

THAW TRIUMPHS OVER MR. JEROME

Under Fire for Three Hours. He Did Not Once Slip or Make A Bad Break.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY BAFFLED.

His Sharp, Pointed Questions Were Answered With Calmness and Deliberation.

New York, March 30.—The plans of the Thaw lunacy commission to complete its work today and to submit a report to Justice Fitzgerald Monday morning as to the present mental condition of the slayer of Dr. White, were upset late this afternoon by an appeal from Dist. Atty. Jerome to be allowed to produce more witnesses before the commission reaches a decision. After an all-day session the commission adjourned until next Tuesday morning, at which time it will hear experts offered by the district attorney. Chairman McClure served notice that the witnesses will be compelled to confine themselves to facts and opinions which deal with the present condition of Thaw, and will not be allowed to go into details of the past or future.

THAW UNDER FIRE.
Thaw was under direct examination by the commissioners for more than two hours today, and then for 45 minutes he was under the fire of Dist. Atty. Jerome on cross-examination. This cross-examination was allowed by the commission only after the district attorney had been allowed sufficient latitude in the inquiry. Enjoying his first opportunity of questioning the defendant, Mr. Jerome attempted to go into Thaw's past life, but objections to this line of examination by Thaw's counsel were sustained by the commission, and he held the district attorney to the direct issue before the lunacy board—whether Thaw is capable of understanding the character of the proceedings against him and of rationally advising his counsel.

Thaw's direct and cross-examination today were held behind closed doors, and the commission took extraordinary precautions to have the hearing kept secret. The attorneys connected with the prosecution were cautioned not to discuss the case in any way. When Thaw's ordeal was ended the doors were thrown open and it was announced that executive sessions were at an end. As soon as the session became public Mr. Jerome called Dr. Allan McLane Hamilton to the stand.

JEROME LISTLESS.
Dist. Atty. Jerome took but a desultory interest in the proceedings until it seemed that the commission was about to close its inquiry. Then he turned to his usual manner, which had been hampered in the lunacy proceedings by the commission's barring of pertinent testimony. Declaring the commission had refused to "illuminate its intelligence" from documentary evidence which he had presented, and had neglected to hear expert testimony, Mr. Jerome asserted with some feeling that if he were allowed the proper latitude he could prove beyond a reasonable doubt that Thaw is insane today and incapable of advising counsel in a rational manner. Chairman McClure told Mr. Jerome that if he could produce an expert who could give a competent opinion as to Thaw's present state of mind, the commission would hear them next Tuesday morning.

"That is all I desire," said the district attorney.

JEROME WAS IRRITABLE.

When the public session began Mr. Jerome seemed irritable and was constantly thereafter involved in wordy clashes with members of the commission. His manner of arguing that he had a right to adduce additional testimony before the commission rendered his verdict was generally regarded as a concession that Thaw had made a favorable impression during his long examination. During the district attorney's cross-examination it was said Thaw comforted himself creditably and answered Mr. Jerome's sharp, pointed questions with calmness and deliberation. Thaw appeared placid when the public was allowed to enter the courtroom. To a reporter who leaned over and congratulated him on the showing he had made, Thaw replied: "Thank you very much, but I thought that was to be kept secret." Thaw's attorneys expressed themselves as entirely satisfied with the last stages of their client's severe examination. Altogether he was on the stand about six hours, counting Thursday's session of the commission.

DIDN'T SHAKE THAW.

Mr. Jerome's cross-examination, one attorney declared, did not shake Thaw in the least. Mr. Jerome declined to discuss the hearing. He seemed much disappointed at the ruling which shut out Dr. Hamilton's testimony, the physician already having gone on record as saying that Thaw is a paranoiac with but a slight chance of recovery. During the public session the commission examined four prison guards—two of them, Thaw's personal wardens in the courtroom—and a visiting physician to the Tombs. All declared that Thaw had acted rationally ever since his incarceration. One said that Thaw had a haunted look in his eyes when he first came to the Tombs, but it began to disappear last September.

Mr. DeLoach and Hartridge also took the stand. They declared that Thaw had fully comprehended this phase of the trial, and had made helpful suggestions from time to time. Dist. Atty. Jerome asked Mr. Hartridge if Thaw had not repeatedly expressed a desire to address the court. Mr. Hartridge said he could recall no such instance. Asked if his associate counsel had not informed him of Thaw's wishes along this line, Mr. Hartridge was silenced by an objection from the commission. Mr. Jerome then said he would undertake no further cross-examination of counsel.

After Mr. Hartridge had testified, Chairman McClure said he did not think the remaining counsel need testify.

"I would like to be advised as to what sort of evidence this commission desires from me," interrupted Mr. Jerome. "I must confess I am at sea. I have experts here costing me $500 a day every day they are here subpoenaed. They are ready to testify before you."

