Will Appeal.

Last evening the Ogden City Council held a special session, at which it was decided to take an appeal from the Ine question will be brought befere the Territorial Supreme Court at the earliest date practicable.

An Explanation.

A promise was made the subscribers to the SEMI-WEEKLY NEWS some time since that on or about the first of the present mouth that paper would be enlarged and changed in form to an 8-page sheet. Owing to the Deseret Paper Mill, which for over three months past has been shut down for repairs and improvements, failing to get started at the time expected, we have been unable up to the present to fulfill the promise mentioned, but now that the mill has commenced operations again it is expected that we will be sble-to do so during the coming week. In the meantime we ask the indulgence of our patrons.

A Ghastly Relic.

At Turngren's drug store, corner of First East and Second South Streets, is a subject for speculation in the shape of a human skull. It was unearthed in Emigration Canon a few days ago mear a tree; it seems that the tree must have been very young at the time of the interment, as one of its roots had grown through the the lower jaw from beneath, forcing that member away and causing a tooth to be imbedded in its fibres so firmly that in the onward growth of the root the tooth had been carried ar inch or more from the jaw. A Dangerous Mishap.

On Monday last Mr. Dorr Peck, who has charge of a herd of sheep, was traveling in a wagon on the desert, over Jordan, southwest of this city, accompanied by his wife and baby. To keep himself warm he got out and walked. The team being a little sluggish, be touched them with a whip. This excited them so they started away ever the rough ground at a furious rate. They ran into a deep nole which caused the wagon to give a tremendous jolt, by the force of which Mrs. Peck and the baby, which was in her arms, were thrown up and forward and they went down is front of the wagon and between the horses. Luckly the team stopped. The unfortunate lady received a severe scalp wound, evidently from being struck by the horses feet. Bybee told defendant. On the morning of him to sue for damages and if they were recovered he (Bybee) would pay them. Hall exclaimed. "Any man that will pasture his sheep on another man's land is a dirty, lousy s-n of a b-h." Bybee, stung by the vile epithet, clinched the defendant and threw bim down and struck him; Hall struck Bybee with a knife in the stomach twice. As soon as stabbed, Bybee cried to the boy John T. Clark, "I'm stabbed, send for a doctor." This was done, and Bybes was moved to the house of John T. Clark, where he died of the wounds. The direct testimony of John T.

Clark, an eye-witness, was as follows

(Here witness was shown the knife that had done the killing, and the summonist had a had only seen the history and the summonist had a had only seen the history. though he had only seen the blade, thought it to be the knife). After the clinch he had not seen defendant put his hand in his pocket; did not know Hall had a knife until Hall was on his knees and he saw the blow struck; saw no attempt to draw a weapon. The cross-examination of the witness did not materially change any of his statements, and when it was con cluded court adjourned till today.

A Good Work. We have before us Vol. VII of the Historical Record, Andrew Jensen proprietor and publisher. There are few publications that are of greater value or interest to Latter-day, Saints than this. It presents a continuous epitome of Church history from the inception of the work of God in this dispensation until the present time, Brother Jensen possesses a marked faculty for hunting out and culling historical facts, and gives as a result a periodical whose value as a work of reference alone, cannot be commensurately computed. Would-be Mobocrats. Some time in the latter part of the past week a little occurrence took place which if true does not argue well for the peace and quiet for which Ogden is renowned. Walker Beattle gave evidence in one of the city cases against parties who had broken the city ordinance by selling liquor on Sunday. His testimony was very damaging at the time and doubtless aided greatly in the conviction of the defendants. A few even-ings subsequent to this trial. Beattie, who sieeps at Thomp-son's barber shop on Fourth Street, was awakened between three and four o'clock in the morning by some one attempting to get in at the front door. He arose and started for the door, when he heard the back door tried by some one. He then concluded that the parties were there for no good. The party at the door was calling, "Mr. Beattle, I want to speak to you." "Why don't you come around in day time?" gueried Walker. "If you don't let me in I'll burst in the door." "Well, if you do, you will find me ready for you," responded Beattle who had provided P. H. First almself with a batchet. Peeping out
