

Territory. The management of the road is indicating a willingness to do its part in establishing railroad facilities in Montana. Our own people are not likely to be behind hand in an effort to meet it halfway."

POLYANDRY OR WHAT?—As reported in the New York Tribune, Mr. S. V. White seconded the motion to increase the Plymouth Church pastor's salary from $20,000 to $100,000, and in so doing said—

"When Henry Ward Beecher was attacked your wife and mine and every member of Plymouth Church was assailed."

People not well up in the peculiar logic of Plymouth Church are asking themselves what manner of woman this is who is thus represented to be the wife of the speaker named and also of "an audience of more than forty husbands." Meantime, what next from Brooklyn?

A PREMIUM ON WHAT?—A Washington paper says the increase of Rev. H. W. B's salary to $100,000 "does not meet with approval in any quarter." The Chicago Tribune suggests that the increase implies that a preacher not yet vindicated from a charge of adultery is five times as valuable to his flock as he was before his reputation was called in question.

The Golden Age is very severe. It says—

"The church, unable to restore the lost whiteness of its idol, hastens to gild him. It will cover over the sore places with gold. It will put a premium of $80,000 on unconvicted adultery. That is Plymouth church religion and what comes of it."

"Won't this sudden rise in the tariff of scandal salaries be apt to discourage the quiet country parsons who are toiling along on $600 a year, and who never wrote a ragged-edge letter in their lives?"

THE WAGES OF SIN.—The San Francisco Chronicle of July 14 says—

"Mrs. Flora Muybridge, whose illicit love sent Harry Larkyns to the grave with a bullet in his heart and wrecked her husband's life, is now lying at the point of death, alone and destitute, in one of the city hospitals."

UTAH NORTHERN EXTENSION.—

The Montanans are beginning to rejoice over the extension of the Utah Northern towards them. The Helena Independent says—

"The popularity and cheapness of narrow-gauge railroads will soon bring all parts of the country into rapid communication. Just now our entire Territory is exercised over the possibility of obtaining a railroad of some sort, and the management of the Utah Northern narrow-gauge steps in to solve the problem for us. It will be ample for all immediate commercial wants, and will assist in the development of the Territory to an extent that will soon enable us to build whatever other connections we may wish. The extension of the Utah Northern seventy miles in this direction is the initial step to the fulfillment of all our wishes. With the aid of a subsidy granted by the Legislature it can be brought many miles further on, and its own earnings and other considerations which its extension will accumulate, will still push it forward. The enterprise is one in which every citizen of the Territory feels an interest, and which should be encouraged by every means in our power. A railroad is the golden wand to unlock the treasures of Montana."

Elder John T. Caine. — Elder John T. Caine writes to Prest. Jos. F. Smith from Douglas, Isle of Man,

June 23, as appears in the Millennial Star, as follows—

"I am happy to state that so far my visit has been most agreeable, and my health has improved all that I could reasonably expect; in fact, if it continues to improve as it has done, I hope to be able to return home in a few weeks fully restored. For this great blessing I am truly thankful to our heavenly Father. The pleasure of my visit to this Island, my native land, has not been unattended with pain, in finding so many of my near relatives, my associates in boyhood and schoolfellows, had passed from the earth; with the exception of a very few old people whom I remembered, I seemed to be amongst a strange people, who had little or no knowledge respecting me. There are a great many changes—old houses torn down and new ones erected, old landmarks removed and improvements made, which so alter places as to render them scarcely recognizable."

"There are not many Latter-day Saints on the Island; I have only found three persons who acknowledged themselves members of the Church. When a boy I remember hearing of several quite large branches of the Church being here, but they have gathered with the Saints, are dead, or worse than dead, lost their faith and given up the ship. There is as much prejudice and bigotry among the people as ever, and they show little disposition to listen to anything relating to our faith. The love of money, and the fear of what the world will say, will prevent them, I fear, from opening their ears to the truth, until something stronger than preaching reminds them of their situation."

