CONGRESSIONAL.

SENATE.

Bounty Bill Passed. &c.

WASHINGTON, 2.—Stewart, from the conference committee on the bill to provide for the incorporation and regulation of railroads in the territories, made a report, which was agreed to.

Chandler, from the committee on commerce, reported back the river and harbor appropriation bill without amendment and without recommendation; he said the committee made this report on account of the action of the Senate last night in tabling the tariff bill; it was placed on the calendar.

The Senate proceeded with the bill to equalize bounties. Logan explained the bill. He believed it would not require over $30,700,000. The amount of bounty paid by the States, $286,781,256, and the amount paid by the government, $403,000,000 was all to be deducted. The soldiers who had received the full amount of bounty from the State would get nothing under this bill. He urged the passage of the bill because he thought it was just.

Sherman was willing to vote for a bill to pay any legal obligations to soldiers by the government, but the country was in no condition to pay the amount called for by the bill. The second auditor's office had estimated that the bill would require $59,000,000, and the paymaster general estimated it at $100,000,000.

Ferry, of Ct., moved to strike out the provision to deduct the amount of bounty paid by the States; agreed to, 34 to 21.

Chandler, from the committee on commerce, reported adversely to the bill to promote an efficient lighthouse service in the U. S., and it was indefinitely postponed.

Cameron, from the committee on foreign affairs, reported unfavorably on the Senate resolution recognizing the independence of Cuba, and the committee were discharged from its further consideration.

The consideration of the bounty bill was resumed. Edmunds moved an amendment authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to borrow money to carry the act into effect whenever there is not money enough in the treasury for that purpose, also authorizing him, for the purpose of borrowing money, to issue and sell any kind of bonds described in the act of July 14th, '70.

Morton favored the amendment, and it was agreed to, 41 to 12. The bill was then reported to the Senate and the amendments agreed to, in committee of the whole; the vote was taken on the passage of the bill, resulting in a tie, yeas 30, nays 30. The Vice-President voted yea, and the bill passed.

The Senate took up the tax and tariff bill, and took a recess till 7.30 p.m., when it comes up.

The Revenue Bill Passed, &c.

The tax and tariff bill came up as the unfinished business. Pratt moved to lay it on the table for the purpose of considering the bills reported by the committee on pensions; rejected, yeas 26, nays 30.

Schurz moved the amendment of the fifth section of the bill, so that the increase of duties shall not apply to goods actually on shipboard on or before the 4th of March, 1875, instead of the 10th of February; rejected. Schurz then moved to strike out the 4th section, which restores the ten per cent horizontal tax; rejected, 23 to 29, Allison, Fenton, Hamilton, of Texas, Jones, Sprague, and Tipton voting with the democrats in the affirmative.

Thurman moved to strike out the second section increasing the tax on tobacco, and made an argument against the whole bill; the amendment was rejected, 25 to 31.

A number of other amendments were offered and rejected, and the bill was then reported to the Senate, the question being on concurring in the amendment made yesterday in committee of the whole, making the increase of the tax on tobacco applicable only to tobacco manufactured after the passage of the act. Morrill, of Vt., moved to non-concur, on the ground that it would send the bill back to the House; the motion was agreed to, 29 to 27.

Alcorn moved an amendment providing that all corporations working mines of gold or silver, unpatented on the public domain, producing over one million yearly, should pay a tax of five per cent. on their net earnings.

Thurman opposed the amendment. He said that every ounce of gold or silver produced was the product of labor and it would be just as fair to tax wheat or corn; rejected without division. The bill was read a third time and passed as it came from the house.

Chandler moved to take up the steamboat bill, but Conkling objected.

Sargent, from the committee on appropriations, reported the sundry civil appropriation bill with amendments placed on the calendar.

Stewart, from the committee on railroads, reported the Texas Pacific bill, and several other subsidy bills without recommendations; placed on the calendar.

Chandler's motion to take up the steamboat bill was rejected.

West moved to take up the river and harbor appropriation bill; rejected.

