MAYOR REFUSES TO SIGN.

Bill Passed by St. Louis Council Authorizing the Issue of Bonds.

St. Louis, Jan. 31.—Mayor Zeigenhein today refused to sign the bill passed by the municipal assembly authorizing the issuance of $5,000,000 of bonds for World's fair, to be held in 1905. In his conference with Chairman Wm. Thomp-son, of the World's fair finance com-mittee, Mayor Zeigenhein objected to mittee, Mayor Zeigenhein objected to signing the bill in its present form, say-ing that it was the loosest measure of its kind that he had ever seen. The point which he raised most urgently against the bill was that no provision was made for refunding to the city treasury any surplus over $5,000,000 which might be realized from the sale of the bonds.

Mr. Thompson's reply to this objection was the promise that the World's fair management would furnish any kind of a bond which the mayor might desire as a guarantee that any surplus paid to the city treasury.

It had been hoped by the World's fair officials that the mayor's signature would be secured early enough to enwould be secured early enough to en-able them to start a certified copy of the bill to Washington on the mail train departing from St. Louis at noon today, in order that it might be received there in time to be presented this week to the congressional commit-tee having the matter of $5,000,000 gov-ernment appropriation in charge.

AMUSEMENTS. mmmmm

There was a heavy drop in the business of the Boston Lyric Opera company last night, no doubt due to the absence of the three Italian stars from the cast, and the generally prevailing impression that the company could not equal the rendition given of the "fdol's Eye" by Frank Daniels, which remains in the memory of our theater-goers as one of his brightest productions and most laughable creations. The performance proved no disappointment in this regard. Perhaps if Daniel's rendition had never been seen, last night's would have scored a big hit, but as comparisons were inevitable, the present version could not help suffering. The chorus did much better work than in the serious opera, and there were a number of encores, especially for such numbers as "I Just Dropped In," "The Tattooed Man," and the song of the Nautch Girl. Mr. Henderson in Frank Daniels role, however, is not sufficiently a natural humorist to make everything possible of the part, and the comedy palm was rather carried off by Mr. Kunkel in the "Hoot Man" role. Miss Davis and Miss Stan-Man" role. Miss Davis and Miss Stanton did their work acceptably, but Mr. Hallam, the tenor, might have been making his first appearance on any stage. The piece went with considerable dash and was scened and costumed handsomely. It will be rendered again tonight, and for a Saturday matinee. "Wang" will be the bill tomorrow night

The announcement that the Grand would render "The Little Minister" next week, has stirred up considerable comment, at which Mr. Cummings is not mourning. Mr. Pyper, under-standing that this play was controlled by the Frohmans, wrote Manager Hayman about the Grand announcement and received the following letter:
