other contract, dated December 2, 1893, was drawn up and substituted to hose prior one. This second contract bound Evans and Rogers to give Thomas Nelson one-third of one-half of any amounts which may be collected, whether on compromise or otherwise, in consideration of Thomas Nelson furnishing witnesses necessary to prose-cute the case. Most of the witnesses and the facts they were in possession of were known to the attorneys.

Thomas Nelson attended the trial and also procured the attendance of two others, in the persons of Pascall and Sanders, Judgment was recovered against the Southern Pacific for $10,000, with ac-crued interest, which was paid over to Evans and Rogers, who gave the widow one-half and retained the other them-selves. Thomas Nelson demanded his one-third of the one-half, which the attorneys refused to pay on the ground that Nelson had not performed his part of the contract. Nelson then employed Attorney P. L. Williams, who was the attorney for the Southern Pacific when the damage suit was prosecuted, and h resulted in the filing of a suit by Wil liams, in Nelson's behalf, against Evans and Rogers for the recovery on the contract.
