

U. OF U. CAMPUS OR S. L. THEATER?

Question Which Faculty and Students Are Discussing up On the Hill.

AS TO GRADUATION IN 1936

College Class Wants to Hold Exercises On the Campus Separate and Apart From Normal Graduates.

With the opening of the second semester at the University of Utah, candidates for graduation are filing their applications, and from present prospects the University will turn out a class twice as large as its nearest previous rival. Instead of the mere handful of college seniors who have shared graduation honors in former years with a large number of normal school graduates, whose work is entirely on a different grade from that of the University, this year the candidates for degrees number 40 students. They are made up of 19 applicants for the degree of bachelor of arts, 15 for the degree of B. S. in mining engineering, 5 for the degree of B. S. in electrical engineering, and 1 for the degree of B. S. in mechanical engineering.

In addition to the college graduates the normal school will this year turn out 161 graduates, and kindergarten, course, 3 graduates making a total to appear in the graduating exercises, all told, of 146 students, provided the exercises are combined, as usual.

CONSOLIDATION TALK.

But whether they will be combined is considerable of a question. Last year the college students accepted the ultimatum of graduating with those of the normal school, with very little grace, and declared it was a poor recognition of their four years of university work, to have them attend and with people who had even started university work. The protest of the students then became quite strong, but was abandoned on the explanation from President Kingsbury that the exercises were already arranged for, and it was too late to change the plan.

AGITATION EARLY.

This year, however, the agitation is beginning early, both in the faculty and among the students, and it is probable that a lively disagreement will occur before a final program is outlined. The college men are of the opinion that a college campus does not need a "down town show house" to help out the graduating effect, and that to carry the exercises on to the campus, where the prospective alumnus of much that tender regard for the college walks and halls which he usually carries away from most colleges. If after listening to lectures in the college halls for four years, he must go to a down town show house to receive his degree and become an alumnus, the campus never will grow sacred to the students, and therefore a change is advocated. The college men are perfectly willing to let the normal exercises be held in the Theater, but they rather favor separate exercises for themselves, on the campus.

Prof. Fred Reynolds took a decided stand on the question of campus graduations at the Alumni banquet in June last, favoring the abandonment of the custom of conducting them on the campus, at the earliest practicable date.

DIFFERENCE OF OPINION.

An effort to get at the sentiment in the faculty this year, shows that there is a decided difference of opinion. President Kingsbury declined to express himself on the matter, but the college men, who are in charge of the exercises, spoke in favor of separate commencement exercises, but not for a college commencement on the campus. He put this, however, on the ground that the largest available assembly room would still leave a demand for seats, and that therefore the Theater ought to be used as before. As to holding separate commencement exercises, the college men are of the opinion that it would be a good idea. There are 40 candidates for degrees and until the work in the Normal school is raised so that degrees can be conferred on graduates, the college men should have commencement exercises separate from the normal graduates.

ON THE CAMPUS.

Dr. J. F. Merrill, head of the Mining school, and who acts as president of the university in the absence of President Kingsbury, is against both separate commencement exercises on the campus, and the holding of the exercises on the campus. "I do not think," he declares, "that college and Normal students should have separate commencement exercises. Every graduate has the love of his Alma Mater, and the college men should have no distinction should be made. If we had the facilities I should say we ought to hold the exercises on the campus, as they are strictly a college function."

FAVORS NO CHANGE NOW.

Prof. B. R. Howell, who is in charge of the preparatory students, looks forward to a day when it will be possible to hold commencement on the campus, but at present thinks it undesirable, both to hold the exercises on the campus, or to make them separate.

DR. EBAUGH'S VIEW.

Dr. W. C. Ebaugh, head of the chemistry department, and also chairman of the committee on the subject, has a problem last year, and his opinion on the subject is that if the administrative building was finished campus exercises would be in order, but with the present conditions, the Theater on Salt Lake is the only practicable place. "I do not favor separate commencement exercises," he said, "although some distinction should be made between the college and Normal graduates. The plan of holding separate commencement exercises has proved a failure at other colleges."

SENIOR CLASS OPINION.

Karl Hopkins, president of the senior class, is taking up the matter of holding the exercises on the campus. "There are enough college graduates this year," he declares, "to make a good showing. They ought to have a chance to graduate on their campus, and also to be separated from the graduates of the Normal school, whose experiences have not been similar to theirs in their four years of work."

The final decision in the matter will probably rest with President Kingsbury and the committee on graduation exercises and on graduation, and how it will be settled cannot be guessed at this time.

UNIVERSITY CHRONICLE.

The sixth issue of the University of Utah Chronicle was issued today at the campus, and appeared to be well up to the usual standard. The leading feature

AUTHORS' CLUB MEETS.

Definite Steps Taken to Make Move Permanent and Profitable.

The first meeting of the newly formed Authors' club was held last evening at the Carlson studio, and brought together a representative body of local writers. All present expressed themselves as in perfect harmony with the objects of the club, and all were equally determined to push the idea to success. One writer, a lady who is fast coming to the front in the world of letters, stated that the time was ripe for the building up of an inter-mountain literature and that the only means at hand to that end was to aid and encourage writers through an organization like the one formed.

The membership of the club is growing, having doubled itself twice in the three weeks of its existence. Club rooms will soon be fitted up, so that the organization will not only have a name but a home as well, while Manager Young is already in communication with many publishers of the east.

HIGH SCHOOL OVERFLOW.

Will be Met by Adding the Union to Series of Buildings.