On motion of Sargent, the sundry civil appropriation bill was taken up, and the Senate, at 1.30 a.m., was considering the bill.

HOUSE.

Witnesses to be Protected.

E. R. Hoar, from the select committee on the breach of the privileges of the House in the arrest of Whitelaw Reid, while a witness before the committee of ways and means, reported a bill to protect witnesses in such cases from arrest on civil process; passed.

The Arkansas Governorship Settled.

In the evening session the consideration of the Arkansas question was resumed, and Poland, chairman of the select committee, spoke in favor of the majority report, recommending that the present State government should not be interfered with. After further debate a vote was taken first on the substitute offered by Ward, of Ills., declaring Brooks the legal governor; rejected, yeas 39, nays 152, and the majority resolution was then adopted, 149 to 30.

The House then went into committee of the whole on the deficiency appropriation bill. It appropriates $2,496,556 and revives appropriations to the amount of $1,761,327. After disposing of only three pages the committee rose and the house adjourned.

The next important amendment, the one allowing the free passage through the mails, of seeds from the Commissioner of Agriculture, and the reports of that department, was concurred in, 133 to 95.

The House commenced the consideration of the report of the select committee on Arkansas affairs, and after a short debate took a recess till 7.30 p. m., when the question will be disposed of, after which the regular business will be proceeded with.

The Anaconda Game.

HOW LIGE WAS DRAWN INTO IT.

"Good evening, Lige; how do you feel this evening?"

"I'se feeling mighty bad, Mr. Stanton. You see I'se been fooled. Yes, sur; wid all my speriance, old as I is, de gamblers has got de best of me, now."

"What did they get you into; faro?"

"Worse nor dat."

"Keno, maybe?"

"Worse dan keno."

"Ah, they have played three-card monte on you."

"De monte ain't nothing to de game dey played on me. De one dat beat Lige is de great anaconda game."

"Some new game, I suppose?"

"No sar, I don't t'ink it is a new game. Dey has only got a new way ob playing it and de debbil it is. You nebber know you's in de game till de anaconda catch ye. Jest see here, Mr. Stanton," and Lige placed on the table before us a small box of hair pins, a tooth-brush, an India-rubber rattle-box, a box of chewing gum, and a fine tooth comb.

"What are these, Lige?"

"Dem is wat de anaconda gib me. You see, when dey started de game, de fust play was an auction and dey gib de people bargins dat please dem so much dat most all ob dem was willin' to put a few dollars on de BAZAAR CARD. Dey gib em all a chance to bet; plenty of time; no bet refused. Old men and old women, ladies and nice young gals, little boys and girls and nice little children from de Sunday schools, and servant gals with de little babies in kerriges, bringing dar dere money boxes to bet on de bazaar card. De anaconda man takes dem all in. De game is neber full, so long as yer can get any bets."

"But, Lige, how did you get into it?"

"Well, I'se most ashamed to tell you, but I come in yer to ease my mind, and I'se gwine to do it. You see, de anaconda man took me down in de back end ob de store and said, 'Lige, you's gitting old, isent ye? You had ought to habe someting ahead. I habe a chance to help you now, and I'se g'wine to do it.' Bless me if I eber t'ought ob de snake game. Well, he said he could sell de big prizes to jest who he pleased, for he was de only one dat knowed de numbers, and he was g'wine to gib dem to some poor, wordy man, and he t'ought dat was Lige."

"Why, Lige, you are a party to the fraud."

"Dat's just wat's de matter, and dat is de reason I come in here for. I wants you to tell all de people dat I'se sorry dat de anaconda cotched me, and dat all de property dat I make by de swindle is here at dis office, and dat all ob dem as hab lost anyting, specially de nice Sunday school children and de little babies, can come here and git their share ob de goods. Dat is fair, ain't it?"

"I think it is, Lige."

"Well, lend me half a dollar, will ye? If ye is afraid ye can keep de goods till I come back."—Denver Democrat.