"We are here, Mr. Jerome," said Chairman McClure, "not to decide the past or future condition of the defendant, but must confine our services to his present condition. As to the burden of proof, it rests upon you, as you made the suggestion on record that the defendant was incapable of understanding the proceedings against him or of advising with counsel."

HOME PRESCRIPTION

Speediest Relief Known to Science for Coughs, Colds and Consumption

This home prescription has been familiar to druggists for years. Its wonderful effectiveness on coughs, colds and all affections of the bronchial tubes and pulmonary organs spread its fame from city to city with rapidly increasing popularity. Inquiry into the origin of this prescription developed the fact that it emanated from a prominent Philadelphia physician who, having come amongst his profession for the development of a truly soluble preparation from the active principle of the pine tree, which although known to contain wonderful curative powers on the mucous membrane was not generally used by doctors on account of its insolubility. The new drug, which is known to doctors and druggists as the Concentrated oil of pine and it forms the chief ingredient in the famous "Home Prescription" which is here given to the public and is as follows: Concentrated oil of pine, half ounce; pure whiskey, (spirits frummenti) eight ounces, glycerine 2 ounces. Mix and shake thoroughly and take a tablespoonful every four hours. This will frequently cure a cold inside of 24 hours.

These ingredients can be secured at any good drug store, and can be easily mixed at home in a ten-ounce bottle. The Concentrated oil of pine comes put up for dispensing in half-ounce vials securely sealed in a screw top package which retains all the original ozone. It should be borne in mind, however, that there are patent medicines put up by so-called chemical companies to imitate the wonderful pine oil. These can be avoided by making sure to get the "Concentrated" oil of pine. It is also said to be very effective in curing lumbago and uric acid rheumatism. For this purpose it is taken raw, a few drops on sugar, night and morning.

ings against him or of rationally advising with his counsel. "Your honors will observe that no affidavits to Thaw's present sanity were sent here from Pittsburgh and which are in this case by Drs. White, Pliginsk and Gregory."

Chairman McClure again interrupted Mr. Jerome by saying the commission would be glad to hear any experts who could testify as to Thaw's present sanity or insanity. "But they can't testify as to facts," said Mr. Jerome. "I can give them facts on which they can base an opinion. Your gentlemen will not illuminate your own intelligence by reading the papers on which I based my suggestion as to Thaw's present condition. If you would do that I could prove."

"Those affidavits you filed," said Mr. McClure, "were solely to inform the court and its conclusion was not intended to establish actual facts."

"But you will not even look at the letters of this defendant which were sent here from Pittsburgh and which are in the possession of the clerk of the court," said Jerome.

"You know that those letters are not in evidence," said Chairman McClure. "I know that they are," said Mr. Jerome, "and whether they are relevant or not, the law provides that they can be used for their own purpose, with other writings by the defendant."

"We have not taken that view of the matter," said Chairman McClure.

Mr. McClure asked Mr. Jerome upon what facts his experts could base an opinion as to Thaw's present condition. Mr. Jerome replied that they would base their opinions partly upon the writings of the defendant, partly upon their observations of him in court and partly upon testimony they had heard of the months of the defendant's own words.

"We will receive such evidence," said Chairman McClure.

Chairman McClure then announced that the commission would stand adjourned until next Tuesday morning at 10:30. The Thaw jury is under orders to report in court on Monday morning, when they will again be excused for several days by Justice Fitzgerald.

GALUSHA A. GROW DEAD.

His Service in House of Representatives Longest on Record.

Binghamton, N. Y., March 31.—Former Congressman Galusha A. Grow died at his home in Glenwood, Pa., this afternoon, as a result of a general breakdown, attributed to old age.

Mr. Grow was elected to Congress from the Wilmet district of Pennsylvania, as the youngest member of that body, in 1881, and after retirement from public life for nearly 40 years, he re-entered the house of representatives as congressman-at-large from Pennsylvania 14 years ago. When he retired four years ago his public service in the house extended over the longest period, although not continuous service, of any man who ever sat in that body.

During the ante-bellum days he was one of the best known men in the United States, and in 1864 he came within one vote of being nominated for vice president in place of Andrew Johnson.

AMBASSADOR GRISCOM'S ROMAN RESIDENCE AFIRE.

Rome, March 31.—While Lloyd C. Griscom, the American ambassador, and Mrs. Griscom were returning from the Easter services at the American church today, they saw smoke rising from the roof of their home, the Palazzo del Drago. Mr. Griscom hurriedly entered the building and found the servants were unaware that the palace was on fire. The ambassador led the way to the attic. Flames burst forth as he opened the door and burned his hands and singed his eyebrows. When the firemen arrived the beams, which were put in place centuries ago, were burning briskly. The roof over the attic collapsed, causing the center portion of the ceiling of the magnificent ballroom to fall. The furniture and paintings were quickly removed, but not before several of the latter, notably one of President Roosevelt, were damaged.

