OGDEN NEWS. OGDEN, UTAH, - JULY 8, 1901. FUNERAL OF HARRY HAINES

Impressive Services Held in the Fourth Ward Meeting House, Sunday.

District Court Notes - No Further Hearings Till August 20, Except by Consent.

The funeral services over the remains, of Harry D. Haines, one of Ogden's most prominent young men, was held at the Fourth ward meeting house yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock, Bishop E. Woolley presiding. Appropriate music was furnished by the ward choir. The first speaker was Elder Moses Thatcher, who spoke of his acquaintance with the deceased, and of his noble life and character. In beautiful language the speaker eulogized the life of the deceased, who was taken away just as he was merging into manhood

Elder E. H. Nye, who presided over the California mission during the time that Harry was there as a missionary, told of the energy and unceasing la-bors of the deceased while preaching Gospel and of his humility and aithfulness under all circumstances. Elder Lorin Farr made a few closing remarks of comfort and consolation to the bereaved mother and sisters, Mrs. Lizzie B. Culley sang a beautiful solo, and Orson Griffin and Joseph Goddard sang, "I Need Thee Every Hour." The meeting house was well filled ith sympathizing friends, and many beautiful floral designs were laid on the casket as tokens of love and eseem for the departed. A large funeral cortege followed the remains to the city cemetery, where they were intered by the side of his father.

The pail-bearers were: George A. Poulter, Alfred Oborn, Arnold Bowman, Rallo Emmett, Edward Watkins and Heber Sharp, all missionary compan-

The hot weather is sending many people to the canyon; several business men have their families camping in Provo canyon and themselves spend the night there, coming down in the morn-ing to attend to their business in the city during the day. An arrest of ten boys who were bathing in Spring creek near the R. G. W. track, was made Saturday. The boys were small and badly frightened. and their conduct had not been very obnoxious, so after a lecture and a promise on the part of the boys not to go in swimming at the place any more, they were permitted to go. There are, however, a class of large boys who have ben in the habit of bathing in of the trains and a sharp lookout is being kept for them. They will not be so lenlently dealt with if arrested, which they will be if the practice does not cease.

SOLDIERS ON A SPREE.

A lively time was experienced Saturday night at the Union depot when a train load of soldiers arrived in the city, many of them being under the inuence of liquor. They became boisterous and wanted to fight. One of them had some words with a civilian and the words resulted in blows. Two police officers attempted to arrest the soldier when several of his comrades came to his rescue, but they were overpowered by the officers and two of the blue ats were taken to the police station Later the civilian was standing by the our of the station when one of the oldiers struck him a hard blow in the ace, but he had no more than dealt the blow when a bystander gave him a right hander, which laid the blue coat out for about five minutes, this seemed to sober up the gang. The command-ing officer went to the police staton and had the soldiers released, on his omise to take them with him out of town, which he did.

It was a happy day for Sells and Grey's circus that they got out of Og-den Saturday night without serious With the show was a gang "sure thing" men who worked the people to a finish with their "sure" games, and they did not stop with sames, but picked pockets, and simply robbed the people. Several parties re-ported to the police of being relieved of amounts from $5 to $20, but the men after playing their game made their escape and the police could not find them.

and machine men's strike in the Pittsburg mills, as the machinery for the factory was ordered from the Carnegie plants. The steel should have been delivered here, according to contract, by May 15, but it is not all here yet. Several carloads have arrived, and also considerable machinery, but the steel has come in disconnected lots, and it was impossible to proceed with the building until the connecting portions arrived. The foundations for the buildings are completed, and the representative of the steel firm and gangs of men to put up the steel frame work are here so the delay is perhaps not the fault of the steel company, but Supt. Anderson thinks that shipping agents have been unable to fill contracts so well since the strike began. Again, some of the machinery is so large that it must be enclosed in the building, and the strike caused the delay in forwarding this machinery. "However," said Mr. Anderson, "I am pleased to see in today's paper that a settlement is close at hand, so that our machinery may begin to move. As soon as the steel and machines arrive we will put on as many men as can be handled to advantage, and we will work night and day but what we have the building and plant ready for this season's beet crop. If the strike loosens up soon we can have it ready. We will employ from 150 to 200 men, run night and day shifts and push everything right through to completion. The strike has been very unfortunate for us, and its termination will be a blessing."

The beet crop throughout the valley is progressing splendidly. One farm-er at Hyde Park has beets three inches in diameter right now. The yield promises to be very heavy, and the non-completion of the factory would be a severe blow to all concerned. Apostle Brigham Young is meeting with the Saints of the Benson Stake to-
