BREVITIES.

Young ladies do not know what a beautifier industry is.

It is well that virtue is its own reward, for it rarely obtains any other.

Some one calls the time of queening girls' hands, the painful days of life.

Instead of regretting that we are sometimes deceived, we should rather lament that we are ever undeceived.

In all the American National Cemeteries there now repose the remains of 325,000 Union soldiers.

Never act the hypocrite. Keep good company. Speak the truth at all times.

A Cincinnati has bought the privilege of advertising on the lamp-posts.

Ignorance is disgraceful, and laziness is shameful.

Men slip on water when it is frozen, and on whiskey when it isn't.

Napoleon paid the fees of his cousin's installation as Cardinal. They amounted to $13,000.

Spurgeon lately received an anonymous letter containing $2,000 in notes.

Four thousand tons of steel rails are being laid on the line of the New Haven Railroad.

One in three of the population of Edinburgh, or 65,000 persons, live in houses of only one room.

A box for the season at either of the London opera houses, costs only a trifle over $1,250.

Rossini, the composer, was eighty-four years of age on the 29th Feb. last. It was his twenty-first birthday.

A bore is a fellow who keeps talking to you about himself when you want him to talk about yourself.

It was a British magistrate who, being told by a vagabond that he was not married, responded, "That's a good thing for your wife."

China is rapidly undergoing the process of civilization. Beer has been successfully made at Shanghai, and a whisky distillery is being constructed.

The editor of the Lancaster (O.) Gazette has been severely injured by a horse shoe magnet.

Australia has trees that are taller than those of California. One has been discovered four hundred and eighty feet high, which is taller than the highest church spire in Christendom, and as tall as the great pyramid of Cheops.

A very tragic affair took place recently, in one of the Paris barracks. A captain of Foot Chasseurs mustered his company, and when the men were all in order and at "attention," he said, "Good-bye, my boys, you won't see me any more!" pulled out a revolver, and shot himself through the chest. He was not killed on the spot, but his wound was mortal.

The father of Mr. Gladstone, the celebrated English statesman, though he died a baronet, began life in the last century, as a cabin boy in a brig to Jamaica, having reached Liverpool from the eastern shore of Scotland, as a poor youth willing to work for his bread.

In Algiers the famine is terrible. An Arab woman recently killed her daughter, twelve years of age, and gave the flesh to her other children, and partook of it herself. The legal authorities at once proceeded to the spot, and on entering the hut found the mother occupied in salting the flesh, cut up into pieces, just as is done with pork.

What the eye is to the human body, the press is to the world at large. Through the press we see foreign lands, and foreign parts see us. Those eyes are the larger and more useful the more they are used and relied upon, for if they are neglected, they become like the optics of fishes in subterranean streams, entirely sightless.

The horse has been known to live sixty-two years, but averages about twenty-five years. Dogs live about twenty years, if let alone. Sheep seldom exceed the age of ten. Bulls live to the age of twenty, and cows about fifteen. Squirrels and birds seldom exceed seven years. Elephants have been known to be four hundred years old; camels one hundred; lions from sixty to seventy; the rhinoceros twenty. Cuvier, the great French naturalist, thought it likely that whales lived a thousand years.

A Professor of medicine at the Vienna University has succeeded in saving the lives of many cholera patients, who had already been given up by the other physicians, by the so-called transfusion process. The blood of the healthy young men or women is infused into the veins of the patients to the extent of a pint or three pints. In many instances the success was almost immediate. The face of the patient assumed a more natural appearance during the operation, the pulse grew more normal and the patient was entirely well, though feeble yet, in the course of a few hours.

NEWSPAPERS.—I never derive more benefit, or see more pleasure for the time, than reading a newspaper which has been lately issued from the press. I do really believe that nothing adds so much glory to my country as newspapers. Liberty is stamped legibly upon its pages, and even the folds are marked with freedom. Do you want to know how your country thrives? I point you to the press. There you will find a piece under the head of "legislation." Look there! What book can furnish such good accounts of murder, robbery, accidents, marriages, anecdotes, and many other such things? Under all these considerations, who is there in all this land of freedom that will not attend to an object so worthy this regard?—[Dr. Johnson.]