After working two hours the firemen succeeded in checking the blaze. The loss is estimated at $10,000 and is covered by insurance.

ABE RUEF'S LITTLE TELEPHONE GRAFT

Director Pillsbury of the Pacific States Tel. Co. Says He Was Paid $1,200 Monthly.

POOR FELLOW IS PERSECUTED

From His Prison Abraham Issues a Statement That He is the Victim of a Conspiracy.

San Francisco, March 30.—Two sensational pieces of evidence in the bribery-graft investigation were adduced before the grand jury today. Three members of the executive board of the Pacific States Telephone company, E. S. Pillsbury, Homer S. King, and Timothy Hopkins, testified that they had no knowledge whatsoever of the alleged bribing of supervisors to vote against the award of a competitive franchise to the Home Telephone company, and that if bribery was committed it was "up to" Vice President Louis Glass, whom the grand jury already has indicted on nine counts to explain. Another member of the executive board, Percy S. Morgan, made the same denial of knowledge several days ago when on the witness stand.

The second sensation came when E. S. Pillsbury, who is a director of and attorney for the Pacific States Telephone company, testified that Abraham Ruef, the indicted political boss, has been for more than two years on the private payroll of that corporation and has been paid regularly $1,200 a month. This, said Pillsbury, was more than the salary paid to himself. When he discovered this, he testified, he objected to the company, and his own remuneration was increased.

Dist. Atty. Langdon said that if present plans are not altered the grand jury will hold one session every day next week and the trial of Ruef on the French restaurant extortion cases will be actually begun next Tuesday and steadily proceeded with. In this event, said Mr. Langdon, it is likely that Hiram L. Johnson will appear against Ruef, while Henry engineers the investigation before the grand jury. Mr. Langdon said today's proceedings have been paid to himself. When he discovered this, he testified, he objected to the company, and his own remuneration was increased.

In an interview, Ruef, for the first time since his capture at the Trocadero, denounces his prosecutors, declared that he is being kept in a private prison in violation of legal rights and precedent, and announced that he will produce in court affidavits, sworn to before his capture, proving that the acts of his prosecutors are parts of a conspiracy. Ruef claimed, also, that the reason that every newspaper in San Francisco is denouncing him as a grafter and a rascal is that these newspapers either are privately subsidized or were unable to yield the influence in administration affairs they craved. He said, in part:

ACHILLEION SOLD.

Palace Built by Queen Elizabeth of Austria at a Cost of $5,000,000.

Geneva, March 31.—Achilleion, the beautiful palace built for the late Empress Elizabeth of Austria at Corfu at a cost of $5,000,000, has been purchased by a Swiss-German syndicate, which will convert it into a hotel and sanatorium.

The palace, which is of pure white marble, was designed by the famous Italian architect, S. Carlo. It contains 128 rooms and a chapel, situated in grounds planted with 25,000 rare rose trees.

SOLID AS PINE PEAK

"For the sake of illustration, forget that I am the defendant and make the case impersonal. Here is one Abraham Ruef, indicted publicly by a grand jury and charged with a public crime. Whether innocent or guilty of that crime, he should be prosecuted by public officers, competent to deal with the public law, and the expenses incident should be paid out of the public funds. Is this being done? On the contrary, this Ruef is the prisoner of a private citizen raised to secular power without authority or precedent; surrounded day and night by armed guards privately employed; incarcerated first in a hotel and later in a private dwelling, each selected in turn by a private jailer and each created for this purpose a private prison; he is being prosecuted not by the regularly elected and duly authorized district attorney, but by a private lawyer, specially appointed a deputy for the purpose, and a former secret service officer who is not even a citizen of this state, both of whom were privately retained and are being privately paid out of a private fund raised and guaranteed by a private citizen, to wit, Mr. Rudolph Spreckels. Yet Ruef stands publicly accused of a public offense, and the penalty to be visited upon him, should he be declared guilty, is one prescribed in the public law."

"Is this American? Or is it not, rather, more odious than the lettres de cachet, that were instruments of infamous oppression which the French revolution swept away?"

FRENCH DETECTIVE STABBED.

Paris, March 31.—Inquiries made today at the Austrian, British and Japanese embassies and the Dutch legation, which were implicated in the documents of Mr. Montagnini, the secretary of the papal nunciature, seized when he was expelled and published in the Figaro, brought forth the response that nothing was known concerning the matter. The diplomats refused to discuss the disclosures.
