TALK OF THE TOWN.

The sky is somewhat overcast.

Hon. Lorin Farr, of Ogden, is in town.

"Pinafore" to-morrow night.

The "Chimes of Normandy" were audied as never before last evening.

"Boccaccio," the famous Italian opera, at the Theatre to-night.

Samuel L. Adams, Esq., is up from the south. He is hunting for a 10-horse-power engine.

The Seventh Ward concert and for the benefit of the Sunday school, comes off to-night.

Marshall Bart talks pretty plainly to owners of fowls, in his published notice. Put up the chickens.

Jas. Glade, who came so near losing his life by morphine several weeks ago, is once more able to be around.

To-morrow is the last day upon which applications for irrigation water can be received by the Watermaster.

The time for filing motion and statement for a new trial in the Hunt murder case has been extended to the 23d inst.

A new block of buildings is to be erected on the Hunter lot, just north of Zion's Savings Bank. The trees and the old house are to be removed immediately. Work has commenced.

The Bishops held a very interesting meeting in the Council House last evening. Among the speakers were Hon. A. K. Thurber, of Richfield, and Bishop G. L. Farrell, of Smithfield.

"Unknown" and "Passion's Slave" are the titles of the two plays to be presented on the 23d and 24th inst., by Mr. John A. Stevens and company.

H. Greve, the man so seriously injured by the caving of a gravel bar on the Utah Southern R. R. Extension, Tuesday afternoon, has died from his injuries. The base of his skull was fractured.

Brooksbank's second hand store was broken into on Wednesday night. Several pairs of pants, two pistols and two watches were among the missing. A couple of pairs of the pants have been found.

The Frazier bigamy case is before Commissioner Sprague this afternoon. It is about settled that further examination will be waived, and the defendant bound over to the grand jury. Efforts will be made to get a reduction of the bond—$1,500.

Appropos of the egg question, a Kaysville gentleman writes that he has been shown a hen's egg that measured 8 1/2 inches in circumfer-ence one way and 7 1/2 the other, and weighed five ounces. The fowl that produced it has laid 12 others of similar size.

Last night, while the hands at the City Hall were outdoors looking at the fire near the Penitentiary, a man entered the police room, stole four pairs of blankets and decamped.

They were to-day found at Maltee's second-hand store, where he had sold them for $3. The thief is in custody. His name is Tait.

Last evening, we noticed the death, from diphtheria, of a little five-year old son of the late Richard B. Margetts, and stated that another son, two years older, was prostrated with the same disease. We regret to learn that the latter died last evening. General sympathy is felt for the bereaved household.

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

Pleasant Party.—Miss Nellie and Florence Dinwoodey, daughter of Henry Dinwoodey, Esq., gave a pleasant little soiree at their residence, in the Seventh Ward last evening, at which a large number of their friends were present and passed a most agreeable time. The young ladies exerted themselves to please and succeeded admirably.

Improved Method.—Mr. Ahneld

Pratt, of this city, has a new method for writing music for the accordion, which, he claims is a great improvement on any other, and by which old or young, dull or quick, may become good players in less than one fourth the time the Winner, Ryan and other method require. He claims it as a positive fact that in five to ten minutes a new beginner can learn to play any common slow tune by this method, if his ability be but average.

Obsequies.—The funeral services over the remains of Ernest J. and Raymond D. Margetts, sons of the late Richard B. Margetts, were held this afternoon, at 1.30 o'clock, at the family residence, 19th Ward, Bishop

R. V. Morris presiding. Elder

James White opened the meeting by prayer, and Bishop L. W. Hardy delivered the discourse. Benediction was pronounced by Bishop Morris. Both children were buried in one grave, Counselor Joseph E.

Taylor giving the dedicatory prayer.

"Pinafore" Saturday Night.—At the request of many citizens, it has been decided, by the management of the Melville Operatic Company, to present the comic opera of "Pi-nafore" on Saturday (to-morrow) night, instead of the afternoon, and to put "Nikita" on for the matinee.

