HOW BIG TEAMS WILL LINE UP.

In the National and American Baseball Leagues This Year.

MANY NEW MEN ARE ADDED.

Manager of Each Team Has Been Busy Rounding Up the Best Material Obtainable.

Now that the baseball season of 1905 is practically under way, here is the make-up of the teams which will struggle for the pennant in the National and American leagues this year. There are many new men on the roster of the different clubs, showing that the manager of each team has been busy since the close of last season securing the best players that money could buy in order to strengthen the club. Here are the Nationals:

PROF. ROBINSON WILLING.

Says He Will Meet Any 130 Pound Jap in the World.

During the week, certain Japanese of this city expressed a desire to further test their Jiu Jitsu system against catch-as-catch-can. They felt sore over the defeat of Murayama at the hands of Prof. Eddie Robinson, and they are clamoring for another match. Several prominent Japs approached Robinson with a proposition for another contest, but they do not want it to take place under the same conditions as prevailed in Monday night's contest. They say that Jackies should be worn so that real Jiu Jitsu can be used, and they propose to get another man to meet Robinson, one who is better versed in the so-called art.

When the proposition was presented to Robinson the latter said: "I will meet any 130 pound Jap in the world. Send to Japan or anywhere else for him. I will agree to wear a jacket, take all the head spins he can give me; indulge in a few aerial trips, and risk having a few spare bones twisted out of shape. But there is an 'if.' If the Jap will agree to put my two shoulders to the mat and hold them there for three seconds. If he will put up $500 or $1,000 when the articles are signed and let it go as appearance money and a side bet, then I will take on the Jap."

This seemed to suit the other side and they are now securing the country for the man they want. They are wild for a return match under those conditions, and they declare that money is no object to them. It looks very much now as if another contest would be pulled off here in the near future.

FIGHT FANS ARE HAPPY.

Because of Match Between Danforth and Hamp This Month.

The announcement this week of a match to take place on the 10th of this month in Salt Lake, between Jack Danforth and Billy Hamp, pleased the fight fans of Salt Lake greatly. They have been hungry for the sport for a long time, and now that they are to be given a chance to see a little of it they are highly gratified.

The match is to take place in the old Pastime club quarters on Market street on the 10th. Both boys have been in training for a couple of weeks, a fact unknown to the general public. They have an old score to settle, and the assurance is given that local fight fans will see one of the hottest mills of their lives when the pair come together in their 20 round argument.

Danforth has been beaten over Hamp, but the latter claims to have improved greatly since then, and has been crazy to get a crack at his opponent.
Their first contest took place in Idaho, and it created the greatest excitement throughout the country where they boxed. Several prominent local fight fans saw the battle and they agree to a man that it was one of the best they ever witnessed. Both men are boxers of the Battling Nelson order—strong, wiry, game and mixers every second of the going. There will be several preliminaries and they are promised to be of the high order.

TRIED TO CHEAT NELSON.

Scheme on Foot to Rob Dane Out of Decision Tuesday Night.

It is not known save to a few in Salt Lake, that a scheme was on foot to rob Battling Nelson out of the decision in last Tuesday's battle with Young Corbett, and that the promoters are charged with an attempt of that kind. This leaked out on the night of the battle when a prominent fight fan of Salt Lake gave to the sporting editor of this paper a telegram he received from a man who claimed to be on the "inside," at San Francisco. The telegram read as follows:
"Promoters trying to cheat Nelson, Corbett in fine condition. I will keep off."

The telegram came a little too late, as the local man who received it had already placed his money on Corbett. As is well known, Nelson upset the calculations of the would-be cheaters and beat Corbett to a standstill.

The scheme was all based on the presumption that the fight would go the other way. The promoter of the fight, the little Denverite would be able to last that long, against the Durable Dane, but the latter ended the battle quickly. Otherwise, according to reports, Corbett was to receive the decision.

VARSITY ATHLETICS.

Work of Remodeling the Field is Taken Up Again Actively.

The work of remodeling the athletic field at the University is again being taken up actively, and by the time the spring meets are on, the place will be quite completely transformed. The running track around the football field is being leveled, graded and banked, while the football grounds are being plowed preparatory to sowing in a sub-soil drainage system, and establishing a turf that will make the grounds ideal for play. The work was abandoned shortly after Christmas in order to allow the frost to get thoroughly out of the soil, and the present contract calls for the completion of the work by March 15. It will probably result in a much faster set of state records this year than last.

