DOINGS IN THE ROPED ARENA

Herrera and Downey to Box at Salt
Palace July 2.

CORBETT TRAINING HARD.

Considerable Local Interest in the Hoot-Gardner Fight for Light
Heavyweight Championship.

While it is no doubt true that the object of Herrera's visit to Salt Lake at this time was for the purpose of "taking a little rest" as Biddy Bishop says, it is equally true that the astute manager of the little Mexican does not propose to allow a good chance to pick up a little money slip. Hence the ought to be in fine trim for the mill. Since Gardner whipped Marvin Hart, Kid Carter and others, and in view of his victory over Root, he has undoubtedly gained a large following. There are many local fight fans who are inclined to think Gardner has a slight shade on prospects.

The point cannot be argued out, however. It will have to be settled in the ring. Root was whipped because of a bad hand and should have a more even chance in the coming battle.

Reports coming from San Francisco would indicate that Jim Corbett is again over training for his coming fight with Jeffries. That was the prime cause of his defeat at Carson City when he met Fitzsimmons. Jim would work hard from morning until late at night, while Fitz took matters easy. The result was that Fitz carried his strength and endurance into the ring with him, while Corbett left his in his training quarters.

The Sunday before the fight Al Smith went to Corbett's training quarters and Jim, in order to show Smith (who had a part of Corbett's side bet) how really good he was went through his entire training stunts, and that was his fatal mistake, according to Delaney, who went out after it was over and said: "Jim has just fought his battle in there; Fitz will fight his in the ring next Wednesday."

The result of the battle proved how correctly Delaney had judged matters, and although remonstrating with Corbett about working too hard, no attention was paid to his warning until it was too late. Will Jim do the same

AURELIO HERRERA.

Salt Lake fight fans will readily recognize in the above cut Biddy Bishop's little Mexican boxer, who has been wading through feather and lightweights in a manner most astounding during the last year. He is matched to box Jack Downey in this city on the 2nd of next month, and as he is a strong favorite with local ring followers, he is sure to have a big following. Herrera will attend the big fight between Corbett and Jeffries at San Francisco in August, and at that time will have a meeting with Young Corbett for the purpose of arranging a match with him for the featherweight championship of the world. Many predict for him a victory over the little Denver fighter.

match with Jack Downey.

Ever since the two Herreras and Bishop landed in the city, they have been showered with challenges from fighters of all sorts and descriptions, and if Herrera meets all the ambitious fighters, who are now tramping on his trail he will have a most busy time of it for the next year or two.

"We didn't come here to fight but to take a rest," said Bishop, "but it seems the local fight fans like the little fellow and wanted to see him box, so I finally consented to let him go against the man Downey. He does not need very much training for the reason that he takes exceptionally good care of himself and a few days' work will put him in tip top trim."

The match between the two was clinched on Wednesday night when Bishop conceded a couple of pounds to Downey. He would rather the men fought at 125, which is Herrera's natural fighting weight, but a matter of two pounds really makes no great difference. The heat will most probably be pulled off at the Salt Palace in the bicycle arena on the night of the 2nd, and judging from the interest already centered in the proposed mill, the attendance will be far greater than on the occasion of the famous Hoot-Gardner championship battle. Downey is doing his training at the Hermitage in Ogden canyon, the place where Gardner trained last summer. Herrera expects to do his work at Prof. Eugene Thompson's gymnasium where he will have every modern contrivance to work with and get himself in perfect shape. The principals will have to weigh not more than 120 pounds at 5 o'clock on the evening of the contest, and that both will be under the scale required is practically certain.

Interest in the fight between Jack Root and George Gardner increases as the time for the contest approaches. It promises to be one of the best events pulled off in a long time and betting has already started at a lively clip. The only odds suggested so far are even money, and they look right at that ratio.

Gardner has been training steadily at Fort Erie, and Root, if he followed his plans, has already left for the scene of action to put the finishing touches on his work.

