IMMENSE TOTAL OF FORESTED AREA

Latest Addition to Government's Timbered Preserves Makes
161,233,985 Acres.

THE RESERVE IS IN ARKANSAS

More Than One-Fifth of Country's Timbered Lands Now Under Government Supervision.

Washington, Dec. 31.—President Roosevelt has just signed a proclamation creating a national forest in the west central part of the state of Arkansas. This timbered area which covers more than 1,600,000 acres will have the distinction of being the farthest east of any of the government's forests. This new forest, which will be called the Arkansas, brings the total area of the national forests up to 161,233,985 acres, a little more than one-fifth of the country's total forested area.

The Arkansas national forest is located in the counties of Scott, Polk, Montgomery, Yell, Logan, Perry, Saline and Garland. The most valuable stands of timber in the forest are made up of short leaf pine, red, white and post oak, and a little black walnut and cherry. The commercial timber varies from 1,000 to 15,000 feet an acre. A conservative estimate places the commercial timber in the forest at 1,000,000,000 board feet, but it is thought probable that the actual amount overruns this estimate by several hundred million feet.

EXPERIMENT RANGER.

Samuel J. Record, formerly of the office of forest management in the forest service, who will be the supervisor in charge of the new forest, has left Washington for Fort Smith, where he will establish headquarters. Mr. Record is a trained forester and has practical knowledge of the forest conditions in the west by reason of four years' field work in the Azaric region of Missouri, in Montana, Michigan, several states in the middle west, and finally in Arkansas, where he made a working plan in 1906, for 70,000 acres of pine forest and later made the examination of the land. The recommendation for the withdrawal of the area now included in the new Arkansas forest.

FIRES ARE COMMON.

Fires are very common throughout the region in which the Arkansas forest is located. The forest will be put under administration at once, and with a competent ranger force and proper co-operation on the part of the settlers living within the boundaries of the forest, the fires can soon be brought under control. In the west, where practically all of the national forests are located, it has been shown that fire can be reduced to a point where the loss is utterly insignificant through the system of patrol which is an important part of the forest administration.

OF INTEREST TO LUMBERMEN.

The creation of the Arkansas National forest has brought a relatively small area of the immense forest area of the Mississippi valley under practical forest administration. As an object lesson as to what can be done in the way of conservative lumbering, the forest will be of great interest to the lumbermen in the Mississippi, and it is hoped that the large areas in private hands will be managed on strict forestry principles when the practical results of government's administration of this forest are seen.

HEAVILY TIMBERED.

Arkansas has always been rich in forest resources. The entire area of the state is 53,850 square miles. Fully 80 per cent of its area remains in woodland, of which two-thirds is commercial forests. This places Arkansas among the most heavily timbered states and makes it the center of unusual activity in the lumber business.

WILL LAST 50 YEARS.

The total amount of standing timber in the state is approximately 100,000,000,000 feet, of which pine comprises 20,000,000,000. The total cut for the year 1906 was nearly 2,000,000,000 feet. At this rate 5 years will be required to cut off all the timber, assuming that the factor of growth will be offset by deterioration and waste. In all probability the rate of cutting will increase so materially that the available supply will be largely exhausted in less than 20 years. If present methods are continued most of this forest land will become barren and unproductive; if properly managed it will play an important

BIRMINGHAM WENT "DRY" WITH SHRILL SHRIEKS

Birmingham, Ala., Dec. 31.—With the shrill shrieks of the hundreds of whistles of industrial Birmingham announcing the advent of the new year, every saloon in the city closed its doors and the city went "dry" for the year. The prohibition to go into effect in those counties of Alabama in which local option elections have been held during the year. There were exactly 50 counties of the state that closed the doors of the saloons permanently tonight. This leaves 17 counties in the state in which liquor can be sold for another year.

One year from tonight the entire state becomes prohibition by statutory act. Of the wet counties for the next year, only four are exclusively saloon counties—Mobile, Montgomery, Dallas and Baldwin. There are 12 exclusive dispensary counties—Macon, Winston, Elmore, Bibb, Limestone, Madison, Cleburne, Perry, Barbour, Colbert, Covington and Coffee. Marengo county has both dispensary and saloons. Jefferson county in which Birmingham is located, is by far the largest county in the state, and in Birmingham alone 120 saloons went out of business at midnight. A remarkable feature of the last day under the liquor regime is the fact that there was less drunkenness noted than for many months.

Many vases of liquors have been delivered to private residences, and stocks on hand with the dealers are small. The larger number of the best saloon locations in the heart of the city have been rented, but many places which bring $100 to $125 a month cannot be rented for half that amount.

BUTTE LABORERS UP FOR CONTEMPT OF COURT

Helena, Mont., Dec. 31.—Four Butte laboring men, Joseph Shannon, president of the State Union of the Western Federation of Miners; William Cutts, R. S. Scott, business agent of the Workmen's union, and A. E. Edwards, business agent of the Butte Building Trades Council, appeared in the federal court today to show cause why they should not be punished for contempt, it being alleged by the Rocky Mountain Bell Telephone company that the men violated the injunction issued in October by Judge Hunt restraining certain persons from interfering in any way with the operations of the company.

The most important points were elicited this morning on cross-examination of Woodman and Foster, two of the alleged deported men, when it was believed will be the line of defense of the men charged with contempt was disclosed.

It was brought out that Woodman was a member of the Butte Miners' union. He was behind in his dues and testified he had decided to drop out of the union, but further questioning by Mr. Meyer showed he had told no one of his intention until Mr. Shannon came to the building and asked him to come up to the miners' hall that evening and bring his card along.

Both testified that the committee which waited upon them and of which Shannon was a member, handed Woodman roughly at first. Shannon was singled out particularly and the witness declared he was aggressive and bullying. The committee which took Woodman to the hall used no more violence than was necessary to make him come along, the witness stated, in reply to questions of Mr. Meyer.