"Practical Gardener" writes to the Utah County Times, July 15th, as follows, on the codling moth question—

"Look out for them. Now is the time to attend to the apple worm or codling moth, and to destroy them if we wish to save our apple crop. Various are the methods recommended for the same, and I will now give you mine. In examining my trees this morning I find there are only about one-hundredth part of the apples affected with the worm, and I find that a great many of the worms have left the apple and secreted themselves in the rough bark of the trees, where they have and are spinning their cocoons, to transform themselves to their chrysalis or second state, prior to entering into their moth and third and last state. My plan is to examine the trunks of the trees and destroy all that can be found, then take a live toad and tie at the bottom of the tree, and he will attend to the cases of all the worms that attempt to ascend that tree, for the toad will be pretty hungry and look well out for them. If you don't believe it find a worm and put it before the toad, and it will disappear as quick as you hear him say snack. You can also pick off the apples that you see affected and throw them to your pigs, and if the worm has not left the apple a great many may be destroyed in this way. Also hang tin cans filled with cider in your trees for the destruction of the moth."

NEWS NOTES.

The elevated part of the theatre that we call olympus is in Paris called paradise—because they eat apples.

"Senator Morton is now fifty-one years of age," says an exchange, "and yet he seems as fond of the women as ever."

Hail-stones, eleven and a quarter inches in circumference, are said to have recently fallen in Davis Co., N. C.

An attempt to stop the sale of the New Haven Sunday Union in Meriden, Conn., on Sunday failed. A news boy was prosecuted and the judge dismissed the case.

All know that there was lying in that [Brooklyn] case which was simply devilish, and that is the only thing in the case upon which any two people can entirely agree. —Cleveland Herald.

On the first of this year 1,338 brigands were scattered over Sicily, doing all the harm possible—an army of malefactors in one sense more terrible than any army with banners. An increase over last year of ninety-eight.

In his first lecture of the course now on, Professor Claude Bernard held that through the study of physiology science would eventually master the secret of life.—N. Y. Herald.

Under the regime of President Grant there has been one economy. In the bills of previous Presidents there was a regular yearly salary of "$250 for books for the library of the Executive Mansion." Under Grant that salary disappears.—N. Y. Herald.

Advice to the ladies, from the Boston Traveler: "Women should not wear striped stockings, as they value their precious legs, for the aniline dyes used in producing certain colors are poisonous, and cause the worst kind of malignant sores—and of all nuisances sore legs must be the worst and most destructive of beauty. Strength, grace and good looks are walked away on such legs. A great American genius, the late Mr. Hawthorne, has said that a white stocking is infinitely more effective than a black one; and, certainly, white stockings and little, low black shoes form a chic that has no equal for feminine feet and legs, and that is far superior to one that has all the colors of the rainbow."

DIVORCED.—To be divorced evidently "runs in the family" in some quarters. How otherwise can any one account for a circumstance so notable as that in a case on trial last week in the Marine Court? Every witness examined on Wednesday, man or woman, had been divorced. There were five of them—all more or less nearly related to one another—and of various ages; fathers and sons and daughters, sisters, brothers, cousins; all married, and, though married, yet neither husbands nor wives, but divorced people. As they are all related it might be a fair inference that the same infirmities of temper ran round the circle and led to the same result in all these cases. Or, is it rather that experience had shown in the case of one how preferable was this remedy to the continuance of a union that no longer had the sanction of happy hearts? From whatever cause, the fact arises and points to queer conditions in some corners of society.—N. Y. Herald, July 5

At Clarkston, Cache Co., July 10th, of old age, MARTIN HARRIS, Senr., aged 92 years, one month, and 22 days.

Deceased was born May 18th 1783, at Easttown, Saratoga County, New York; moved with his father's family in his ninth year to the town of Palmyra, Ontario Co., (now Wayne) New York; in the fall of 1827 made the acquaintance of the prophet Joseph Smith and became satisfied of the fact of the coming forth of the Book of Mormon by the power of God through him; identified himself with the cause and with the prophet and rendered him every possible assistance in every way that would forward the publishing of the Book of Mormon; in February, 1828, by the request of the Prophet Joseph, he took the transcript of part of the Book of Mormon with the translation of the same and presented it to Professor Anthon and Dr. Mitchell, of New York, to see if they could understand and interpret the transcript. After the return from the city of New York, he acted as scribe for the Prophet in the translation of the records, and wrote 116 pages of foolscap paper. After the completion of the work of translation of the records he became one of the Three Witnesses to the truth of the book, etc., acted as proof reader of the book, paid $3,000 for its being printed, and assisted in all of the labors of the church from its organization till 1838; and was one of the six members at the organization.—Com.
