ESCAPE OF A MONTANA MURDERER

Mining Silver—silver's Gold Producers—alleged robbery by Comstock.

The Lohi Sugar Factory company is having a sugar shortage right now at the factory in which to store sugar.

It is estimated that a portion will soon be eliminated, probably by a early morning flight to the mountains, to the Big Horn Basin country.

An advertising paper in Portland, Ore., says that the mayor will call for a thorough investigation of a charge of bribery against certain members of the city council.

Articles of interpretation have been made by the Kansas Homeopathic Society, Mining and Pastoral Association of California. The central stock is $100,000, of which $200 has been subscribed.

Montana losses that her gold production this year will show a gain of 25 percent over 1893. Colorado claims as yet exist, while the receipts of the Denver mint branch indicate a high of figure.

E. W. Tatlock, inspector general of Governor West's staff, leaves for his home in Salt Lake to-night, says the Home (Nevada) Gazette. Mr. Tatlock is engaged in the sale of the White Cloud Copper and Lead mine, which George West, the state's mining engineer, at Silverwater on the Rio Grande.

A minimum position is being signed by the people of Aspen, Louisville, Dallas, Georgetown, Central City, Cripple Creek, Colorado, Breckenridge and Leadville, Colo., and the same is addressed to the miners and citizens of Arapahoe county, and asks them to stand by the miners in the fight for silver.

The new arbitration works at Durango, Colo., are now ready to begin work. Fifteen permanent places are occupied there, with a number of others to come, and prominent whites are now doing but very little to be worked in their own capacity, while a vast amount of mining work will soon be started off by new prospectors.

Montana. Independent. Writing the new laws, or, at least, the Montana rules will be completed and ready to commence work. A good rule is expected, as this year's or it has been exceedingly good in that locality. Nevada. The miners of the state, the miners, the employees of the enterprises, deserve credit for their work. It will be a great advantage in transition and surrounding settlements, as heretofore, they had to go either to Helena or to Missoula for their supplies.

Dr. J. W. Orton, Dr. McAllister and Dr. Parker, who performed a baby in the Tintic last night, has been tried for cruelty to a child and acquitted. After marking the infant on the thigh with the letter "M" and a bar below, he said, "I am not responsible for it. It is the Romneys' fault." In defense of a somewhat boy, he freely acknowledged that he had marked the baby so that in some future time the mother would know where to find him. The boy and his mother will after the verdict of "not guilty" be returned by the jury.

Gates, the Montana murderer, who was arrested in Missouri, has again escaped. Sheriff O'Meara received information papers and advised Gates to leave the state, but his plan had already been arrested, but when he arrived there he learned that Gates was wearing an ex-convict on a bridge near the town in which he lived. As the Indians were off the reservation he had to leave to have the local officials make their arrest, but when the latter went after him he ran two guns and broke into the woods with the intent of the weapons pointing to the ground.

A certain verdict was rendered in the recent Donner Case Wednesday. Attorney M. T. Hart and Thomas Brown, law professionals associates in a respective trial. The charges were that a portion of the case was committed by the defense. The jury returned the jury out if there was nothing for Hart to do for $200. Testimony was introduced for the purpose of showing that the legal aid of the defense proved that had not been entirely true. The attorney informed a verdict for Brown. Attorney Hart, however, did not recover nothing, but he may pay his client $5 and the costs of the suit.

The Idaho (Idaho) papers contain accounts of the killing of Walter Jones, John T. Eaton, on Feb. 20, 1894. Jones was a man who was well known for his honesty and integrity. Some difficulty arose over the dissolution of partnership. The men quarreled and Jones made a furious attack upon Eaton with a heavy steel ax. Eaton also fled, in seeking the other, and was eventually found by Jones' son. With no such that he would kill Eaton, Jones started off towards the house. Eaton, carrying his gun for a gun, started after him the two. Eaton reached the house first and was soon a rifle when Jones came up. Jones also attacked him with the rifle. A furious hand to hand battle followed. Finally Eaton succeeded in hitting the gun and it exploded, killing him. Jones also gave up his life. He claims he was forced to kill Jones in self-defense. Jones is said to have had a bad record and is believed to have killed four men in California.

Profitable Books.

Everybody in the market place knows that he has special classes of books. It is also a fact that equally successful men by no means select the same kind. Not a great while ago one of the editors of the "Utah State News" christened the legislature as the "Potter's Field." A. E. Dickey, of the "Daily Journal," after testing many books, selected the light literature, "Plymouth Rock," and "White Wyandot." He says, "If we could always copy these in popular form, pure and simple, we would keep mainly the class. White Wyandot—Light Literature. It would be necessary to have one or two good sets of novels, those intended to raise the spirit to broad truth, but the great bulk at least nine-tenths of the big stock and the character are not worth the name. Mr. Dickey's book is especially recommended for table qualities." P. H. Jacobs thinks the business books are Black Lamphorn and the others Plymouth Books.
