BREVITIES.

The petroleum men are great bores, but they mean well.

Mrs. Smith and Husband is the style of a Terre Haute firm.

A vessel cleared from Charleston the other day with lumber for Australia.

"Month" is the sole unrhymable monosyllable in the English language.

The best guardian of a woman's happiness is a husband's love; and for her honor, her own affection.

Manton Marble of the New York World has been seriously ill and threatened with blindness.

Riel has determined, on second thought, not to annex the United States.

Silence is the safest response for all contradiction that arises from impertinence, vulgarity or envy.

A schoolmaster in Ireland threatens that he will keep a Sunday school twice a week—Tuesdays and Saturdays.

McOlliver is trying to put down dueling in France, and his wife is trying to elevate the ladies' dresses—at the neck.

Bellevue says Beecher is a Unitarian, and Beecher says Bellevue is orthodox. They are both preparing for the ring.

A blind man named Chapin, of Indianapolis, is the architect of the new Blind Asylum at Jacksonville, Ill.

Only $500 capital is required to buy a pair of English fox-hounds. The necessary working capital to run them is somewhat heavier.

The Emperor and Empress of Austria washed the feet of twelve poor old men and women in the throne room at Vienna.

The present Lord Derby has sold out his father's estates, from which it is argued that the house is not as stable as formerly.

General Fremont talks of joining the army of the Pacha of Egypt. Sure evidence that no fighting is apprehended.

"Let us remove temptation from the path of youth," as the frog said when he plunged into the water, upon seeing a boy pick up a stone.

A New York reporter of a thoughtful turn of mind has written his own obituary. He appreciates the uncertainty of reportorial life.

It is rumored that Victoria C. Woodhall and Mrs. Claffing, the female brokers of New York, contemplate starting a daily paper.

An urechin being sent for five cents' worth of Macaboy stuff, forgot the name of the article, and asked for five cents worth of make-a-boy-sneez.

Iowa forces its female convicts to break stones just like men. Such is one of the inconveniences of woman's securing the attributes of the other sex.

Mr. Bonner paid Mr. Greeley $25,000 for his "Foolishness," the same that he paid Mr. Beecher for his "Norwood" story, according to a recent correspondence.

"Shall I help you to a piece of bacon?" "No, thank you; I never eat bacon," said one traveler.

"Well, then," said the station keeper, "help yourself to the mustard!"

The difference between war and peace has been well defined by one of the ancients: "In time of peace the sons bury their fathers; in time of war the fathers bury their sons."

A Pennsylvania editor, after criticizing the news published by a rival sheet, winds up by saying: "If there is anything else that has taken place in the future we should be glad to hear of it."

An exchange says:

"The coward who would strike the mother of his children deserves to be shot with lightning and condemned to wander eternally over a desert of gunpowder."

Chief Justice Chase is by no means in the enfeebled condition which has been represented. He says he is much better now than he has been for several months, and has no idea of taking a European tour.

In New York, before a witness is examined in court, the question is asked: "Have you ever been a member of the city government?" If the reply is in the affirmative, the attorney invariably adds: "Step aside, sir."

Seven miners, exploring the mountains, found an enormous chunk of gold. They fought for its possession till all were killed but one. It was too heavy for him to carry off, so he sat down upon it and started to sleep.

Emerson, in one of his recent essays, says: "The chain of western railroads, from Chicago to the Pacific, has planted cities and civilization in less time than it costs to bring an orchard into bearing."

A Frenchman once hired a room in Paris on condition that the servant would wake him every morning at daybreak, and tell him the day of the week, the state of the weather and under what form of government he was living.

An old lady, receiving a letter she supposed was from one of her absent sons, requested her neighbor to read it. He accordingly began to read: "Dear mother"—then paused, as the writing was rather illegible. "It's from Johnny," exclaimed the old lady, "he always stutters."

It is estimated that the principal business of many of the gentlemen who have been patriotically residing in New York since the insurrection broke out in their native land, has been to get married to American girls in good pecuniary circumstances.

NEW YORK.

Private election fight—The "World" jubilee—Mrs. Stanton lectures—Petition to condemn McFarland—The "Tribune's" view of the election.

NEW YORK, 18.—A fire last night destroyed the machinery and stock of a charcoal grinding company, at 37, Cherry street, to the amount of $75,000. The building was badly damaged.

