FORTY-SIXTH CONGRESS.

CONGRESSIONAL
WASHINGTON, 6.—The Vice-President was not present and Thurman was chosen president pro tempore.

Thurman submitted a resolution instructing the judiciary committee to report a bill providing compensation for all persons whose names were included by Congress in the list of rebels during the late rebellion, from money received under the Geneva award, paid over under laws.

Morgan submitted a resolution providing a rule for counting the electoral vote; referred to select committee.

Eaton, from the committee on appropriations reported favorably the bill appropriating $250,000 for public printing.

Edmunds asked consideration of the bill and it was taken up.

Morgan offered an amendment appropriating $500,000 to pay marshals and their deputies. This was opposed by Messrs. Eaton, Davis, Saulsbury and Bailey, and voted against by Messrs. Edmunds, Conkling and Windom. The last named referred to the closing of the United States Courts in New York, saying the amendment provided for as necessary an outlay as the bill itself.

President pro tempore Thurman declined on point of order that an amendment was in order, this not being the general appropriation bill.

Windom's amendment was rejected by a party vote and the bill passed without division.

The morning hour having expired, the Senate resumed consideration of the District of Columbia appropriation bill. The bill after long discussion passed.

On motion of Beck the report of the conference committee on the Indiana appropriation was taken up and without action thereon the Senate went into executive session, and when the doors were reopened, adjourned.

HOUSE.
WASHINGTON, 6.—Wells submitted a conference report on the Indiana appropriation bill, agreed to.

The report states the main point of difference between the houses was in regard to a discontinuance of the Board of Indian Commissioners as finally agreed upon. The commissioner is continued, but a proviso is inserted that no money shall be paid for salaries and expenses of the commission.

The morning hour being dispensed with, the House went into committee of the whole on the bill appropriating $1,000,000 for the Star mail routes up to the 31st of July. The committee adopted an amendment to strike out the proviso for the Star mail routes, and in lieu of the Star service on the Star mail routes upon which increased compensation for increased expenditure of $1,000,000 per year, the original contract price has been allowed.

During the discussion before the adoption of the amendment, a lively debate occurred between Hazleton and Reagan. The former said many members were too ready with their tongues, and that the latter man from Texas (Reagan), who said the contracts should be abrogated on the ground of fraud, was himself in a position to invite the chairman of the House and of the country. In answer to the bill, he had brought in for payment $300,000 to southern mail contractors.

Reagan replied that in the case referred to, he had made a mistake of fact, but that he had no right to make a contract of that kind, and villainous contracts of the mail service.

Consideration of that bill having been considered, the committee reported the bill to the House.

The main question was ordered and Blackburn moved that the House take recess until to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock for the purpose of disposing of the bill by 12 o'clock, so as not to interfere with private business, pending which, Senator, chairman of the committee on Indian Affairs, reported back the bill ratifying the Geneva award, which was made a special order for Thursday next.

Blackburn's motion was then agreed to and the House took a recess at 10 o'clock.

AMERICAN
ANTI-GRANT.
Republican's Hostile to a Third Term—A Bolt Threatened.

St. Louis, 6.—The Anti-Third Term National Republican Convention was called to order at 12:30 by Chairman H. H. Rogers, called by the Chair Mr. E. C. Hubbard, of Kentucky, a delegate to the Chicago Convention who, in returning his thanks for the house conferred, declared in behalf of the convention that it was possible for the republican party to nominate the best President and that the safety of the Republic demanded that the republican party should remain in the control of the nation's affairs. He alluded to the existence of the belief which a section of the party effected to hold that a third term candidate was necessary, and asserted that that meeting, called to combat that idea, represented a larger part of the republican party than ever before or will again experience. The chief point to which this Convention was directed, was hostility to any movement tending in the last degree to the establishment of a monarchy. The speaker then declared that the republican party was not to be divided into two camps to grid, that there was no candidate to be brought forward for President, and that the party should stand united to-day in an effort to elect the best man for the office which he seeks. Two terms of his administration which had failed to suppress the dishonesty in a nation's affairs had convinced the country of the fact and had let it pass time which might have been better spent in the suppression of the dishonesty which supported that administration.
For himself he was a stalwart republican, and he believed that the republican party should elect the best man for the office which he seeks. He believed that the republican party should remain in the control of the nation's affairs, and that the safety of the Republic demanded that the republican party should remain in the control of the nation's affairs. He alluded
meeting, called to combat that idea,
or will again experience. The chief point
to which this Convention was directed,
was hostility to any movement
tablishment of a monarchy. The
office which he seeks.

TRUTH AND LIBERTY.