Buffalo appears to have been a good selection for the fighters. It is a long time since New York people saw a championship encounter, and the reports from the east are that there will be a big delegation on hand from both sides, Root being a Chicago man, has many followers in and about the Windy City, and the special train which will run to the fight will probably be well filled.

The merits of the two fighters have been discussed so often that there is nothing new to add to it. It seems to be a question of merit, as both men thing again for his coming fight with Jeffries?

If accounts that come from Portland are to be relied upon, as being correctly quoted, then young Peter Jackson got the worst of the decision in his recent encounter with Joe Walcott in that burg. It appears that the fight was a very even affair until the fifteenth round, when Peter assumed command and had all the better of the closing rounds.

Portland is certainly coming to the front as giving unsatisfactory decisions. In the Britt-O'Keefe fight it was claimed that Britt fouled, but that the foul was of such an excusable nature, that a referee might well have overlooked the same, and not violated any etiquette of the roped arena.

The eastern fighters have claimed for years that they did not receive the same treatment west they do in the east. Be that as it may, outside of San Francisco it appears there is more rough and ready poetry in the assertion, in San Francisco where men like Grady, Welch and others have reputations to protect, there can be nothing wrong.

Biddy Bishop is extremely anxious to induce Tommy Maricham or some other equally good man to sign up for a match with Mauro Herrera, brother to Aurelio, but up to date it seems that Maricham at all do not care anything for the Mexican's game. Mauro is a pretty clever boxer himself and has several good fights on record, his latest victory being over Howard Opie, a popular little boxer. Herrera knocked Opie out in six rounds.

