SPRIT OF THE CONFERENCE.

The Sixty-third semi-annual Conference of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, just ended, has been one of much interest to the members of the Church. It has been noticed that, as years go by, the testimony has been increasing steadily, a testimony to itself in the growth of the Church numerically and to the fact that the principles of the Gospel, as taught by the martyred Prophet and his successors, are a spiritual fire among the people—"power of God unto salvation" to the universe. Nothing but the actual experience of its truth and its reality could inspire the faith exhibited by the Saints from time to time, of which these gatherings are one evidence. The promise was given in the beginning of the work of restoration that it should continue until accomplished, and so far, everything goes to prove that this promise is to be fulfilled.

There are several features of this Conference which will be long retained in the remembrance of the Saints. One is the appearance once more in the midst of the people of their venerable President, Wilford Woodruff, who for about half a century has been an Apostle of the Lord and during this time rendered the Church invaluable services in many ways. His testimony is still powerful, and all the more valuable because of the treasure of experience that supports it. President Woodruff, like "the apostle whom Jesus loved," has been, and is today, devotedly attached to the cause of the Master; he has witnessed some of the most important and solemn events in the history of the Church, and he has shared her trials and her triumphs more than any other saint now living in the flesh. The people feel that the presence in their midst of such a veteran in the faith is an inestimable blessing.

One of the topics dwelt upon by the speakers of the Conference was the influence gained by the Church, not only in this country, but throughout the world. This influence has been at work from the first. Even when the Saints were the objects of the attacks of unprincipled men and were driven from place to place, threatened with annihilation, seemingly, the doctrine of the Gospel found favor among all the religious denominations of the world, modifying creeds and spreading light among worshippers of the Almighty, existing revolutions hardly less remarkable than those brought about by the "fishermen of Galilee" in their age of Greek and Roman civilization. But the Church, lately, has gained recognition in various ways, and Mormonism is today a greater force in the world than ever.

This victory, it was pointed out, had been gained by the faithfulness of the Saints to the gospel, by their unity and self-sacrifice and by their obedience to the divine command. The Lord Almighty has been with them in the past and will continue to guide them, as long as they follow in the footsteps of their fathers and remain true to the cause entrusted to them.

The history of this Church, as indeed that of the Churches of God, in all ages, is a demonstration of the fact that there is perfect safety in following the counsels of the Lord as given from time to time through his inspired servants. With this lesson imprinted on the minds of the Saints and with a determination of saving souls, they can look into the future with heroic confidence; not because of promises being in the past, but because (as Paul said) they are guided by a divine wisdom superior to that of any adversary—wiser in knowing the value of inspiration they may not man, but God.

THE BROOKLYN—OLD AND NEW.

Approximately 2,000,000 of the new United States bonds, Brooklyn, citizens of American loyalty will treat the old Brooklyn, a short while ago, when war was to be done with the United States during the dark days of 1861. She faltered only once in the line of duty, and then but for a moment. Briefly told, the history was as follows:

In the winter of 1861-62, the Regulators planned to attack the city, and were marching as the head of the column of