WAS PITCHER FOR NINETEEN YEARS.

A fine example of the position a ball player of intelligence and good habits can attain is the career of Charley Nichols, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, who this season enters upon his nineteenth consecutive year as a professional pitcher. For 12 years Nichols was the mainstay of the Boston Nationals, and, perhaps, did more than any other one man to help them in their long series of success in the nineties, including the three straight years in which they won the National league pennant. During the 18 years of his professional career Nichols has never pitched less than 25 games a season, and he always won a majority of his last game. He worked in 29 full games.

"To what do you attribute your success?" he was asked at New York the other day.

"Well," replied the old leaguer, "a man has to have several qualities to stay in the game actively as long as I have, but I think the principal thing is that I have never been afraid to let the batter hit the ball. I always remembered the fact that a good batter cannot put more than one in three safe, a poor batter one in four, or even less. I never, or seldom, allowed a thrower my arm of trying to strike a man out. It might have done a good hit, but it doesn't pay to try it on a poor one. I let them hit it, but try to keep them from hitting it safe, never forgetting that I have eight men behind me just as eager as I am to retire the opposing batter. Years ago I practiced and developed a high jump ball, one that passes over the plate at a mile a minute and changes its course over

PERKINS' BRUTALITY.

"I called on Perkins last evening," remarked Mr. Brown.

"Did you have a pleasant time?" inquired Mrs. Brown.

"Very. Perkins was beating his wife when I went in."

"What?"

"I say Perkins was beating his wife, but, of course, he stopped when I went in."

"Well, I should hope so."

"I begged him to go on, but he said some other time would do just as well."

"You begged him to go on?"

"Why, yes, I didn't want to spoil the fun, you know."

"Oh, you brute!"

"Do you mean to say that you could have looked calmly on while he beat his wife?"

"Certainly. Why not?"

"I thought you had at least a spark of manhood left, I suppose you will be beating me next time."

"Yes, I think I could if you would play cribbage with me."

"Play cribbage?"

"Yes. That is what Perkins and his wife were doing."

"You horrid thing!"—Acheson Globe.

THE LATEST WAR NEWS.

Tom-Tom, July 11.—The Russian army will probably make much more progress in its operations from now on. The czar has ordered the daily roll call cut out.

Pas-ches-Dee, July 11.—General Karsentyan has stopped carrying his coffin with him in his masterly retreat.

"I hardly think I'll need it," he said yesterday. "The Japs will likely have me in a tight box soon." The general's jokes are the hardest things his soldiers have to contend with.

Chink-Wink, July 11.—General Kuroki has not been fighting very much for about a week, but says he will resume aggressive operations soon. What could we have accomplished by fighting last week? he asked a correspondent today.

"The Democratic convention would have crowded us off the first pages and most likely away over into the 'ads,'" he said.

SOMETHING ABOUT "PITTSBURG BILL"

"Pittsburg Phil" never told a lie, but he did not always tell the truth.

Pat Sheedy, the cynical, straight, clever man of the world, gambler, art critic and man of brains, in that epigram summed the character of the greatest turf plunger ever known to the world. "Pittsburg Phil," in private life known as George E. Smith.

Pat Sheedy of Los Angeles knew "Pittsburg Phil" intimately; the two traveled through Europe together and became close friends, probably because they were in character antithetical. Sheedy knows a good deal about everything. "Phil" only knew horses, but these he knew better than any other man.

"I first knew 'Phil' in 1880 in Chicago. He had been employed in a cork factory before that in Pittsburg, where he earned $5 a week," said Sheedy. "He had commenced to play the races before he landed in Chicago, with some success, but when I met him he used to play at a poolroom in 'The Alley,' kept by Murphy, Riley and Pulsifer. He was then fond of betting on baseball, but he soon got the right dope on the ponies and made money."

"He and J. W. Murphy used to bet on individual horses, one against the other; Murphy is now a millionaire."

"The thing that broke 'Phil's' heart was the unjust ruling made against his horses by the Jockey club. No explanation was ever made of this, but it was supposed to be based on something about his jockey, Willie Shaw. 'Phil' never got over that; he used to talk to me about it by the hour and it preyed greatly on his mind."