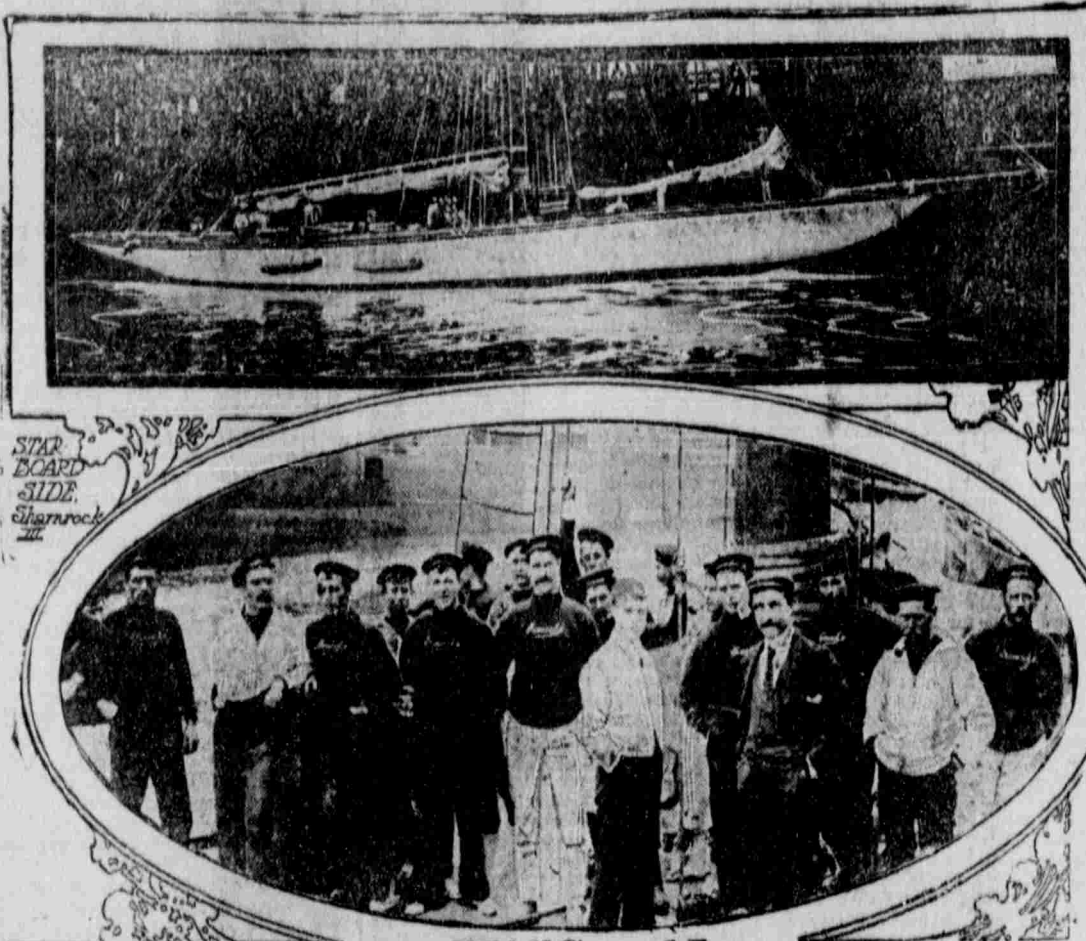

Up to date young Jack Price has entirely ignored the challenge which has been hurled at him by Kid Smith and George Hackett, and people are wondering why Price does not come back at them. There has been a great deal of gossip about the proposed championship bout between Price and Harry Forbes, but the chances of this pair coming together is so remote that "wise ones" do not take any stock in it whatever. They claim there has been too much four flushing. Probably they are right.

Starling's Attendance.

Fresh testimony in great quantity is constantly coming in, declaring Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption Coughs and Colds to be unequalled. A recent expression from T. J. McFarland, Bentonville, Va., serves as example. He writes: "I had Bronchitis for three years and doctored all the time without being benefited. Then I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery, and a few bottles wholly cured me." Equally effective in curing all Lung and Throat troubles, Consumption, Pneumonia and Grip. Guaranteed by Z. C. M. I. SOMETHING MORE OF AMERICAN DERBY

Running of the Great Event at Chicago Last Week.

JOCKEY ARTHUR HELGESEN

Joe Yeager, a Young Plunger, Picked
"The Picket" to Carry Off the Rich Prize.

The result of the great race at Chicago a week ago today, the race known as the American Derby, demonstrated the truthfulness of the statement published in the "News" on that date, to wit: That the guess of the novice was as safe a guide as the "dope" handed out by the expert after laboring over a column of figures.

As in the last three years, the favorite did not make even a good finish, while a horse that had received but little attention, comparatively, won with apparently no effort. Savable was a hot favorite, but finished fourth and that in no very brilliant manner, while The Picket roared home a winner in record breaking time. But now the race is a thing of the past, interest is centered on the jockey who piloted the horse to victory, and on those who won a fortune thereby.

Following is the line up of the horses at the finish, the distance, the prize, the jockeys who rode, the time made and the owners of the horses:

Third race, one and one-half miles. The American Derby, $25,000 added, net value to winner, $7,500.

THE JOCKEY WHO WON.

Arthur Helgesen is the little fellow who piloted The Picket to victory, and by his good work he has raised himself from comparative obscurity to a place of honor among his profession, and he stands a good chance of making a fortune.

In 1900 the little tow headed fellow went to V. Hughes of Hughes & Co. and begged for a job. He was given no encouragement on good luck and that effectiveness quality that brings success, and Hughes took him to New Orleans where he was given his first mount. In the fall of 1901 he landed a long shot third at Harlow. Hughes was impressed with the lad and decided to keep him. While it is true that Helgesen who is called "The Swede," won no big events until this spring, his improvement has been steady. This season he got third on Tancred in the Louisiana Derby and won the Mound City Derby on Banter. Take these events and his big victory in the American Derby, and the lad's record is pretty good.

THE MAN WHO WON.

It is claimed that Joe Yeager, a young plunger, was the biggest winner on the Derby; that his winning on The Picket approximates $40,000.

Yeager, who seems to hold a first mortgage on good luck and who foreclosed every time a big race is run, placed his finger on The Picket when the first odds on the Derby were announced. Although the horse had never sold a race, Yeager remembered that the son of Falsetto had broken several watches which were used to time him early in his 2-year-old career. The Picket showed his speed only in workouts, but that suited Yeager.

