BUT FEW CRACKS IN SLATE

Array of Talent Trotted Out With E. B. Critchlow Leading Off for State Senate.

It took the "Americans" most of yesterday afternoon and all of the morning to complete their municipal precinct and county tickets for Salt Lake county, and when Chairman Critchlow finally declared the convention adjourned, it had the following ticket ready for the November election:

been selected for city judges at the morning session, together with W. S. Dalton and Tom Fowler for justice and constable respectively. The afternoon session had no matters of platform or chairman's address to hinder it, so that steady routine work characterized it from first to last, except for a selection from the "American" drum corps attired in new Zouave uniforms.

SAD DAY FOR SANDY.

State senators were the first to be voted for, and B. B. Haywood nominatvoted for, and B. B. Haywood nominated E. B. Critchlow, H. J. Dininny named George Gay, Horace Dunbar named Charles B. Jack, Mr. Cecil named "Sandy" Fowler, D. B. Shields named W. W. Armstrong, and then the ballots were taken. Critchlow came sailing home with an easy victory, securing 529 votes. Armstrong received 312, Gay, 423 and "Sandy" Fowler found himself shut out, in spite of all his faithful service in such little matters as telling a councilman how to lift correspondence from the mayor en route as telling a councilman how to lift cor-respondence from the mayor en route to the council, his vote being 241, with three men ahead of him.

Nineteen aspirants for 10 places in the lower house were on hand and there was half an hour of nominating speeches before the balloting could finally begin. It resulted in the selec-tion of the 10 named in the ticket, with W. W. Little as low man, commanding 309 votes.

309 votes. Charles D. Rookledge came up for county commissioner at the head of the list, a splendid record being painted for him in the nominating speech. But it was not sufficient to land the candidate over the charm of the name of McGinty, and that of Jerome Bourgard of Bingham. These two were selected from a large field, McGinty having been used on the grounds that it was derrom a large leid, accounty having been urged on the grounds that it was desired to show through him who he was "to the opposition press" and the other because he could "command 1,000 majority in Bingham canyon." McGinty received 356 votes and Bourgard 442, this giving the Bingham man the long term.

SWENSON FOR TREASURER.

Since the city convention in which Thomas Homer announced that the position of city treasurer was to be bargained off to Willard Snyder because he had bid highest for it for the use of his brother Gideon, Frank A. CANNED TICKET FOR "AMERICANS"

Everything Cut and Dried in Advance and Slate Goes Through.

AT THE STATE CONVENTION

Frank J. Cannon and the Rest of Them Deliver Characteristic Bitter Speeches at the Theater.

With a state ticket placed before the convention by the "American" state committee and ratifled without protest, and speeches declaring for a war of extermination upon all Church leaders residing in Utah, the "American" party s now equipped for the fall campaign.

Its county campaign, too, has been arranged for, the convention naming the ticket whose candidates are to run for local offices, differing from the state convention only in the fact that the candidates were not appointed beforehand, but were selected from the delegates after occasional contests. Here is the manner in which the state ticket was placed before the 'American' state convention in the Salt Lake theater last night:

Judge A. J. Weber: "Owing to the limited time, the state committee has named your convention committees." Reads list of committees on platform.) Judge Weber again: "I will now introduce your convention chairman," (naming Frank J. Cannon). Chairman Cannon: "The state committee has selected for you, your state mittee has selected for you, your state ticket. You have a chance to vote for every officer named. As this is not a semi-annual conference, you will have a chance to vote 'nay' if you want to. The secretary will please read the ticket. I will call for the 'nay' vote.' Allan Sanford (advancing modestly from secretary's table):

"For governor Loby A Street Salt

from secretary's table):

"For governor, John A. Street, Salt Lake," etc., to end of list.

Jos. Lippman (advancing from left wing): "Before the vote is taken on that ticket, I would like to read the platform prepared for this convention. The platform, you know, is what the ticket will stand upon. That also has been prepared for you." (Reads the printed document, which is accepted with cheers.)

with cheers.) Chairman Cannon: "Now that your chairman Cannon. Now that your platform has been adopted for you, will all those who favor ratifying the state ticket as presented to you and electing the ticket please vote?"