Efforts are being made to secure the services of the efficient local chorus which sang in this presentation of "Pinafore" in this city. This will be an additional card, if it is to be obtained, and the performance is sure to have a bumper house.

Matters North and South.—At the meeting of the Bishops last evening, the principal speakers, invited by Presiding Bishop Edward Hunter to address the assembly, were President A. K. Thurber, of Richfield, Sevier Stake, and Bishop G. L. Farrell, of Smithfield, Cache Stake. The former represented matters in the region from which he hailed as a general, prosperous condition. Colorful and settling were steadily progressing and the inhabitants were dwelling in peace. The speaker said he enjoyed his position and occupation as a settler in a new region. He was called from Spanish Fork, where he was Bishop, at the close of the Indian war of 1855-6 and sent by President Young to conciliate the hostile tribes in the Grass Valley region. These Indians had greatly changed, many had embraced the gospel and were fast losing the warlike, blood-thirsty spirit which formerly characterized them. They had now no desire to roam, as formerly, but had settled down, were cultivating the soil, and doing, as a general thing, about as well as the whites, considering all things. They were visited by dreams, visions and messengers, so they state, and were advancing in spiritual matters as well as temporal. The speaker said there was an abundance of choice land, lying idle in the southeastern part of the Territory, which might just as well be occupied. It had even a better climate than this, as good a soil, and possessed water and timber facilities fully equal. The speaker said he knew of 6,000 acres, at least, now open for settlement.

Bishop Farrell stated that matters in Cache Valley were in a thriving condition; the people were industrious and hard-working, and were rapidly growing rich. As a rule, they lived their religion as faithfully as the Saints anywhere. He thought they were better calculated for work than the people in the south; they had to labor in order to keep warm, for they were in a cold country. Their work on the Temple was going ahead rapidly, old and young assisting in the good work. The roof was being put on and the house would be ready for use by next winter, if all went well. No trouble had been experienced in finding workmen or in paying them. Besides $100,000 on the Temple, other improvements, including the Tabernacle, which had cost between $70,000 and $80,000 had been made within the last few years, and these were still going on. The canal now building would be one of the best things that had ever been done for Cache Valley. It would water much valuable land and bring under cultivation a great deal of new land which could be used for growing fruit, in some places, would cost $120,000 per mile, in constructing. Cache Stake had 2,700 tithing payers and paid during the past year, $72,000. Even little children, some but nine years old, paid their tithing faithfully. One family (father and 11 boys) paid $1,000 last year. The speaker touched here upon the force of example and showed that if parents would have their children pay tithing, keep the Word of Wisdom or observe any commandment of God, they must do it themselves and teach by pattern as well as precept. The speaker kept the Word of Wisdom and felt healthy and sound in body and mind. He attributed it all to his observance of that revelation. In speaking of paying tithing, he related an incident that had come under his notice. A young girl came to him one day and asked to look over the tithing books for the account of a man who had asked her hand in marriage. He permitted her to look over the records, and she found that the man was owing tithing for six years back. Said she: "This man wants me to marry him. But I won't do it. I won't have a man who will not pay his tithing." Bishop Farrell told her that was right, and promised her that if she adhered to that determination, she should yet get a good husband and be a happy wife. This promise had been verified, for she now had an excellent husband and a fine family. He was temperate, industrious, upright and God-fearing—a man who always paid his tithing promptly, gave donations generously, and then always had plenty of money. The speaker said this was a good example for all "Mormon" girls to follow, and he hoped they would profit by it.