"You know in Europe diamonds are sold by the paper; men who gamble, either in cards, on horses, or in business, are like those diamonds. Some are larger than others, some whiter than others, some more perfect in degree than others, but as a rule they are ordinary; the average. Occasionally a diamond buyer will find in the paper a perfect gem, set in there by mistake or in the sporting world—a gem. He never told a lie, but he did not always tell the truth. He would always say frankly how he lost, but never how he won. He was always square, and walked straight; he was the best son, the best friend in the world."

"I don't believe that large fortunes are honestly made. I remember Whitney once came to me on a race track and told me he had lost $25,000 on a race."

"That's nothing to you, Mr. Whitney," I said.

"What do you mean?" he asked me. "With all you have to do to get it back and more?" I answered, "Is to go to your office and turn the hose on some of your stocks."

"Men who make fortunes of millions buy for less and sell for more than their fellows. 'Phil' simply plied his brains and skill against the brainiest, most skillful set of men, and beat them out. But he always observed the rules of the game."

TO SOOTHE IS NOT TO CURE

Why a Mere Soothe Is Not Enough For Your Cough.

A cough is more than a cough. It is a proof that your lungs are weakened, inflamed and sore. Germ of pneumonia and consumption are gaining a hold there.

So you must do more than cure your cough. Cure your lungs, set them working strong and sure, clear of germ.

Because it does all this speedily and surely, Dr. Acker's English Remedy is famous as something more than a cough medicine. It is a lung cure, a lung restorer. You feel the healthy action of your lungs immediately after taking a dose.

"I will grant you the honor as I think it my duty to do. Some time ago I gave my medicine a trial, having a cough and spitting blood. I thought my time had come, but prayer and Dr. Acker's English Remedy brought me through. I have insisted on others to take it as I think it is the best of remedies."—Mrs. Richardson, Dayton, Ohio.

All druggists guarantee it to cure. Bottle 25 cents, 50 cents and $1.00. Any reader of the Deseret News sending name and address to W. H. Hooker & Co., 24 Elliott St., Buffalo, N. Y., will receive a free sample bottle of Acker's English Remedy by return mail. Write for it today.

BASEBALL HERE IN SPITE OF LUCAS.

While Pacific National Will Not Have Protection, Game Will Flourish.

CHARLES REILLEY IS COMING

And Will at Once Complete the Organization of the Team to Represent Salt Lake.

The action of the national board of minor baseball leagues on Wednesday at Chicago, in the matter of protection to the newly organized Pacific National league may be considered a blow to the organization because it is not granted protection, and because it gives to W. H. Lucas protection in the territory he asked for, it will not prevent the national game from flourishing in this part of the country, provided the magnates in the P. N. L. stick together and carry out the plans made.

Fans of this city, and in other cities represented in the Pacific National, must not think the board's actions is a death blow to the sport in this neck of the woods. Directors of the various clubs have given their assurance that we will have baseball just the same, with or without protection, and that the league will go through the season along the lines already announced.

Lucas is given protection in the territory for which he asked, but he will probably have a big fight on his hands in Butte and Spokane, and possibly in Helena, Boise, Ogden, Spokane, Butte and Salt Lake will stick together, and Helena will probably be found in the line up as previously stated. If these cities support each other, what is to prevent carrying out the original plans?

A director of the Salt Lake club said recently:

"Of course we wanted protection because we felt we were entitled to it. This has been denied us but we are going to have baseball just the same. This territory is entirely too valuable to pass up. Whether the league is out law or not, whether it is called the Pacific National or by any other name, makes no difference so far as the game is concerned. We are going to have baseball here, and don't you forget it. Lucas and McCloskey can go ahead with their league but you will find that the game will flourish here just the same."

Charles Reilly, the man who has been named to manage the Salt Lake club, and who has been in Los Angeles for many weeks, has left that city for Salt Lake and should arrive here tomorrow or Monday, if he does not stop on the way. He will at once complete the organization of the team, and it will be a good one. This much has been promised, and Reilly in charge is just the man to carry out the promise. He has had a great deal of experience in matters pertaining to the national game, and the fans may rest assured that, with Reilly at the head of the team, we will have a winning aggregation.

He has been in the baseball business for many years, and understands the game from Alpha to Omega. He knows a good player when he sees one, and does not overlook any opportunities. Last year he was manager for the Spokane Indians, and as such held the title of Standing Elk Reilly. He did good work in collecting players, and had a rattling good team. Reilly is popular with players and fans alike, and this city is to be congratulated that he has been secured to manage our team.
