COMMITTEE.

Bound Over.—Yesterday afternoon the pursuit of Joseph Ladd, who threw cayenne pepper into the eyes of his guard and escaped, was conducted by officers Smith, Salmon, Calder and Bateman. Ladd made his way to the Hot Springs, whither officer Calder went on the train and officers Smith and Salmon in a buggy. Mr. Calder intercepted Ladd as he was about to get on the train at the Springs, and placed him under arrest. This morning the two prisoners, Ladd and Luckhardt, were arraigned before Justice Pyper on a charge of burglary. Luckhardt gave his account of the transaction, saying he first went into Mrs. Emery's lot to get apples." He learned from a little boy that the house was empty, and on looking in at an open window saw some bedclothes. He told Ladd of his discovery and about 11 o'clock on Wednesday night the two entered the house and searched it for valuables. They took the lock off the door, and carried the stolen goods to the old race track where most of them were found. Three books were sold to a pawnbroker. The boy stated that his father was an engineer, and lived at 23 Stevenson Street, San Francisco. He seemed to feel keenly the position in which he had placed himself. Ladd's version of the affair agreed with that of his companion. He, however, appeared to care less about the fact that a term of years in the penitentiary was staring him in the face, and conducted himself with the abandon of an old offender.

When the defendants had concluded their statements, Justice Pyper fixed their bonds to await the action of the grand jury at $2,000 each, and failing to furnish the amount, the prisoners were remanded to the custody of the Sheriff.

Pioneer Day.—Numerous opportunities are offered to the rest or pleasure seeker for the observance of to-morrow as a general holiday. The exercises at the Tabernacle in the forenoon will doubtless attract the greater portion of the people. A good programme has been arranged for the occasion. The Sunday School children will occupy the lower part of the building, while their parents and friends will have free access to the gallery, and a cordial invitation is extended to all. The proceedings will commence at 10 o'clock.

In the afternoon Washington Square will be the field for sports, such as base ball, racing, etc. A five mile handicap bicycle race, will be contested, the first prize to be a fine silver goblet; second prize, an elegant napkin ring. Boys' race, half mile, free to all from 10 to 12 years of age; first prize, base ball and bat; second prize, silk handkerchief. Boys' race, half mile, free to all from 6 to 9 years; first prize, base ball and bat; second prize, silk handkerchief. The races will commence promptly at half past one, though the closing one will not be run until the base ball game is concluded, as the Ogden club desire to return on the evening train. The base ball match will be a contest for $50 a side, and is one of the games for the championship. It will no doubt be warmly contested. The players are: Ogden club—Wells, c.; O. Wells, p.; Devoto, 1st b.; Browning, 2d b.; Farley, 3d b.; Brown, s. s.; Reed, l. f.; Boyle, c. f.; Allen, r. f. Salt Lake club—Lloyd, c.; W. Busby, p.; Larson, 1st b.; Margetts, 2d b.; Platte, 3d b.; Goulding, s. s.; Hodge, l. f.; Spiers, c. f.; T. Busby, r. f.

In the evening the John T. Raymond Company will appear in their latest success, "For Congress." The company arrived to-day from the west, and as they have been thoroughly advertised, will doubtless draw a good house to witness Pinero's comedy of "The Magistrate" to-night. To-morrow, evening, however, the largest attendance is anticipated.

At 7:20 to-morrow morning, those who desire to visit their friends in Sanpete, Juab and Utah Counties at a low rate will leave the Utah Central depot on the four days' excursion; Pioneer Day celebrations will occur at the various towns along the line.

Lake Point, Garfield, Beck's Hot Springs, Fuller's Hill, Calder's Gardens and other places of amusement are also open for the entertainment of those who visit them.

The Highest Premium.—Some time since the Alabastine Company, of Grand Rapids, Michigan, offered a large number of cash premiums, ranging from $5 to $100, for the best specimens of painting done with their Alabastine paint. Some time since the agent of the company was in Utah and took great interest in examining work done with this material By Mr. Wm. C. Morris of this city. Among the ornamental designs executed in this distemper substance is the ceiling of the Seventh Ward schoolhouse, besides other public and some of the best private buildings in town.

