The most important discovery in Grass Valley during the past ten years was made at the Coe mine on Sunday evening list. It was the incovering of an immense ledge over four feet in width in virgin ground, of solid forma-tion, with gold sprinkled all over the outer edges of it of great richness. The one is identical in character, with that ore is identical in character with that of the famous Eureka-blaho-Maryland veln, and there is no room for questioning that a mine as great as either of these has been discovered in the Coe.— Virginia Enterprise

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION MEETS.

Brother-Tomorrow being your birthday, we had hoped that you would have been with us; but we learn, to our re-gret, that this evening you leave for gret, that this evening you leave for the distant south, and we shall be deprived of the blessing of your presence and teachings. But while you journey from us, be assured that we shall not forget that sixty-two years ago you first saw the light of this world in the troublous days of the Missouri persecutions. Nor shall we forget your many labors in behalf of the peòple of God and for righteousness' sake, which have endeared you to all who claim to be Saints: and as a token of our rebe Saints: and as a token of our regard and affection. I, in behalf of this convention of Sunday school workers, present you with this bouquet of fragrant flowers, trusting it will give you as unalloyed pleasure to accept them as it does us to place them in your hands, while we invoke the blessing of our heavenly Father to rest upon you and yours in all your future life and throughout all elemity."

President Cannon desired to emphasize the importance of the last subject discussed by President Smith. He deplored the growing disinclination to marriage particularly. deferring particularly the tendency to defer it to later life. An effort should be made by the Sunday school teachers to correct this growing evil, that there may be fewer unmarried in the communities of the Saints. Singing practice followed under the direction of Elder T. C. Griggs, who conducted all the musical exercises of this session. "Did you think to pray?"
"Sweet is the work, my God, my King," and "God speed the right" were the selections given.

The first number on the program was a class exarcise rendered by the Forest class exercise rendered by the Forest Dale Sunday school kindergarten class, Sisters Ida M. Biesinger, A. Leone Tay, lor, Teenle Olson, Ruby Young and Maud Cook, Instructors. The lesson overed the work of an entire school ession, and was given to illustrat actically the work of a Sunday scho kindergarten or infant class. The little tots performed their part in excellent siyle, and showed their good training and the interest they take in lessons adopted to their capa city. The recitation consisted of an at tention exercise in verse, followed by a "Good morning song," given to train the little people in the poetry of mo-tion, and to teach them to greet each other. This was followed by the repeition of a short prayer for the Lord's blessing on their lesson, intended to train the children to pray for what they want, and ask for all in the name of Jesus Christ. A few verses, "I'm not too young for God to see," were sung to teach the children to sing and that God were their thoughts and out. The od sees their thoughts and acts. The ord's Prayer, repeated in chorus, was ollowed by a motion lesson in verse tittle Squirrel," which served to teach lesson of kindness to animals, Next followed a lengthy narrative, illustra-ting a lesson in obedience, fuith, and the gift of healing. "Can a little child like me, thank the Father fittingly," was repeated to entertain the children and inculcate sentiments of gratitude. This was followed by other verses and the recitation closed with a benediction the praying in concert not only serving

Also that the teachers may acquire perfect acquaintance with their duties and ac quire thoroughness in their work. The successful teacher, the speaker said, is ver on the alert for new thought, new essons and new methods of presenting them, otherwise he would become stereotyped and unprogressive, and the sooner such a teacher resigns from his class labors the better it will be for the class. Another object of the Union is to unify the work of all the schools throughout the stake that all may progress harmonfously toward the perection that is aimed at by the Sunday school board and superintendency.

The place of the "Normal Class in the Sunday School" was discussed very intelligently by Elder Henry Peterson.

That school which has a class of pupils who are well acquainted with the principles of theology and have an adaptacibles of theology and have an adapta-bility to teach, may, with profit, establish normal classes, provided a sultable instructor can devote his time in formulating suitable studies and lessons, and show how such lessons may be presented to the year lessons may be presented to the var-jous departments of the school. The speaker thought that normal classes should not be established except unler the direction of the Stake superin-
