Repealed.

WASHINGTON, 23.—The following is the vote on the motion to strike out the clause repealing the law authorizing the Pacific Mail subsidy: yeas—Cameron, Flanagan, Morton, Sergeant, Conover, Frelinghuysen, Patterson, Crogan, Mitchell, Pease, Sprague; nays—Alcorn, Allison, Anthony, Bayard, Bogy, Boreman, Boutwell, Carpenter, Chandler, Clayton, Conkling, Cooper, Davis, Dennis, Eaton, Edmunds, Ferry, (Mich.), Goldthwaite, Gordon, Hager, Hamilton, (Md.), Hamilton, (Tex.), Harvey, Hitchcock, Ingalls, Johnson, Kelly, Logan, McCreery, Merriman, Morrill, (Me.), Morrill, (Vt.), Norwood, Oglesby, Pratt, Ramsey, Ranson, Robertson, Saulsbury, Schurz, Scott, Sherman, Spencer, Stevenson, Stewart, Thurman, Tipton, Wadleigh, Washburn, West, Windom, Wright, 62.

The Mint Question—Admission of Colorado.

Morrill, of Vt., from the committee on finance, reported adversely on the various bills to establish mints at several places in the west, and they were indefinitely postponed; he also submitted a resolution, which was placed on the calendar, reciting the expediency of establishing a branch mint in the west, and requesting the President of the U. S. to inquire as to the best point therefor, and to report to the next session of Congress.

The bill for the admission of Colorado as a State was taken up, and the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.

The Alabama Reports, New Revenue Bill Passed.

Coburn presented the majority report of the Alabama investigating committee, and Buckner the minority report. Coburn made an effort to get up what is known as the caucus force bill, reported by him last week, and Smith, of N. Y., tried to get up the constitutional amendment to regulate the election of president and vice-president, but Dawes pressed action on the tariff bill and succeeded. The House thereupon again went into committee of the whole, and resumed the consideration of the bill.

On motion of Harris tobacco manufacturers were allowed to use licorice, etc., free of duty. A dozen amendments of various kinds were then offered, and all rejected, and the committee rose and reported the bill to the House, and Dawes proceeded to address the House on the necessity of providing for the deficit in the treasury, and spoke of the impossibility of framing any revenue bill that would satisfy all sections and all interests. He referred to the income tax as one of the most just and proper in theory, but one which had proved objectionable wherever tried, because it was promotive of perjury and demoralization. He then, as a last effort to provide for the necessities of the government, offered, as a substitute for the bill, one taxing whiskey, to be hereafter made ninety cents a gallon, and tobacco and sugar as in the amended bill, and restoring the ten per cent. horizontal tax on manufactured goods, and on that he moved the previous question, which was seconded, and the main question ordered, 133 to 114, and the substitute was agreed to, 131 to 111. The question was then received on ordering the bill engrossed for the third reading, on which Dawes moved the previous question, which was seconded by the requisite two-thirds majority, and the bill then passed, 123 to 113.

The first section fixes the tax on the future production of high wines at 90 cents a gallon; the second section increases the tax on manufactured tobacco from 20 to 24 cents per pound, and on cigars from five to six dollars a thousand, on cigarettes from $2.50 to $2.75, neither tax to apply to any of these articles on which the existing tax has been paid; the third section increases the tax on sugar, molasses, melada, etc., to an amount equal to 25 per cent. of the present duties; section four replaces the ten per cent. horizontal reduction in the tariff on certain manufactured goods; section fifth provides that the increase of duties provided by the act shall not apply to any goods on ship board and bound to the U. S. on the 10th of Febry., '75, nor to any goods in bond at the date of the passage of this act; section sixth provides for the free admission of bolting cloths. Adjourned.

EASTERN.

Want Protection.

WASHINGTON, 23.—At the instance of David Felsenthal the California senators and representatives have united in a letter to the Secretary of War, requesting troops to be stationed in Sandiego harbor, to protect the stage road between Sandiego and Fort Yuma, on which lately there have been frequent outrages.

Pacific Mail Matters.

In the Senate debate on the Pacific mail contract clause in the post office appropriation bill, Hager, of California, said he had been instructed to vote for repeal by the legislature of his State. This company had been in the habit of bringing a class of emigrants to our shores in violation of the laws of California, and it had interfered with some of the local commerce along the California coast, which had irritated the people of that State and caused the legislature to pass a resolution favoring the repeal of the subsidy. Again it had been charged that the company had sold out its wharves, warehouses, etc., to men connected with the Central Pacific Railroad, which company controlled all the carrying trade of California as it owned all the railroads in the State.

