Impression-Did Not Arraign the Old Parties as Expected.

is holding his evangelistic meetings last evening to hear the Hon. John G. Woolley, presidential nominee of the Prohibition Farty, deliver an address, Mr. Woolley has been noted for a long time as a temperance orator and those who were present were not disappointed in hearing a very able effort. He has an impressive appearance, and at times his clean, cut, incisive sentences had a tolling effect upon his hearers; contrary to anticipation, he did not special. arraign the old parties, but confined himself mostly to talking to the voter but when he was dealing with those whom he deemed were responsible for the existence of the rum traffic he did not spare, but delivered his blows with telling effect. Judge Boreman of Ögden acted as chairman and introduced the speaker, who plunged at once into his subject. "I have no prophecy to make," said he, "as to who shall carry the country in the coming election, but by the grace of God every man of you can carry himself like a Christian man. I say nothing as to whether the Prohibition Party will break up the Republican party or the Democratic party, or any other, but I do say that it is the duty of every self. respecting man to break the chains respecting man to break the chains that bind him to any party and to claim his divine right to show himself a man at every election day. I am ad-dressing myself chiefly on this trip, and indeed in all my work, to Chris-tian people: first, because I think they are the most intelligent people on an average; second, because I think they are in their ordinary living the best people; and third, and chiefly perhaps, because I think that according to their light and knowledge and the profesbecause I think that according to their light and knowledge and the profes-sions which they make, they are po-litically the worst of the people and the most in need of missionary work. This is a Christian country and I believe a prohibition country if the Christian manhood were to assert itself and to have its way on election day, yet the most iniquitous business that the world has ever seen dominates our commerce has ever seen dominates our commerce, dictates our political policy, defeats justice, disseminates vice and pauper-ism and idlocy and crime, disgraces our fag, debauches our sons, defles our daughters, despoils our homes, dese-crates our altars and continues to ex-ist and to do business and to thrive by the express authority of the law of the Continuing he said he did not know that every voter could carry the country this year or not, but he did know that every voter could carry himself as a Christian, and went on to show that not the salcon keeper but the Christian Voter was rearroughly for the theorem voter was responsible for the liquo traffic

"There is something wrong in the nation," said the speaker, "when 7,-000,000 Christian voters will league themselves with when the influence of a Christian min ister of the gospel is not worth a row of pins compared with that of a saloon keeper; when thousands of our bes boys are being foully murdered in the army by the canteen, backed by the Methodiat President in the White House

This is a government of the people, by the people and for the peo-ple. The office meker has to cater to the saloon vote. He knows that he will for the church vote anyhow; he can't fool the saloon vote twice; but he can fool the church vote all the time. That why the politicians despise the bristlan voter."

Christian voter." Continuing, he paid his respects to President McKinley once more in con-nection with the canteen law. "If," said he, "you have your mind made up to vote for the 'canteen' Fresident you ought not to bother God any more about the murder of soldiers in the islands and in the camps of the country. Pray for rain, or a late winter, or a hungry people in India, but don't pray about the canteen if you are going to vote for a canteen President. The officeholders in this country, bad as they are, and they are a bad lot, are good enough tonight without the chance of a man to fight that the first eight months of American domination in Manila 435 American gin-mills can In Manila 455 American gin-mills can run up Old Glory by the authority of the Christian government here at home, and so that in the first twelve months of American domination in Porto Rico and Cuba, 3,500 American gin-mills can fly the Stars and Stripes with the endorsement of a Methodist President in good standing in the church." In closing, Mr. Wooliey said he was willing to trust the financial policy and the naval and foreign policies to the old

the naval and foreign policies to the old parties, but that the old parties could not be trusted to fight the battle of omanhood and childhood against the quor traffic. The speaker was frequently inter-rupted by applause during the course of his address.

said it was useless to prescribe for a disease unless you knew the cause of it. He would diagnose the case by the system known as exclusion, which was a system of prescribing medicine for every known aliment until the right one was found. He did not want to blame the physicians, though they did wrong in prescribing so much alcohol in their medicines. He did not think, with the Boston women that the cooks were altographer to blame matthes result were altogether to blame, neither would he care to place the burden on govern-ment officials or scolding wives, or the preachers, though these could improvalong lines of reform with other peop The world would never be saved the preachers, there was not enough the preachers, there was not enough of them, and if there was, it would be un-fair to put the burden entirely upof their shoulders. He said that the Christian man who could go down of his knees and pray for the advance-ment of God's cause and then get up and yote for the saloon was less manly than the saloonkeeper bimself. The saloonkeeper he said divided his peof its with the government. Mr. Woclley made here his first allu-sion to the old parties in the following

language:

Your party is rotten because you are "Your party is rotten because you are in it. If you get out of it, it will arise and be better. It cannot clean up while you are in it. You don't have to stay in it; you are no toadstool; you are no pond lily; you cannot free your-self from the mud from which you sprang until you get out of it, and you will not be fit for a good party until you do get out and take a bath. The gut-ter is like the legislative body, in that it is the sole judge of the eligibility it is the sole judge of the eligibility of its own members.

"I am not abusing any party now; I am just talking to you about you. So long as you are willing to vote for a canteen President, don't bother God about the murder of our soldier boys by the canteen in the Philippines. WORK OF ROBBERS.

Clarence V. Nash Has an Exciting Experience With Desparate Men.

Last night C. V. Nash, of Alpine, reported to the pollce that he was the victim of a during robbery. He claims that he formed an acquaintance yesterday with an affable young man and terday with an affable young man and they had a good time together in wine rooms, etc., when the newly made friends proposed that they call on some young ladies on Canyon road. They accordingly started up the road. After they had walked some distance the "friend" asked Nash for a cigarette. As he was acting the cigarette out of his pecket the fellow grabbed Nash by the throat and threw him to the ground. Just then another fellow ran up and quickly went through Nash's pockets getting $25 in cash. The two robbers then ran up Canyon road. Nash bore the sphearance of having been roughly handled.

COMPANY ASSIGNS.

The Salt Lake Meat Market company made an assignment yesterday for the benefit of its creditors. The assignment

The only way we can live in the spirit of the Gospel is to attend daily to every duty that is required at at our hands and to respect those who are place over us and to comply with their in-structions. We should all attend to every meeting that we can so that we may receive these instructions. Apostle Rudger Clawson said that he felt that we as Latter-day Saints do not Feit that we as Latter-day Saints do not fully comprehend the breadth and depth of the Gospel, and we should study the words of the Lord as contained in His revelations to us, for, as stated in the book of Covenants, not one thing ut-tered in His revelations shall fail of fulfilment. There are wonderful proni-ises made in this book, and the Latter-day Saints should understand its conday Saints should understand its con-tents. We should strive for the spirit under which the book was written, for "the things of God are understood by the spirit of God." If we were familiar with this work we could easily read the signs of the times

The speaker urged the people to the performance of their duty in regard to he law of tithing, and other principles Singing by choir and congregation,

"O, say, what is truth." Benediction was pronounced by Elder John T. Caine.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCE.

It Commenced in the Assembly Hall This Afternoon.