"Chimes of Normandy."—It is safe to assert, that never has this charming opera been played and sung so well in our city as by the Melville opera troupe last evening. It was a decided triumph, and notwithstanding it has been given here repeatedly, was just as thoroughly appreciated and enjoyed as though it had been new, never before presented. Of the ladies, Miss Melville bore off the honors by her sweet and modest impersonation of the peasant girl "Germaine." Her appearance was superb and her singing exquisite. The great charm of her acting is her chaste and decorous deportment. She does not seem to study her movements, but every gesture is refined and every thing she attempts evinces the soul and culture of a genuine lady. Miss Post, as "Serpolette," struck her character admirably. She sang and acted the part as though she was born for it. The other ladies enacted their roles effectively, and did all that was expected of them in the choruses. Of the men, Mr. Max Freeman as the miser "Gaspard" did the most effective piece of acting a Salt Lake audience has witnessed for a long time. He is an artist of rare merit and of astonishing versatility. Boldom, indeed, is it that one person, combines the actor and the singer as he does; and such an actor. English General, Brazilian millionaire and French miser consecutively, and each one a perfect impersonation. "His Gaspard" was the best ever given here. The only reason he was not recalled after the first scene in the castle last evening, was that the audience was so overpowered they forgot to applaud. Mr. Hatch, as "Gaspard," played superbly well. Mr. Cassell displayed his dramatic ability by following up "Gaspard" and "Mingo" with the "Marquis de Villerot," which, though not a comedy character gave him an opportunity of rendering several fine solos in excellent style. We should like to see this gentleman in a part that would give him a comical genius full scope. Messrs. Knight and Sherwood, as the "Barber" and "Notary" were quite funny and created their share of amusement. The choruses, as usual, were very good, and the orchestra rendered valuable assistance. This evening "Boccaccio," an Italian opera by Suppe, the author of the celebrated "Poet and Peasant," will be presented, and like its predecessors of the current series, will no doubt be witnessed by a crowded house.

A Special Patrol.—For a long time it has been evident that something ought to be done to abate a nuisance which has existed in this community, and until recently has made itself apparent every Sunday afternoon, while decent and peaceful worshippers were on their way to the Assembly Hall, to attend divine service. We refer to the groups of profane, tobacco-chewing loafers who haunt the vicinity of the Temple Block on Sabbath afternoons, stringing along both sides of the walk, before and after meeting hours, cause the passers-by to run the gauntlet of their jibes, jeers and vulgar and irreverent words and actions. More than once have ladies been insulted by these bunnies, who seem to have nothing else to do on week days besides sunning themselves on the street corners, or drinking in the filthy details of police court trials, and on the Holy Sabbath congregating near the entrances of the house of worship to stare out of countenance and pass insulting remarks about ladies, gentlemen and innocent children on their way to the house of God to offer up their prayers, and be instructed in the ways of purity and truth. This nuisance has been spoken of repeatedly and been left alone altogether too long. We are glad to see that steps are being taken to do away with it. The City police, for two or three Sundays past, have dispersed the crowd and made matters assume a more decent aspect in the vicinity where the nuisance has heretofore existed, and we are pleased to announce that at the Bishop's meeting last night in the Council House, it was adopted as the sense of the assembly that the City Council be petitioned to appoint a special police patrol, to be stationed at the Temple Block on Sunday afternoons, to further insure the discontinuance of the disgraceful practice referred to. The petition, we believe, will meet with the warm approval of the Municipal authorities, and the relief asked for will be cheerfully granted. The way to the Assembly Hall should no more be obstructed in this manner than the way to the Methodist, the Catholic, Episcopal, or any other Church.

SPECIAL BUSINESS NOTICES.

Various Causes. Advancing years, carelessness, disappointed, and hereditary predisposition—all operate to turn the hair gray, and either of them to cause premature baldness. A VIGOROUS HAIR VIGOR will restore faded or gray, light or red hair to a rich brown or deep black, as may be desired. It softens and cleanses the scalp, giving it healthy action. It removes and cures dandruff and humors. By its use falling hair is checked, and new growth will be produced in all cases where the follicles are not destroyed or the glands decayed. Its effects are beautifully shown on bushy, weak or sticky hair, on which a few applications will produce the gloss and freshness of youth. Harmless and sure in its operation, it is incomparable as a dressing, and is especially valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts. It contains neither oil nor dye, and will not soil or color white cambric, yet it lasts long on the hair, and keeps it fresh and vigorous. Saw