In February he had handed "Kid" Weller $1,000 to bet on The Picket, saying at the time that he thought Weller might be able to place it better than himself. Weller could not get much of it down, but decided to take $200 of it himself. That decision cost Weller just $18,000, and is the largest single bet which Yeager won on yesterday's Derby.

In addition to making bets with other bookmakers, Yeager decided not to let anyone bet in his own book on The Picket. In the ring at Washington Park Yeager laid against the favorite, Judge Himes and others, but refused to accept any of the public's money on the horse from Kentucky. In this way Yeager won more on the Derby than 10 other bookmakers together.

Yeager is a young man who has had phenomenal success in playing the races. He began on a fair-sized bank account and ran it into thousands so fast that he is now regarded as the most fortunate plunger on the turf. He began as a bookmaker's clerk and is now the most successful bookmaker in the west.

Last winter he did most of his playing at Hot Springs and West Baden. He couldn't lose. He plays entirely on his own judgment as to the quality of a horse and does not stop at any expense to obtain information as to a horse's workouts, form and other things. When he gets the facts, which to men collect for him, he does the rest himself. He played Judge Himes to win the Hawthorne handicap, and was a big winner on that race. At first he was put down as a lucky young man. Now his rivals are admitting that he is wise.

TUESDAY'S RACE MEET.

Main Event to be a Five Mile Race Between Motors.

It is exciting to see a motor-paced race between two good men, each working as hard as he knows how to hang on to the rear end of a speedy motorcycle, but to witness a race between the monsters with no one hanging on to the rear, and no limit to speed, is calculated to cause that brand of excitement which raises the hair on one's head. Such a race has been contemplated by Manager Schefaki for some time and he has decided that next Tuesday will be about right to run it. Accordingly the motors owned by Hopper and Samuelsen will race on that night. The big machines are now receiving a thorough overhauling and should be in first class shape for the test. Hopper's motor is the one owned recently by Johnnie Chapman. He sold it to Hopper this week.

Besides the motor event there will be a two-mile tandem for professionals and a lap race for amateurs. The probabilities are that other sprint races will be added.

HERRERA'S GOOD RECORD.

Little Mexican Has Had 44 Ring Battles of Note.

The sporting editor of the "News" has been asked several times during the week for information as to the record of Aurelio Herrera, the little Mexican fighter who is now in the city. For the purpose of supplying this information, Manager Biddy Bishop furnished the "News" the following complete record of the noted little fighter:

Motherhood

Motherhood is the reward nature bestows upon healthy womanhood. Women whose vitality has been sapped by disease cannot safely give birth to children. In pregnancy and in childbirth weakness of the mother is revealed in the pain and agony she suffers. Consciousness of possible suffering makes any woman shrink from motherhood as a dangerous ordeal.

Wine of Cardui gives women the perfect health that makes motherhood a joyful privilege. This great medicine drives out every vestige of inflammation and weakness, and gives tone and strength to the delicate organs which mature the child. The pains of pregnancy are banished by Wine of Cardui, and miscarriages, which blast so many fond mothers' hopes, are prevented. Flooding, which so often occurs after childbirth, is corrected when Wine of Cardui is used during pregnancy. Wine of Cardui babies are always because, during the months of pregnancy, the mother is able to give them necessary vitality and strength. With these facts presented to American women no expectant mother should be satisfied without the rest this valuable medicine.

Wine of Cardui can be secured from any druggist at $1.00 a bottle. Why don't you secure a bottle of this medicine to-day?

I am the mother of seven children and while in pregnancy with the first six suffered untold misery until they were born. One month before the seventh was born I began to take a bottle of Wine of Cardui, which gave me relief after taking three doses. I used the remainder of the bottle until the birth of the child, and was stronger in three days after the birth than I was in a month after the birth of either of the first six. I am 29 years old.
