

be carried on step by step, according to the development of the child, that is, it must be brought into psychological sequence. (5) At each point the instructor shall not go forward till that part of the subject has become the proper intellectual possession of the learner. (6) Instruction must follow the path of development, not the path of lecturing, teaching or telling. (7) To the educator the individuality of the child must be sacred. (8) Not the acquisition of knowledge or skill is the main object of elementary instruction, but the development and strengthening of the powers of the mind. (9) With knowledge must come power; with information, skill. (10) intercourse between educator and pupil, and school discipline especially, must be based on and controlled by love. (11) Instruction shall be subordinated to the aim of education. (12) The ground of moral-religious bringing up lies in the relation of mother and child.

RETURNED ELDERS.

The NEWS received a pleasant call today from the following missionaries who arrived in this city on Saturday evening, on their return from Europe. Elders John Dehlin, of Mount Pleasant, August Malmquist, of Vermillion, Emil B. Jensen, of Richfield, and H. P. Jorgensen, of Fountain Green. They left this city May 14, 1892, going by way of Liverpool to Copenhagen, Denmark, to preach the Gospel in the Scandinavian countries.

Elder Dehlin's labors were in the Malmo and Stockholm conferences of Sweden, where he met with many good friends and enjoyed his labors, which were attended with excellent success.

Elders Malmquist and Jensen also were attended with success in their work of spreading the Gospel in the Stockholm conference, where their mission was spent. They were well received, and like Elder Dehlin, enjoyed good health and spirits in the ministry.

Elder Jorgensen's field of labor was in the Copenhagen conference, Denmark, where there is a general indifference to the Gospel message. He met with many kind friends, however, and a goodly number who were interested in his message. During the first six months of his mission his health was quite poor, as the climate did not seem to agree with him; a change came, however, and during the past eighteen months he has been in good health.

These four Elders will remain in the city until tomorrow, when they will resume their journey homeward. The trip from Scandinavia was made by sea via Glasgow, theirs being the first Utah company to travel by that route. The voyage was around the north of Scotland, and at this season of the year was very pleasant. At Glasgow the change in vessels was made to the Anchor steamer Ethiopia, where all went pleasantly, as did the overland trip to Utah. The change from the cool climate of Scandinavia to August weather here is quite noticeable. The returned missionaries are highly pleased at being again in their mountain home.

With the party was Elder Peter S. Condie, of this city, who left here in May, 1893, and labored in the Scottish conference of the British mission. He enjoyed his work in the missionary field, meeting with many friends and good success. Through a severe cold contracted last spring he became seriously ill, but later improved considerably. Stomach trouble developed, however, and as his return to convalescence was regarded as not sufficiently rapid to justify him in remaining another season, he was released. Though much improved during the past few weeks, he is still in quite poor health, but hopes to steadily mend.

Elder Ludvig S. Hansen, of Brighton, has just returned from a mission to Sweden, where he has been since May 28, 1892. He labored the entire time in the Helsinburg branch of the Malmo conference, and reports that the prospects there are at present very encouraging. By those among whom he sojourned he was most kindly received, and his mission was both pleasant and profitable. On the return journey Elder Hansen remained one day in Denver, where he visited friends whom he had not met for seventeen years. He is in the best of health and pleased to be once more in his mountain home.

GOOD TIMES IN BEAR LAKE.

After addressing very crowded meetings of the Bear Lake Stake conference, at Paris, on Sunday morning and afternoon last, Elders Francis M. Lyman and Marriner Merrill, of the Council of the Apostles, came hither on Monday and held a series of meetings, commencing with the one convened at 5 p. m. on Monday, holding meetings at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. on Tuesday, and concluding with the one held today from 9 a. m. Everybody was very busy with haying, but gladly left all to hear these true and faithful friends of the people.

The remarks and labors of the brethren were eminently appropriate and seasonable, and the people listened with very earnest and grateful attention, and depart from this series of long to be remembered and cherished occasions with feelings of peace and determination to be doers of the Word as well as hearers.

The brethren were accompanied by Stake President Budge and his counselor—Elders Hart and Rich. They will meet today with the people of Garden City, at 2 p. m., with the Saints of St. Charles tomorrow, and will take a trip to the Star Valley Stake of Zion next week. Truly our Stake has been greatly favored and its interests enhanced by their visit and ministry. May heaven continue to bless them!

Our Stake conference last Saturday and Sunday was very largely and appreciatively attended. The preaching, singing, weather and general good will manifestations were all that could be desired.

The Third Annual Musical Festival held at the Tabernacle Saturday evening was a great treat and success.

Professor Paul gave his lecture at the Tabernacle Sunday evening on "The Good, the True and the Beautiful."

The general health of our people is excellent. Good crop prospects and this Stake of Zion prospers, all is well.

JOSEPH IRWIN,

TERRITORIAL PARAGRAPHS.

Harvest has commenced in earnest and it will be but a few days until the fields are covered with shocks of golden grain. There will be a good yield of grain and if the Oriental war will only raise the price of wheat Sanpete farmers will be right in the swim.

A. C. Nielson Jr. and Chris Lund have claimed a reservoir site in Willow Creek canyon. The boys intend to fill the reservoir in the fall after the watering season is ended and this will insure a large amount of extra water for next season. Their example should be followed by others until every available site for storing water is utilized.

Says the Richfield Advocate: Just northeast of Pleasant Grove, in Utah county, are the famous onyx mines of Davey & Warner. A tunnel run into the mountain during the present spring and summer has just tapped a cave of vast proportions. It is of unknown depth, having been sounded for 1,000 feet and no bottom found. Its floor is of onyx, the purest and rarest. It dips with the mountain side, except that it is nearer the perpendicular.

Ephraim Enterprise: The question of draining the swamp west of town is again being talked up and it is expected that work will commence on it this fall. As near as we can learn it is intended to raise the grade of the road about three feet with a ditch on the north side to carry the water over to the west side of the swamp. Gates will be made in the grade and ditches constructed through the swamp so the water can be turned on when necessary. All persons owning property there are expected to assist in the work and all citizens should assist in raising the grade so a good roadway can be made to the west side.

There was quite a sensation in our midst last Sunday, says the Kaysville Eagle. A Mr. Lyons and family arrived in our town on the morning passenger train from California. They came with the expectation of taking charge of a hotel, but to their surprise found that no such hotel as they expected to find was or ever had been in existence. They came here on representations made by one Walker, the "Blackberry King," as he claimed to be. Walker represented himself as a man of means, owning a hotel here, and another at some point in Idaho. He said the place here was paying well, and that if they would come and take charge of it he would make the rent a nominal sum, saying that the present occupants were not giving entire satisfaction. After considerable talk he persuaded them to come to take charge of the place he claimed to have, but which failed to materialize. It will be remembered that about fourteen months ago this same "Blackberry King" was in this city, and jumped his board bill. Lyons is the second man that Walker has fooled on the hotel business, and he will probably be the last, as Mr. Lyons returned to Ogden the same day and had Sheriff Belnap put on the track of Walker, who was in Ogden Sunday morning.

John Donovan of Butte, Mont., was killed in the Hope mine at Basin on Saturday night, while blasting.