The report of the Senate judiciary committee, as to the legal obligation of the government to carry into effect the contract with the Pacific Mail Steamship Company for a semi-monthly China mail service, is signed by Senators Edmunds, Carpenter, Wright, Thurman and Stevenson. After reciting the law of 1872, and of the advertisement of the proposals, and the contract made in accordance therewith, they say: "All prior to providing for the performance of this contract on the part of the U. S., by the act of March 3rd, 1873, appropriates the sum of money necessary to make the agreed payments from the date at which the Steamship Co. was to provide the stipulated ships and begin the carrying of the mails under the contract, namely October 1st, 1873, to the close of the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1874, being $375,000. The Steamship Company did not furnish the ships and did not begin the service required by the act of June 1st, 1872, and the contract and appropriation had lasted since that time. No opposition has been made, and no action on the subject has been taken by Congress, although one or two committees of each house have reported on the subject against annulling the contract. It appears that on the 8th of July, 1874, the company notified the Postmaster General that two ships, the Tokio and Peking, were ready for inspection under the contract, and on the 8th of Aug., 1874, the ships having been inspected, etc., at New York, and being then there, and not at San Francisco, the Postmaster General, under the advice of the Solicitor General and Attorney General, accepted the vessels, leaving out of view all questions respecting the means by which, and the influences under which, the act of June 1st, 1872, and the contract, may have been procured, in respect to which no evidence is before us, and upon which we express no opinion. The question is whether the U. S. is bound to go on with the execution of the contract notwithstanding that the steamers were not tendered for service until nearly a year after the time required by the act of Congress and the contract. We are of the opinion that the question must be answered in the negative. First, because we think that in respect of executory contracts, for the delivery or use of movable things, or for service to be performed, the law is clear that the party claiming the benefit of the contract must tender the performance, not only in the manner, but within the time stipulated, and failing to do this, his right to demand performance ceases altogether; the result is that the P. M. General, when the ships were tendered on the 8th of Aug., 1874, was under no obligations to receive them, or to take any steps upon the subject. Second, we are of the opinion that the P. M. General had no lawful power or authority to accept the vessels under the circumstances, or to bind the U. S. in the premises. The measure of the power of the executive officers of the government is to be found in the acts of Congress, which declare what they are to do, and how and when they are to do it. Floyd's acceptances, 7 Wallace, 667, hold that an executive officer of the government authorized by law to enter into a particular contract may enter into another and different one, or dispense with the performance of the one lawfully made, which would be nominally against the rules of law, but dangerous in the extreme to the public interest. The time at our disposal does not allow us to go into extensive reasons or citation of authorities on the subject."

The Louisiana Report.

All the members of the Louisiana Congressional investigating committee report against the action of the returning board; Foster, Phelps, Potter and Marshall unite in a majority report, that there was no general intimidation in the State, but a free and fair election, which resulted in favor of the conservatives, who were deprived of the result by the wrongful action of the returning board. Hoar, Wheeler and Frye unite in a minority report, and Foster assents, with Hoar, Wheeler and Frye, to a compromise, recognizing Kellogg as governor, and giving the majority in the House to the conservative delegates.

Messrs. Foster, Phelps, Potter, and Marshall, of the majority of the committee on the state of the South, in their report to the House, state the reasons for their non-agreement with the conclusions of Hoar, Wheeler and Frye, which are briefly as follows: The laws inimical to the colored people of Louisiana referred to in the minority report have been repealed for years; the assumption that the colored voters were intimidated by the recollection of the Colfax and Coushatta affairs, the causes and circumstances of which are disputed, is regarded as violent, when it is recollected that both parishes elected a full Kellogg ticket by increased republican majorities. The report says that the registration of the State was wholly in the hands of Kellogg officials, with whom the republican central committee with U. S. Marshal Packard at their head, co-operated, and that the registration was incorrect and exceeded the true colored vote. In only three parishes did the republican supervisors of registration make any complaint of unfair registration, while great complaint was made by the conservatives, who specified, with proof, 1200 conceded cases of false registration in New Orleans alone. The committee say that the registration of colored voters exceeded by four thousand the total number of the colored adult males returned by the census of 1870, while the registration of whites was 10,000 less. The whole number of voters registered was 167,604; of these 146,523 voted, which is a larger proportion of the registration than usually vote in any of the northern States. The committee also call attention to the fact that the year 1874 was one of political change, and against the republican party; and also to the obvious fact that it was to the interest of the conservatives not to intimidate colored voters, but to win as many by fair means as possible. Of the testimony showing local combinations made between whites and blacks against Kellogg, the committee repeat the statements made by the sub-committee in reference to the absence of any proof of intimidation of colored voters, and to the fact that if there was intimidation it was by U. S. marshals against conservatives; they also repeat the conclusions of the sub-committee in reference to the illegal action of the returning board.

Railroad Compromises Considered.

The cabinet held two and a half hours session to-day. The proposals of the Pacific railroads were discussed, and it was agreed that nothing should be done in reference thereto at present, so Secretary Bristow will send no communication on the subject to Congress, as it is thought its consideration at this time might jeopardise some of the appropriation bills, owing to probable loss of time in the discussion.
