of giving them land, while they were kept in ignorance of the real principles of their religion; and dilated upon "the blotting out of the shameful system by the aid of the telegraph and railway," and also upon the gentle schools, "to which the children of the "Mormons" whom," he said, "it has been always endeavored to keep in ignorance of secular matters are being sent," and much more in the same stupid and untruthful vein. His closing remarks are thus summarized in the San Francisco Chronicle:

"The speaker went so far as to express himself in favor of denouncing the trial by jury to Mormonism, and while he admitted that such words might be thought strange and unbecoming as voiced by a minister of the Gospel, the speaker prayed and desired it known that God would hasten on the day when Mormonism and all its sinful and debasing effects might be blotted out of the republic by the blood-red hand of war—a last contingency which the speaker thought not at all unlikely if the other silent fact failed."

Mr. Chase—Rev. John M. Chase, of New York, is a specimen "Christian" minister of modern times. Having adopted preaching as a profession, and knowing that he has no more power to officiate in the divine calling than he has to act as an ambassador for the Czar of Russia, he desires to crush out a system which exposes the weakness of his pretensions and enlightens the world upon religious imposture. He knows also that "Mormonism" cannot be affected by argument or scripture, unless it be to build it up, and therefore, he wants its adherents denied the rights accorded to the lowest criminal, and, other means failing, desires them swept away, blotted out, destroyed by the blood-red hand of war!"

A dear, good, pious soul, this "Rev." Chase, is he not a fit companion for the gentle Talmage, who advocates the conversion of the "Mormons" by "underlying them to the seventh commandment with United States artillery." What he says is not of much consequence, of course, we mention it just to put him on the record as all his kind should be. He will do us more good than harm, for every one who hears him who is not utterly blinded with prejudice, will see the malice that would destroy those whom it cannot convert, and be led to examine a system which orthodox gospel-mongers cannot hope to conquer except by "the blood-red hand of war." It is instructive to mind who this Chase of New York can be, we have come to the conclusion that he must be that one we have all heard about many times, in childhood's days if not later—"wild-goose Chase."

A number of the members of the Salt Lake Bicycle Club took a ten-mile spin last evening, on their silent steeds.

A Murderous Outlaw.

St. Louis, 29.—At Blende City, Jasper County, Mo., yesterday, Lane Britton was arrested by A. N. Davis, constable of Granby, assisted by G. G. Davis, of Joplin, and Huston, of Neosho. The charge against Britton was for a murder committed some time ago. Lane Britton was permitted to go into his house to obtain his coat. He reappeared with a revolver, opened fire on his captors and instantly killed A. N. Davis and shot G. G. Davis in the head, mortally wounding him. He then mounted a fleet horse and fled. A large party of citizens followed in pursuit, but Britton probably escaped into the Indian Territory.