The fact that a large increase in the attendance of the High school is expected next year is responsible for a plan to increase its size by incorporating the Union school building, as an addition to the other buildings of the campus. The plan, which will necessitate the making of other provisions for the grammar grades now at the Union will be submitted to the board of education at its meeting next Tuesday evening.

ANOTHER DIVIDEND.

The meeting will be held in his court room Feb. 19. If the sale is approved the price, which is $2,205, will allow another dividend on the estate.

Later the physicians visited the home of Mr. Shupe and learned that the girl had been sent to Salt Lake. Inspector Power testified that he met Shupe Jan. 2, and he told him he had taken a ticket to the depot and bought her a ticket for Salt Lake. The defendant was on the stand in his own behalf when the court took an adjournment for the noon recess.

GRAVES STEPS OUT.

Notwithstanding the fact that George Graves, who has been at the head of the Ogden fire department for some months, stated that he would not give up his position without a vigorous protest, the gentleman turned over the keys to the department to T. J. Paine last night, and that gentleman is now in charge. When seen this morning, Mr. Graves stated that he had not fully made up his mind what to do, but he felt assured that the department was on the council was not regular in that he had held the position but a short time. ## STATE RESTS IN MURDER HEARING.

Attempt to Introduce Victim's Dying Statement But it is Ruled Out.

STORY OF EYE-WITNESSES.

Shooting Preceded by Heated Conversation Between Vatrella and Mazzza—After Frightened.

The state rested its case this morning in the trial of Frank Mazzza, charged with the murder of Joseph Vatrella on Sept. 5, 1935, but it is probable that Dist. Atty. Looftbourg will undertake to introduce in evidence the dying statement of Vatrella before the case is finally submitted to the jury. The evidence today was very brief and nothing of an unusual nature was brought out during the examination of the witnesses.

The first witness today was Dr. F. B. Richards, who attended Vatrella after he was taken to the hospital. He described the wound received by the victim and stated that Vatrella died from the effects of the wound. County Physician Whitney testified that he performed an autopsy over the remains of Vatrella, and stated that the wound which he described caused the man's death.

STATEMENT RULED OUT.

Fred Cerra testified that he saw Vatrella at St. Mark's hospital several days before his death and the latter told him that he expected to die. After this evidence Dist. Atty. Looftbourg attempted to introduce Vatrella's dying statement, but it was objected to by Atty. Newton for the defense and the statement was ruled out as hearsay. The production of authorities as to its admissibility by the district attorney.

VATRELLA WAS DRUNK.

Emanuel Campani stated that he saw Vatrella about 5 o'clock on the afternoon of the shooting and that the latter was drunk. He also saw him shortly before 7 o'clock on the same afternoon. Mazzza called him and saw Vatrella fall. He said that a man by the name of Riley picked Vatrella up. The witness saw Mazzza after the shooting. The state rested its case at the conclusion of the testimony of Campani and the court adjourned until this afternoon.

WIDOW'S TESTIMONY.

Yesterday afternoon the widow of the murdered man, Mrs. Raffaella Vatrella, told the story of the shooting. She said that she and her husband and two boarders were eating supper when Mazzza called Vatrella out. She went out with her husband and saw Mazzza and his wife on the sidewalk in front of the house. When her husband reached the gate she said the Mazzza wanted to know why her husband had talked so bad to Mrs. Mazzza after which statement he shot Vatrella. She said that her husband had no weapon on him when the shooting occurred. Mazzza and his wife ran away after the shooting and she helped her husband into the house.

HEARD CONVERSATION.

Joe Sacarino and James Ranini, commonly known as Jim Riley, stated that they heard the conversation between Vatrella and Mazzza but could not understand it. They said that Mazzza asked Vatrella why he did not talk better to Mrs. Mazzza. Ranini testified that he and Vatrella had been drinking together at that time.

James Love and Sadie Burt testified that they were standing across the street at the time of the shooting and heard all that was said. Sacarino did not understand the conversation. They both witnessed the shooting.

MAZZA WAS FRIGHTENED.

Capt. Burbridge of the police department, testified that he brought Mazzza back from Boulder, Colo., where he was captured. He said that Mazzza told him en route to this city that Vatrella had killed him. He said that Mazzza was so frightened that he did not want to leave the train after he arrived here.

WANTS A DIVORCE.

Camilla C. Pope Charges Husband With Cruelty and Drunkenness.

Camilla C. Pope today filed suit for divorce in the district court against her husband, Frank C. Pope, on the grounds of cruelty and habitual drunkenness. They were married in this city on Nov. 12, 1896, and have three children. It is alleged that for more than nine years past defendant has been cruel and brutal to his wife, and that he has been habitually drunk and violent. At various times he has made violent threats against plaintiff, and has abused her. On Jan. 4, 1936, he alleged that he ordered her to leave their home and go to her mother, and told her if she did not do it he would starve her to death. She asks for a divorce, the custody of their three children, $25 per month alimony, and a reasonable sum for attorney's fees and costs of suit.

ANOTHER UNHAPPY WIFE.

Suit for divorce was filed in the district court today by Rosanna Fliswood against F. A. Turner on the grounds of cruelty and failure to support. The parties were married in Devonshire, England, on June 17, 1917, nearly 23 years ago. Plaintiff alleges that Turner deserted her husband for 15 years, and that he has failed to provide for her and their two children. She asks for a divorce, the custody of their two children, and a reasonable sum for attorney's fees and costs of suit.