THE following committee on organization: G. C. Wharton, D. A. House, Franklin G. W. Allerton, Wm. Rees, that the nomination of E. Clark, S. A. Archer, E. W. Fox, a third term candidate is especially objectionable to the republicans, and that the nomination of Bryant, Carl Koch, M. Hunt, Col. Hudson Wilson, of Illinois, on the defensive, because it will renew a speech in which he declared the memory of public candor unwavering hostility to a violation of official corruption which brought down the curtain of the republic, and in all Illinois Country against a third term—will again alienate a large and precious body of voters, without recognition as a common, unwritten house and success is neither possible nor desirable. These are the reasons for the nomination of the third term supporters' later and surroundings of the third Wisconsin, in Iowa, in Illinois, in Iowa, in Illinois, in Iowa, in Illinois, South Carolina, which presents the support.

Resolved, That we believe that the question now agitating the public mind, connected as they are with currency, tariff, civil service, railroads and other means of intercommunication require talents of a high order. We find objection to the nomination of a man who now urged upon the country, also in that it would substitute a dangerous tendency to personal government or a determined and unwarranted policy for true and honest administration, and that the civil service, that reform and thorough we declare to be vital to the safety of the Republic itself.

Resolved, That as republicans we cannot be mere worshippers, and we demand from a party without a leader the nomination of a candidate with a stable platform.

Resolved, That a national committee of 100 be appointed and instructed, in the event of the nomination of General Grant, to meet at the city of New York at the call of the chairman of this committee, and there to act in such manner as they shall deem best to carry out the spirit and purpose of these resolutions, the said committee to be selected by a committee of 10 and published at its earliest convenience.

The committee appointed in accordance with the platform, was instructed to appoint a committee of five to present the resolutions to the Chicago convention. After adopting the customary resolutions, the convention adjourned sine die.

Many delegates who had expected to be present failed to appear and the hall was well filled with an audience of about 700 persons, of whom perhaps 400 were delegates.
In appearance the delegates were noted favorably with any like body and there was perfect harmony throughout as to the object to be attained. The proceedings were distinguished by the high quality of purpose, which favorably impressed the audience, and commanded respect from the outset. There was no attempt to introduce the name of any man, and the convention was conducted quietly to work to do quietly what was called for, and when that was accomplished, quietly adjourned.

WASHINGTON.
Deputy Marshall's Fee, etc.

WASHINGTON, 6.—There was an important meeting of Western members at the house of Messrs. Jones to-night, to discuss for a substitute for the Public Land Commissioner's mining bill. Senator James McClure, of Nevada, (Chairman of the committee on Public Lands, Colorado, and Berry, of California, were present. The following bill was proposed, and will be reported to-morrow, if opportunity allows, it being generally satisfactory to the Western members:

It provides that section 2,322 of chapter 24 of the Statutes at Large, shall be amended by adding thereto the following: "And in all cases where the mean dip of the lode does not exceed 25 degrees from the horizontal, the right of discovery shall not extend beyond the side lines of the location drawn downward vertically, and on any mineral land discovered by the surface of a vein or lode on the surface of the ground the party seeking to make a discovery is authorized to locate a prospective claim of the same size as the claim already located by law, and he shall have the exclusive possession of said claim so long as he shall expend $200 worth of work each year in exploring for minerals, and when he has so expended the same, a patent may be obtained, as is now provided by law. In case a locator shall fail to perform the annual labors herein required, said claim shall be forfeited, and shall be open to relocation the same as though it had never been located; provided, that the original locators, their heirs, assigns, or assigns, who have lives have not resumed work upon the claim after failure and before such relocation."

The above and means committee of the House assumed consideration of the tariff bill, and with several modifications adopted the greater part. The signature question was stricken from the bill, and the committee considered it as a separate bill.
The following are the provisions agreed upon: Chrome iron ore, processed or condensed milk, barley, cattle, sheep, horses, mules, and all emphysema, canella, alta, pomgranate, cotton, cascarilla, and all other herbs not otherwise provided for, whether grown or produced, excepted, and by reason of their spikes and castiron butts and hinges, to be placed upon the free list; lyps, and types—imported, ten per cent. ad valorem; fifty per cent.
—all articles in schedule A, section 1,504, title 33.

It is understood to be the purpose of the democratic leaders to pass the bill introduced by Senator Bayard this afternoon to regulate the pay and appointment of special deputy marshals, through the Senate and House, and send it to the President for his signature as early as possible next week. It differs from the rider of the vetoed appropriation bill, by requiring appointment to be made annually, and by reason of several objections that have been urged against the forms of expression and working machinery of the original clause.

It is stated at the Postoffice Department that there has never been a time in the history of the government when so many, noisy postoffices were being established.
There is also a largely increased volume of postal business all over the country, particularly in the West.

The Treasury to-day purchased 380,000 ounces of fine silver for delivery at the Philadelphia and San Francisco mints.
