

UNANIMOUS FOR WOMAN SUFFRAGE

Surprise of Transmississippi Congress Was Adopting Resolution Just Before Close.

AGAINST A PARCELS POST.

Was for Protection of Water and Forest Rights, Tariff Revision and Protection of Sugar Industry.

San Francisco, Oct. 10.—Reframing its support of a score of broad policies affecting the resources and development of the west, and instrusting the delegates to their organization to new offices, the delegates to the transmississippi congress late today adjourned sine die after a nineteenth annual session and departed for their homes. The last day of the congress was characterized by the only important contest of the five days, precipitated by a difference of opinion over the proposed national legislation known as the parcels post measure. The resolution supporting the attitude of the postmaster-general was defeated by a vote of 140 to 60.

Anticipating that the congress would take action on the question, representation of the Retail Grocers' association, the Commercial Travelers of America, the postoffice department, and of the congress not only watched the progress of the resolution in committee, where it was defeated, but participated also in the spirited debate on the floor today. The question as to whether or not it involved opposition to small order houses, the item of government expense and the probable effect upon the commercial travelers of the country. In more than one instance the assertion was made that the real object of the opposition was to prevent the government affording a lower rate for transportation than is afforded by railroad or express companies.

The installation of President Thomas F. Walsh of Denver and the other officers elected was a feature of the day. The resolutions adopted today declare the sentiments of the congress upon many subjects. A government steamship line from the western ports of the United States to Panama and other Central American points is favored; the Congress of the United States is urged to take immediate action in support of an increased merchant marine; to provide two coast navy yards sufficiently large to permit the improvement of nearly all harbors and navigable rivers in the transmississippi region and to appropriate annually the sum of $50,000,000 for advancement of the lakes-to-gulf waterway project. In addition the congress approved legislation providing for protection of water and forests rights, the revision of the tariff and the protection of domestic sugar.

The resolution was presented by Mrs. Scipio Craig of the California delegation and was enthusiastically passed.

A resolution endorsing separate statehood for New Mexico and Arizona was unanimously passed.

FRIGHTFUL FALL OF TWO AERONAUTS

American Balloon, Conqueror, Burst When at an Altitude of Four Thousand Feet.

MEN'S MIRACULOUS ESCAPE

Before Reaching Earth Torn Silk Bag Assumed Shape of a Parachute, Checking Rapid Descent.

Berlin, Oct. 11.—The international balloon race, which started today from the suburb of Schwarzenburg, was the occasion of a thrilling event, two American aeronauts having a miraculous escape from death. The American balloon, Conqueror, the only American-built craft in the contest, having on board A. Holland Forbes and Augustus Post, less than two minutes after the start burst at an altitude of 4,000 feet.

For 200 feet it shot down like a bullet, and then the torn silk bag assumed the shape of a parachute, thus checking the rapidity of the descent. Coming close to the earth, however, the basket crashed into the roof of a house, but the two men escaped with but slight injuries.

THE RACE.

The race, in which 23 balloons participated, representing Great Britain, France, Germany, the United States, Switzerland, Belgium, Italy and Spain, started at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the presence of at least 5,000 spectators. The sunshine was brilliant and the heat was the usual autumnal. Amid the strains of "America" and volleys of cheers the first balloon was sent away. It was the "America II," under command of Lieut. McCoy, who was accompanied by Lieut. Weymann.

The balloon was decorated with the stars and stripes and it sailed away to the southeast at a rapid pace, the aeronauts waving their hats.

A representative of each of the other nations followed the American balloon in succession at intervals of two minutes, the national hymns of the respective countries ringing forth as the ropes were cast loose.

The second batch of eight balloons was led by Forbes in the "Conqueror," which was started with some difficulty owing to a gusty wind and too much ballast. But eventually it shot upward and reached a high altitude in an incredibly short time, the basket swaying violently, and then a report of a puff of air or a roar arose from the crowd, who saw the silk collapse and shouted:

"BALLOON IS RIPPING UP."

