"My Dear Sir:—Your favor of the Stin inst., saying that a change in the Indian policy of the administration is reported to be contemplated, is just received. Such a thing has not been thought of at present. If the policy towards the Indians can be improved, in any way, I will always be ready to receive suggestions on the subject, but if any change is made it must be on the side of the civilization and Christianiza-tion of the Indian. I do not believe our Creator ever placed different races of men on this earth with the view of having the stronger exert all his energies in exterminating the weaker. If any change takes place in the Indian policy of the government while I hold my present office, it will be on the humanitarian side of the question.

Very truly yours, (signed)

U. S. GRANT.

NEW YORK, 23.—The representatives of the two German American associations presented Elihu B. Washburne an address, expressive of grateful recognition of his kindness toward the German residents of Paris during the horrors of the siege, not only in carrying out the liberal instructions of his government, but in the tions of his government, but in the voluntary sacrifice of his own personal comforts, and giving cheerfully from his own shares to the needy and stary-ing Germans. Minister Washburne, in reply says the credit for his acts is due to the administration of Prest. Grant under whose specific direction he complied with the request of the German government, to assume the protection of the Germans in France. He felt that ne correctly interpreted the feelings of the government and people of the U.S. when he followed the inclinations of his own heart in doing what he did. If he was able to send 30,000 Germans out of Paris before the gates of the city were finally closed, it was because of the unbounded liberality of the German government, which furnished the means, and the French government gave him every support. If he was able during the last terrible days of

BINDING AND PAPER RULING the siege, to secure protection and furnish the means of support to three thousand Germans, who flocked to our legation, it was because the good of national defense caused his position to be respected, and if he was able, after the seige to continue that protection it was because he had the support of the French Republic, and the illustrious man Thiers at the head of the Government. "Perhaps," says Washburne, "nothing could better example the power of our country and the respect paid to our flag than that the Commune of Paris, in its career of crime and blood, released, on my demand, more than a hundred Germans who had been thrown into prison, guiltless of any crime, and subjected to frightful persecutions." BERLIN, 28 .- There is a conflict bethe Prussian Diet, on the country reform bill, which provides for the local self government of the rural districts. The bill, which was adopted by the chamber of deputies in the last seasion, came before the house of Lords at the beginning of the present session, has metsines with determined opposition. A majority of the deputies threaten to resign if the Upper house refuses to pass the bill. The Emperor has declared in favor of it.