The competition extended to every State and Territory in the Union. The other day Mr. Morris received a letter from the company giving him the gratifying information that he had been awarded the highest premium. The letter enclosed the prize—a check for one hundred dollars.

The paint referred to is dry color in a great variety of clear and beautiful tints. The adhesive material is ground up with it, so that it is ready for use as soon as mixed. It is a species of cement, and leaves a hard surface impervious to water. Mr. Morris considers it the best material of its class he has ever used. Some time since an advertisement of the company appeared in our columns, Messrs. Sears and Liddell being the local agents.

We congratulate Mr. Morris on his success. He deserves it, as he has few superiors in America as a house painter and decorator.

The Young Burglars.—A most unpleasant sight greeted Justice Pyper in court this morning. Before him were the five boys under arrest for burglarizing the Nobles house on Monday evening. They were all quite small, four of them ranging from 9 to 12 years of age, and one 14. The whole five—Luson Adams, Buscky Due, Jas. Gindrup, Florence McDonald, and Noble McDonald—gave an account of the part they took in the affair, which showed that Adams, the eldest of the gang, was the leader in the movement. The Court took the matter under advisement.

Young Adams seems to be a thoroughly hardened criminal. He has been before the police court a number of times for larceny, and there are now several complaints pending against him. He was sentenced on one charge to a term of imprisonment, and several weeks ago was permitted to come outside of the jail to do some chores. He saw his opportunity and ran away, and was not seen again until his recent arrest. He still has 22 days of the former sentence to serve. The others do not seem so vicious, and considering the fact that it only makes boys worse to place them with old criminals, it may be that Judge Pyper will show lenience to the four in the hope that they may be reclaimed from their waywardness.

Attempt to Escape.—Last evening the county jailor discovered, in time to prevent its success, an attempt to break jail, made by Williamson and Eardley, the two young fellows who are being held to await trial for horse stealing. Night before last the jailor fancied he heard an unusual noise in one of the cells, like scratching at the wall, and kept a close watch. Careful examination last night revealed the fact that the prisoners named had dug a large hole into the foundation wall of the court house. The rocks had been removed, and when daylight came, the prisoners had replaced them carefully and daubed the crevices over with the plaster they had got out, and which they softened with the water given them for drink. This work was done so neatly that at first glance the wall seemed all right, but closer investigation showed that the rocks were loose and could be removed in a few minutes. If the attempt had not been discovered when it was, another night's work would have placed the culprits outside of the jail.

Theatre To-night.—This evening John T. Raymond and his company appear at the Theatre in "The Magistrate." Of the piece the Philadelphia Record says:

"The performances at the Walnut Street Theatre during the past week have drawn crowds to Mr. Fleishman's beautiful theatre, the business thus far being the largest of the season. Mr. Raymond will continue to present "The Magistrate" for the New Year's holidays. The role of the police justice, Aeneas Poskett, fits the genial star like a glove, and affords him more opportunities for artistic acting than any part he has hitherto assumed, while his drollery in it is simply irresistible. The excellent support adds vastly to the ensemble effect of the performance. A play so droll, so admirably acted, and so handsomely mounted has rarely been seen on a Philadelphia stage."

THE Fourth Quorum of Seventies will hold their regular meeting in the Twenty-first Ward meeting house, on Monday evening next, at half-past 7 o'clock.

OUR OGDEN LETTER.

OGDEN CITY, Utah,
July 22, 1886.

