CHINESE FEUD IS FEARED IN BOISE

Extradition Case Draws Dire Prediction From San Francisco Detective.

FACILITIES FOR ELOPEMENT

Ticket Agent Apparently Stole Tickets To Los Angeles for Himself and His Runaway Mate.

BOISE, Oct. 7.—A feud among the Chinese of this city seems greatly to be feared by some, over the case of the two Celestials for whom extradition is being sought by the San Francisco authorities. The accused couple, Wong Gow and Chen Moy, will have their final hearing before Governor James H. Brady next Saturday when the chief executive will either sign or refuse to sign the extradition papers.

If he refuses to do so, great trouble may be expected in Chinatown, in which war will be waged to the knife, according to Sergeant J. A. Fitzgerald of the detective force of San Francisco. "The governor will be responsible," he declared, "for any carnal act of crime that is committed by Chinese." Brady, following the decision as he has intimated will be done of the second request for the return of the two Chinese to San Francisco, is presuming to deal with Chinese problems of San Francisco that have confronted officers and the courts of California for years, and the Chinese case will become the most famous of any ever recorded in California.

It has just been learned through a letter received by two local Chinamen, who had figured prominently in aiding the fugitives, that their lives, as well as the lives of Wong Gow and Chen Moy, are in danger, a reward of $500 having been offered for any one of the four.

The latter further predicted that the Chinese who are interested in securing the recognition of the young couple are the very men who were the woman's former keepers.

At the first hearing before Governor Brady it was demonstrated that Chen Moy, who is wanted in San Francisco for immoral purposes, now the indictment against the couple is grand larceny.

Whatever the results of his decision may be, Governor Brady has declared that he will not be influenced from any source in deciding upon the merits of the case, claiming that he will give it his best effort to determine and will find an opinion following a full course of wisdom and conscience. The Ministerial association and certain women's organizations have protested most vehemently against the regulation.

MAYOR USES AXE.

Mayor Pence himself a Democrat, has struck local Democracy a hard blow with a swing of his official axe, which landed like a thunderbolt in the camp of the peace forces. Without warning he deliberately cut Chief of Police W. N. Reeves from the municipal payroll and with another blow severed the connections of a crew of Deaf Seafarers Peter M. Davis. His reasons for thus dispensing with the services of his former appointees were merely "for the good of the service."

Immediately upon the creation of these two vacancies Mayor Pence ap-

MARRIED FIFTY YEARS.

McCammon, Idaho, Oct. 7.—Mr. and Mrs. John H. Stinger celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage in the McCommon Opera House on Friday, Oct. 1. A program was rendered, with music by the McCammon brass band, after which about 50 plates were laid for supper. After supper a social hop was enjoyed by all those present. Some beautiful presents were given the "bride and groom."

REFUSES LICENSES TO SALOONS.

Last Friday morning five more saloons in Boise, making seven so far, were granted permission to open their doors for the transaction of business and their licenses having been renewed by the common council the night before.
The applications received Thursday were from W. H. Rich, Alcove bar; Darby & Sechler, Maple bar; Bedal Bros., Montreal saloon; S. A. McLaughlin & Minot saloon; Hiller & Smith, Arc Light Saloon. These, together with the Silver Bell, conducted by Albert Rhode, and the First and Last Chance, conducted by the Elmo Brewing & Malting company, which were revoked Wednesday, make a total of seven retail places that have been denied licenses by the city fathers.

At the first hearing before the council Friday night the rejected saloonmen were represented by Joseph H. Hawley, praying that the saloons be allowed to remain open until such time as their right to continue in business had been passed upon by the supreme court, but the council turned a deaf ear to the petition and the same was denied.

Following the hearing, Edward Darby and W. D. Scoulard, proprietors of the Maple Bar saloon, retained the law firm of Hawley, Puckett and Hawley, and instituted an action to determine the legality of the action of the city council in refusing to renew licenses of seven of Boise's 27 saloons.

The application of the complainants asks for a writ of mandamus compelling the mayor and city commissioners to grant a license. Judge Wood immediately issued an alternative writ, calling upon the city authorities to appear and show cause why the license should not be granted, returnable Thursday morning at 10 o'clock.

FLEMMING CASE.

There was filed a few days ago in the supreme court of Idaho a complaint on the appeal of the case of the state vs.
John Flemming, convicted Sept. 12, of murder in the first degree.

Flemming was tried in the Lincoln county district court and the jury returned a verdict of guilty after short deliberation. During the progress of the trial his wife's remains, found in a box in a window of the Flemming home, were exhibited in evidence and taken to the state asylum at Blackfoot, where she has been an inmate during her husband's term of imprisonment of more than a year, pending an appeal, the expense of which is being borne by a wealthy relative in the east, who had known nothing of the murder until after the trial.