At an election for a new board of directors of the Mercantile Library Association yesterday, a very exciting fight took place around the ballot box, when the polls closed; but the inspectors saved the sacred urn from demolition. The election resulted in the success of the Regular over the Reform ticket.

The World says the judiciary election of this State, yesterday, resulted in an overwhelming Democratic triumph. The gains of the Democrats are uniform in all parts of the State. From the county the returns are especially gratifying. It is estimated that the majority for the Democratic Chief Justice in the State is at least 53,000. The Democratic majority in the city is 60,070. All the Democratic candidates for Judges of Common Pleas and Marine Courts, with Aldermen and Assistant Treasurer, were elected. In Brooklyn the regular Democratic ticket was successful over the coalition. The election passed off very quiet. In the city the negroes voted unmolested, with the exception of one or two isolated cases. Several negroes have been arrested as having been repeaters.

Mrs. Stanton delivered an address in Apollo Hall, yesterday, before a large gathering of ladies. She ventilated very fully her views on the McFarland case. Eleanor Kirk read a petition to Governor Hoffman, asking him to have McFarland placed in a lunatic asylum, which the meeting adopted with enthusiasm; also the Sorosis resolutions, tendering sympathy to Mrs. McFarland and approving the conduct of Richardson.

Miss Anthony, Mrs. Robert Dale Owen, Miss Phoebe Cozzens and Miss Catharine Beecher also made speeches; the latter advocated legal separation rather than divorce for unhappy married people, in order to prevent a man who has destroyed the happiness of the woman from ever having an opportunity to repeat such conduct.

The Tribune says that the legal vote of the city was only about half polled yesterday, but legal voters were out in all their glory in most of the lower wards and more fraudulent than lawful votes were cast, some voters making a day off by voting from poll to poll, sometimes in the names of legal voters whom they falsely represented.

ILLINOIS.

House bill—Another University—The Bank Bill.

CHICAGO.—Yesterday, while a house was being raised, to level the streets, it fell down, burying in the ruins one of the inmates, a woman, who was seriously injured.

The corner stone of the Southern Illinois Normal University was laid at Carbondale, yesterday, with Masonic ceremonies, in the presence of a large assemblage.

A Washington special states that the banking committee voted down all the amendments to the new bank bill which, therefore, will be reported in the House in the shape of providing for the issue of $5,000,000 of national currency to the States having less than their proportion and for the redemption and cancellation of 45,000,000 of the three per cent certificates and for the cancellation of 40,000,000 of additional legal tenders. The currency will be secured by a deposit of four and one-half per cent bonds, exempt from taxation, and that when fifty millions of the new issue had been taken up, all the banks shall receive four and one-half per cent bonds as security for their circulation. It provides for free banking on a gold basis and for redistribution of twenty-five millions of national bank notes. It reduces the tax on the circulation one half on all banks that secure all their circulation by the new bonds.

The feeling in the House is strong in favor of a greater reduction in taxation than the committee has reported, and it becomes certain that no reduction of the tariff will be made, a number of prominent members are in favor of fixing the aggregate reduction of the internal taxes at from fifty to seventy millions.

Ships may pass the Saint St. Marie canal.

TORONTO.—The Daily Telegraph, this morning, says, we are pleased to announce that the Government at Washington has issued instructions that our ships shall be allowed to pass the Saint St. Marie canal, with all their cargoes, etc., except munitions of war.

A NEWSPAPER RELIC.—The editor of the Binghamton (New York) Republic has a copy of the United States Gazette of January 4th, 1800. It is dressed in mourning for the death of Washington, which occurred on the 14th of December previous. There are black lines one-half of an inch in breadth around the pages, and one-fourth of an inch black lines occupy the places of common rules. The paper contains an account of the ceremonies of the funeral of Washington, with the proceedings of Congress, and the eulogium. After describing the last tribute—three general discharges by the infantry, the cavalry and artillery, over the vault—the paper says: "The sun was now setting; and the Sun of God was set forever. No—the name of Washington, the American President and General, will triumph over Death! The unclouded brightness of his glory will illuminate the future ages." The same paper contains extracts from foreign correspondence of September and October, the latest foreign date being London, October 24th, two months and eleven days previous. The paper is in a comparatively good state of preservation.—Printing Gazette.