Whereupon a chorus of whoops from the audience ended the actual business of the evening. of the evening.

THE TICKET. The ticket named for the convention by the state committee, and read to to for its approval, is as follows:

Governor—John A. Street, Salt Lake.
Supreme Court Justice—Ogden Hiles,

Secretary of State—E. A. Littlefield, Ogden. Attorney General-J. Walcott Thomp-Attorney General—J. Walcott Thompson, Salt Lake.
Treasurer—Henry Welch, Park City,
Auditor—George E. Park, Salt Lake.
Superintendent of Public Instruction—George B. Sweazey, Salt Lake.
Congress—Dr. C. I. Douglas.

EVERYTHING UNANIMOUS.

The selecting of the state ticket was only an incident of the evening. The real purpose of the meeting was to hear Frank J. Cannon fry and fricases the Church of which he formerly was a member. Those who heard Former Senator Cannon on the occasion when, with all his locks flying from his dramatically shaking head, he pinned upon his breast the emblem of the "American" party just after sending a telegram to his former Democratic allies to "stand together and stay together," knew that as a spectacle the occasion would be well worth while. And the theater was well filled to hear the oratory, the people there assembled being so anxious to confine their attention to it that no one had a dissenting vote for any other feature of the program.

And the senator was not disappointing. Many thought his speech was the most spectacular effort of his more than ordinarily brilliant series. He stated the issue to be whether the Church leaders should longer remain out of jail, or out of exile, and urged out of pair, of our of extremental that a ticket be elected in this county and judicial district which would give to the leaders only this one alternative, of leaving America or going into the penitentiary.

"One the Republican side," he de clared, "the issue is a bargain for votes, so that Reed Smoot might retain his seat in the United States senting." tain his seat in the United States sen-ate. The sole question is whether the voice of the president of the Mormon Church, ratified by a majority of the band of 26, shall stand against the free will of the thousands of American voters in Salt Lake county and

This gem of embittered abuse is on-This gem of embittered abuse is only a sample of what prevailed during the entire evening. "The Democrats," he declared, "went to Logan with a whole train load of issues. They shunted car after car of them on every sidetrack, and by the time they got to Logan they had nothing but Uncle Jesse and the sack." Then the Democrats lost the only issue they had.

The speaker then presented the "American" issues declaring that in the first year the party was a battalion, after that it was a brigade, and now it was an army corps.

"And what are our issues? Whether we shall stand in the shadow of the

"And what are our issues? Whether we shall stand in the shadow of the statue of Moroni and look up to that for guidance, or whether we shall stand erect under the flag, recognizing it as the emblem of equal rights, equality before the law, recognition of the Constitution and the right of the people to given themselves. The the people to govern themselves. That is our issue"

Chairman Cannon continued in a vinchairman cannon continued in a vindictive tone calling down curse after curse for the heads of the Church leaders, and then, when he feared his audience thought him too extreme asked the question of whether he was thought to be too litter and then declared that question of whether he was thought to be too bitter, and then declared that however bitterly he put the issues, he was not as bitter as was the cup which the people had been forced to drink for the people had been forced to drink for 18 years. He closed with an appeal for a ticket this fall that would guar-antee exile or the penitentiary "for all the band of 26." After Senator Cannon Judge Street, H. J. Dininny and Joseph Lippman, spoke briefly before adjournment.

THE PLATFORM.

The platform read to the convention by Joseph Lippman, who had already done service of a similar nature at the county convention, is a characteristic document of abuse and villification of the Church it uttacks. "In this the fifth year of its political activity" the document begins, "the American party finds that its principles are more and more accepted by the people of this state, and that throughout Utah there is a fixed opinion becoming established The platform read to the convention is a fixed opinion becoming established that by the 'American' party and its