Editor Deseret News:

The recent scandal case here has created

not only in this city but throughout the county, as the parties most immediately interested are widely known. Considerable ill feeling has grown out of the verdict rendered at the termination of the legal investigation which occupied the entire attention of the District Court here for two whole days. But whatever feelings there may be abroad in regard to the action of the jury in the matter, it was and is evident to all who were present at the trial that they could render no other verdict than that of

from the testimony given by the witnesses in court. There was not one witness produced, nor one word of evidence introduced by the defense to counteract or to rebut that of the prosecution that benefitted Greenwell in the least, and although there was acrimony exhibited in the closing speech of the prosecuting attorney, it was unnecessary, for the course of the jury was clear in view of the statements of the witnesses, and they certainly cannot, and ought not in this instance to be blamed for the decision they rendered. The young man who was the defendant is unfortunate: he is to be pitied, and whether or not he has been of the machinations and evil designs of spiteful individuals, time will determine, and it is to be hoped in the near future. Certainly the matter is at present involved in some mystery, and there are but few persons who believe the young man manufactured such false statements out of whole cloth to gratify a malicious or revengeful desire, whatever may be his idiosyncrasies, for it is well known that he is not of a vicious disposition.

Last night, a couple of hours after the close of the trial, Mr. Samuel H. Hobson, the Ogden correspondent of the Salt Lake Herald, went into a saloon on the east side of Main Street, to "take a glass of beer." Quite a large number of other persons were there, and Mr. Hobson noticed that a couple were sitting together at a table, when one of them pointed H. out to the other and whispered something in his ear. Shortly after a young man arose from the table, approached Mr. Hobson, and addressing him said: "I understand that you have said my sister does not possess a good character." "Who is your sister?" said Hobson. "Sarah Herrick," replied the other. Hobson answered, "No, sir, I do not know that I ever said anything about the young lady." Nelson Herrick, for he was the young man, then struck the Herald correspondent a severe blow across the and near the left eye, which bruised them very much. He also struck him several other blows on the side of the head, all of which were more or less severe, but none of them dangerous. Hobson says he clutched his assailant and held him at bay as well as he could until some of those present took him off; he did not return the blows but went for an officer and had young Herrick arrested. He was taken to the city building and shortly afterwards released on his own recognizance, to appear when called upon. Hobson has not yet entered any complaint, and I am of the opinion that he will not do so, but will prefer to let the matter die out without further notice. I obtained the above in an interview with Hobson this morning.

Early this morning detachments of the

SELLS BROS. CIRCUS

Began to arrive and pitch tents on the Union Square. By eight o'clock the people from the country began to arrive in large numbers "to see the show." By ten o'clock the town was filled with people and shortly after it was estimated that the numbers had swelled to ten thousand.

In due course the

was formed which consisted of the usual paraphernalia. There were about thirty carriages, three bands of music, elephants, camels and other animals, including the diminutive shetland ponies and small donkeys, etc. They paraded through some of the principal streets of the town, returned to the square, gave a free exhibition of wire walking, opened the side show for an hour and then commenced the general exhibition. They gave two performances.

THE SALOONS

must have scraped in a great many dimes to-day as well as the big show folks. We have a large number of saloons in this city, and they were, or appeared to be crowded with visitors throughout the day, and there is no doubt that they patronized their hosts liberally. But the day has, so far as I have learned, passed off quietly and peaceably. No fights have occurred, and but few appeared to have more of the "stimulation" than they could carry alone.

WEBER.

The Davis County Convention of the People's Party, met in the Court House, Farmington, Davis County, Utah, pursuant to the call of the County Central Committee, on Wednesday, July 21st. George A. No Use for Them Here.—The following from the Dillon Tribune refers to an outfit that has already held forth in this city, and for whom our citizens have no further use:

"The three 'tea fakirs' who skipped out of Butte, and who were so unceremoniously arrested by Sheriff Jones Tuesday night, fixed up matters and left town Wednesday night for Salt Lake, where they will, in all probability, open up with their cheap tea and coffee packages, and their 'snide' jewelry prizes. They caught many 'suckers' in Butte, and after the Miner's expose of their swindle, they found that city too hot to hold them."

At a funeral in North Carolina a few days ago the coffin arrived at the grave just as the sexton had finished inspecting some of the dirt thrown up and discovered indications of gold. A hurried consultation was held with the widow of the deceased, and she was asked whether she would go ahead and work the claim or fill up the hole on the old man.

"I guess we'll take the coffin over to the barn and leave him there for a few days," she replied. "If there's gold here I want it, and if there isn't any, why he won't be no wus off. Jacob never was no hand to kick, anyhow, and it's too late for him to begin now."