"The balloon is ripping up." Thousands stood for a moment panic-stricken. Some turned away, as they saw the balloon falling with lightning-like rapidity. At the same time showers of sand and appearances of the balloon shot down with equal rapidity and then daylight was seen through the envelope, great ragged edges of the silk showing. Instantly I threw the appendix clear of the basket and the ropes and, drawing my jack-knife, cut the ropes that were attached to the 30 bags of sand hanging around the basket.

"I came down slower and slower, meanwhile being swept by the wind far to the southeast, and finally disappeared from view behind a block of houses. The suspense, though the crowd was terrible, but a few minutes later a telephone message was received from Friedmann, which announced that the men had landed and had not been seriously injured. A great sigh of relief went up among the people, who threw their hats in the air for joy. The other balloons were sent up after a brief delay, without further accident. The A. Holland Forbes, who appeared to be very little the worse for his experience except that he was suffering somewhat from the shock, gave the Associated Press a thrilling account of the accident.

ACCOUNT OF ACCIDENT.

"We had some difficulty," he said, "in getting away, but when we left the ground everything seemed to be right. We mounted almost perpendicularly to an altitude of 4,000 feet. As I looked at the recording instrument to make a note of the altitude I heard a peculiar swish, and said to Post, 'That sounds dangerous.' Immediately I saw that the envelope was rapidly deflating, the gas escaping in clouds. Instantly I threw the appendix clear of the basket and the ropes and, drawing my jack-knife, cut the ropes that were attached to the 30 bags of sand hanging around the basket.

"Post in the meantime threw over everything portable. We could see, however, that we were falling more rapidly than some of the ejected articles. Later, when the descent of the balloon was checked, we observed one bag of sand fall into a baby carriage, which was smashed to pieces, but fortunately the nurse stretched out the baby and saved its life.

"Both of us sprang up and held on to the ring above, hoping in this way to avoid the crash. Then above us could be seen the envelope gradually spreading out. We continued to fall with terrific speed until a sort of parachute had been formed, and then we knew that unless a further mishap occurred we would probably be saved from death.

"Our speed did not decrease as much as we should have liked, and we were still moving at a rapid pace when we reached the tops of the high houses in the street, which increased the danger. We passed over one roof, almost touching it, and still holding on to the ring. We avoided the next block, but finally struck the mansard roof of a house in the block adjoining, and the net and envelope fell to the opposite side. The basket crashed against the tiles and went partly through into an occupied room. The man in the room was terrified, but, recovering himself, assisted us to the roof, down through the skylight and to the street to the street, where the crowds cheered us and shook our hands. Neither Post nor myself was seriously hurt. I had cramps of the body, but otherwise I am all right."

"BILL" JONES, FARMER, KILLS HIS HIRED MAN

Washington, Oct. 11.—Noted for having attempted to avenge the death of President Garfield by shooting at Guitau, the assassin, William Jones, locally known as "Bill" Jones, a farmer, tonight shot and killed John A. McPherson of Detroit, at Bales farm, near Brooklynd, on the outskirts of this city.

The weapon used was a shotgun, and McPherson's breast was riddled with bullets. An unloaded rifle was found lying beside the body. The shotgun was found on the porch of Jones' house.

Jones was arrested shortly after the killing and brought to this city and lodged in jail.

Mrs. Jones, who is said to have been an eye-witness, has not been heard from since. Jones, however, declares that he acted in self-defense. The police have learned, it is said, that the two men had quarreled over possession of a horse.

McPherson, who was 29 years old, had been working on Jones' farm since he was discharged from the United States marine corps on July 24, last. Several days following upon President Garfield's death, Guitau was taken to court for a preliminary hearing, and it was while he was being returned to jail that Jones attempted to shoot him. Jones was riding a spirited horse. He followed the prisoner from the courthouse to within several blocks of the jail, when he suddenly spurred his horse, darted through the crowd, drew a revolver and fired into the prison van. Guitau, who was sitting near the door, caught a glimpse of Jones as he drew the weapon and dodged. The bullet sped over his head and lodged in the side of the wagon. Jones, believing he had killed Guitau, dug the spurs into his horse's side and escaped arrest at that time. He was captured shortly afterwards near Fredericksburg, Va. Jones was tried and acquitted.
