Jones, a seaman on the fil-fated steamship his sourt, and who was among the few who escaped with their lives, arrived here a day or two since, in company with other survivors. His story of the disaster, and his escape, contains an item of painful interest to the friends of Col. Albert S. Evans, inasmuch as it undoubtedly furnishes the only certain clue to his fate. Jones says, after telling of the launching of their boat. "There was a passenger, a Colonel somebody, I don't know his name, who jumped overboard from the ship, after we had been sut adrift, and he tried to get into our boat, but he sunk, and never rose again."

WESTCHESTED Pa. 13.—Geo. Grant, for the murder of Amanda Spence, a year ago, was hanged here at 11 this morning. He slept well last night, and ate a hearty breakfast this morning. The scaffold was erected at the corner of the prison yard, out of the view of the prisoners or public.

New York, 18—At a coret meeting of the board of graunder writers yesterday, a resolution was adopted making the rates of insurance conform to those of 1870, which are understood to be an advance on the present rates of from ten to fifteen per court. The subject of mannature of roofs was referred to a special committee, who it is expected will declare uninsurable all building and dwellings that have manared roofs constructed. that have mansard roofs, constructed of other than fire-proof material. Insurance men are becoming more cheerful. They believe the losses by the Boston fire will fall below the estimates of Monday, which they say were placed high enough to cover all risks in the burned district. The salvage it is thought will be constderable.

Gen. Shotter, of the New York fire department, concludes, from inspection of the burnt district, that the fire was so large in consequence of the dark of the firemen in reaching the scene, the narrowness of the streets, which made it impossible to work efficiently, and the great heat, which in the open spaces prevented the firemen from approaching the burning buildings. He agrees with the chief engineer of the Boston department that the destruction of buildings by gunpowder tends rather to sprhad the fire than otherwise.

People in this city are assured that there is no likelihood of a similar calamity befalling them, because of the abundance of w ter and the superior organization of the fire department. Two new Peservoirs are buildings to