Flemming, in the occasion of the second execution, indicating the same reckless spirit which has characterized his deportment at the penitentiary, declared: "I am tired of this holding around.
If they are going to get me I wish they would come ahead."

Flemming killed a man named Frank Langford July 1, 1908. The crime was committed near the town of Bogart and the victim, it is alleged, was driving along the road when shot from ambush. Flemming was arrested and taken to Shoshone, where he was tried at the September term of the court, and sentenced to death.

SHEEP MEN TEST LAW.

Before the close of the term of the district court on Tuesday, a case was instituted to test the constitutionality of the law which prohibits the driving of sheep over cattle ranges and which has been on the books of the state for more than 20 years. Prosecuting Atty.
Wood instituted the action against Frank Crossen and Glenn Strand, who was stationed in Oregon by Atty. D.
L. Glavin, representing the defendants, that an appeal would be taken to the supreme court to test the validity of the enactment. A jury was waived by counsel, and it was agreed that arguments should be made before Judge Wood in Boise and a decision handed down at the opening of the next term of court in Idaho county.

The proceeding is the outcome of the Hawkins-Bond controversy, which has been pending for years.

PARDON BOARD ACTS.

Pardon was granted to five prisoners yesterday by the state board of pardons at its regular quarterly meeting. Those receiving clemency are: Henry McCormick, sentenced in Canyon County, he served several months ago; Charles Copeland, sentenced from Blaine county for burning Judge Stock-singer's house; Jacob Ivins, sentenced from Lincoln county, and Jacob Harting, sentenced from Idaho county, the latter pardon to take effect Nov. 1.

The second pardon case was set for Saturday at 10 o'clock when Atty.
McDonald, the third member of the board, absent at the meeting, is expected to be present. James P. Wayne, county attorney of Shoshone county, will appear to oppose the pardon for Gonde, which is sought by Featherston & Fox.

The state fair to be held in this city all during the coming week is destined to be a record breaker, both from the standpoint of exhibits and attractions, and the visitors, too, are expected to far outnumber former visitors. Several new buildings for exhibits and a number of new stock sheds have been erected to care for the exhibits.

The exhibits in agriculture, horticulture, poultry and livestock will be the best ever seen in the state.

Several heads of the prize winners in categories are expected from the Seattle fair.

The harness and running races at the intermountain fair this year, regardless of the fact that no selling and bookmaking has been prohibited, it is declared will be as fast and as well met as any similar event in the northwest.

W. H. Howell, who is acting superintendent of the speed department, for the past two weeks has been attending the Oregon state fair and the Portland race meeting, and reports that all the horse-mare meet there are in line for a stopover in Boise.

Without the greatest attraction by way of amusement will be the production of the "Song of Jericho" each evening during the western Riverside parties. The production of the entertainment in this old Bible story will be a $1,000 display of fireworks.

Out of the vast volume of experience which Mrs. Pinkham has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge needed in your case.

She asks nothing in return except your good will, and her advice has helped thousands.

Surely any woman, rich or poor, should be glad to take advantage of this generous offer of assistance. Address Mrs. Pinkham, care of Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

Stop Women And Consider

This Fact—that in addressing Mrs. Pinkham you are confiding your private ills to a woman—a woman whose experience with women's diseases covers twenty-five years.

The present Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, was for years under her direction, and has ever since her decease continued to advise women.

Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing well that they ought to have immediate assistance, but a natural modesty causes them to shrink from exposing themselves to the questions and probable examinations of even their family physician. Such questioning and examination is unnecessary. Without cost you can consult a woman whose knowledge from actual experience is great.

MRS. PINKHAM'S STANDING INVITATION:

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established this confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken. Never has she published a testimonial or used a letter without the written consent of the writer, and never has the company allowed these confidential letters to get out of their possession, as the hundreds of thousands of them in their files will attest.

Out of the vast volume of experience which Mrs. Pinkham has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge needed in your case. She asks nothing in return except your good will, and her advice has helped thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, should be glad to take advantage of this generous offer of assistance. against the Nampa ticket agent, Clayton K. Reed, who left his young, delicate wife and eloped last week with a telephone operator. The couple were thought for a time to be hiding in Oregon, but inquiries as to how far they are somewhere in California. Immediately following the elopement, the Oregon Short Line company caused an audit to be made of the accounts in the ticket office, and after diligent effort discovered that two tickets, good from Nampa to Los Angeles, had been appropriated. This is the only clue to the present whereabouts of the couple. The railroad company declares its intention to pursue its sleeping employee and, if overtaken, make him answer to the charge of larceny.
