JUDICIAL INCONGRUITY.

THE decision of the Supreme Court of Utah in regard to the officers to be elected in this city, so far as it goes, appears to be good law. But it leaves the main question in a very unsatisfactory condition. If the officers to be elected are those named in the act of the last Territorial Legislature, then the manner of electing them must be such as is prescribed in that law. But a former decision of the same court rules to the contrary on the latter point, and thus the two decisions are incongruous.

The law providing that under certain conditions the municipal government to be elected in a city of the first class shall be a mayor and fifteen councilmen, three from each ward, also provides that "The mayor shall be chosen by the qualified voters of their respective cities, and the councilmen shall be chosen by the qualified voters of their respective wards." The court now
